TRUMP MAY PARDON FAMILY, HIMSELF

EXPERTS DIVIDED

● A presidential self-pardon is untested and legal experts are divided on its constitutionality

● While all presidents issue controversial pardons at the end of their terms, Trump has moved at a faster pace than his predecessors

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Washington, Jan 8: President Donald Trump has prepared a sweeping list of individuals he's hoping to pardon in the final days of his administration that includes senior White House officials, family members, prominent rappers – and possibly himself, according to people familiar with the matter.

According to CNN, some of those conversations happened in recent weeks, and Trump has asked about the legal and political consequences of a self-pardon.

The news

comes as Democratic and Republican lawmakers alike rebuked Trump's conduct as thousands of his supporters stormed the US Capitol building Wednesday and clashed with police, resulting in four deaths and interrupting a constitutional process by Congress to affirm the victories of President-elect Joe Biden and Vice President-elect Kamala Harris in the November 3 election.

It is not clear if the issue has come up since Wednesday's mayhem at the Capitol building fomented by the President's rhetoric or after his recent controversial call with the Georgia Secretary of State Brad Raffensperger, the report said, citing multiple sources. The president has also asked for legal opinions on whether he has the authority to issue a self-pardon and has been advised on the potential political

'WILL SKIP BIDEN'S INAUGURATION'

President Donald Trump announced Friday he will skip Joe Biden's inauguration in a final, unrepentant act of division as his presidency imploded amid demands that he step aside for the last 12 days in office. "To all of those who have asked, I will not be going to the Inauguration on January 20th," the US leader said on Twitter.

fallout, it said. The New York Times reported Thursday that Trump has suggested in conversations since Election Day that he wants to pardon himself, citing two people familiar with the discussions.

As the Centre rules out repealing farm laws in the 8th round talks, farm union leaders stick to their demands

The reforms have been welcomed by a large section of farmers in various states. Unions should think about the interests of the entire country

JOGINDER SINGH UGRAHAN | UNION LEADER

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Jan 8: As the eighth round of talks between the Centre and protesting farmers Friday failed to break an over-a-month-long deadlock, Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar said no decision could be reached as unions did not give alternatives to their demand for the repeal of laws.

Speaking to reporters after the meeting that lasted for little over two hours, Tomar said the government is still hopeful that union leaders will come with alternatives to discuss in the next round of talks January 15.

But, he virtually ruled out repeal of the laws saying many other groups across the country are supporting these reforms. On whether the government made a proposal to farmers to join a pending case in Supreme Court on issues related to farmers' protest, Tomar said the government did not make any such suggestion but it is always committed to follow whatever is decided by the Supreme Court.

Sources said the next date has been decided after keeping in mind a scheduled hearing of the Supreme Court January 11 as the government feels the apex court may look into the legality of the three laws, besides other issues related to farmers' protests. Asked whether the government would consider any proposal for allowing states to decide whether to implement the laws or not, Tomar said no such proposal was made by any farmer leader in this regard, but if such a suggestion is made the government will take a call at that time.

After the meeting, union leader Joginder Singh Ugrahan said the meeting was inconclusive and it was unlikely that any resolution can happen in the next round of talks as well.

We do not want anything less than the repeal of laws, he said.

Government is testing our strength, but we will not bow down. It seems we will have to spend Lohri and Baisakhi festivals here at protest sides, he said.

Another union leader Hannan Mollah said farmers are ready to fight till death and going to court was not an option.

He said the farmer unions will meet January 11 to decide their next course of action. Sticking to their key demand of the repeal of three farm laws to end their protest, farmer leaders told the government their ghar wapsi from protest sites on Delhi borders can happen only after law wapsi but the Centre insisted talks must be limited to contentious clauses and ruled out a complete withdrawal of Acts.

Bhubaneswar, Jan 8: After a gap of about nine months, schools across Odisha on Friday reopened their classrooms to students who would shortly be appearing for their board examination, amid strict adherence to COVID-19 guidelines, a senior official said.

Seats were arranged in a way to ensure all social distancing norms are followed, as faculty members imparted lessons to students of classes 10 and 12.

School and Mass Education Minister Samir Ranjan Dash stated that classes, with not more than 20-25 students, will also be held Saturdays and Sundays.

Syllabus has been reduced by 30 per cent, and no further deduction would be allowed, he said. On the reopening day, almost all schools focused on orienting students on Covid norms. Students entered school premises with consent letters from parents which were collected by the school authorities.

PC denies breaking lockdown rules in London

New Delhi: Actress Priyanka Chopra did not break lockdown rules in London, her team has claimed, adding that her salon visit was in accordance with the law and that she had necessary paperwork in place.

Earlier this week, it was reported that Priyanka flouted Covid-19 lockdown rules in the UK by stepping out for a salon appointment. She went to get her hair coloured for the upcoming romantic drama Text for You currently being shot in London.

It was reported that Priyanka went to the salon with her mother Madhu Chopra and pet dog Diana Wednesday.

At the moment, the UK is under lockdown amid the Covid-19 crisis, with all the personal care services, including salons and spas, shut.

Her team has stated that "the salon was opened privately for the production".

"Following government guidance, Priyanka's hair was coloured for the purpose of the film she is currently shooting in London. The salon was opened privately for the production and everyone involved had been tested and followed both the DCMS working guidelines and the film production regulations," the statement read.

"As I am sure you are aware, Film and TV production is permitted to continue in the UK, and locations can continue to accommodate shoots and recess that are carried out in-line with government guidelines. The exemption paperwork legally permitting her to be there was provided to the police, and they left satisfied," the statement added.

OTT space gets political

New Delhi: Politics has never really been a favoured subject for Bollywood filmmakers. In a country where mainstream cinema never really got out of the grip of censor woes and protest groups, the Hindi film industry by and large avoided cinema that spoke of politics and politicians.

There have been cases in the past, after all, when themes pertaining to politics faced trouble. Kissaa Kursee Kaa was banned from release during Emergency owing to its satirical depiction of democracy in the country. Aandhi was banned a few months after release because it was felt that the film bore shades of Indira Gandhi and her politics. Parzania, depicting a fictional story against the backdrop of the 2002 Gujarat riots, was banned in that state, and so was Firaq.

Inshallah Kashmir won a National Award, but was denied release, allegedly for showing the torture of ex-militants at the hands of army men. Bollywood cinema has naturally hesitated looking at Indian politics and political themes while setting up fictional drama.

However, the emerging streaming space is a different ball game altogether. With no direct censor control and with films and/or series going straight to cyber space, makers have the luxury to explore politics through fiction. While not many shows have directly tackled such themes, the numbers are growing. It will be a while before an Indian filmmaker will be game to show heavy politics the way, say, The Comey Rule did. But there has been a definite move towards intrepid portrayal of political characters and themes in our shows lately.

IAN S brings you some of the best shows that use politics as a springboard for fictional drama:

TANDAV

Set in Delhi, the fictional drama takes one behind the closed corridors of power and politics, and showcases the lengths to which people will go in the pursuit of power. It stars Saif Ali Khan, Dimple Kapadia, Sunil Grover, Tigra Manishu Dhulia, Kritika Kamra, Sarah Jane Dias, Sandhya Mridul, Anup Soni and Hiten Tejwani. Tiger Zinda Hai director Ali Abbas Zafar is making his digital debut with the series. The Amazon original series will release January 15.

DARK 7 WHITE

The political thriller is centred on the death of Sumeet Vyas as Yudhveer Singh while he was on his way to becoming the Chief Minister, and a police officer (Jatin Sarna) joining the investigation. Also featuring Nidhi Singh, Monica Chaudhary, Taniya Kalra, Kunj Anand, and Rachit Bahal, the show is available on Zee5 and ALTBalaji.

QUEEN

Ramya Krishnan's Queen chronicles the life of Shakti Seshadri, a character that bears uncanny resemblance to late Tamil Nadu chief minister J. Jayalalithaa. The series captures her struggle with her family's adverse financial position, her excelling in academics and rising to the rank of a state topper and then emerging a superstar in the film industry, and eventually becoming the youngest chief minister of her state. The show streams on MX Player.

CITY OF DREAMS

Set in Mumbai, the 10-episode political thriller is helmed by Nagesh Kukunoor. It narrates the story of the feud within the Gaikwad family, which erupts after an assassination attempt on a polarising political figure. The show stars Atul Kulkarni and Priya Bapat, and is available on Disney+ Hotstar.

MODI: JOURNEY OF A COMMON MAN

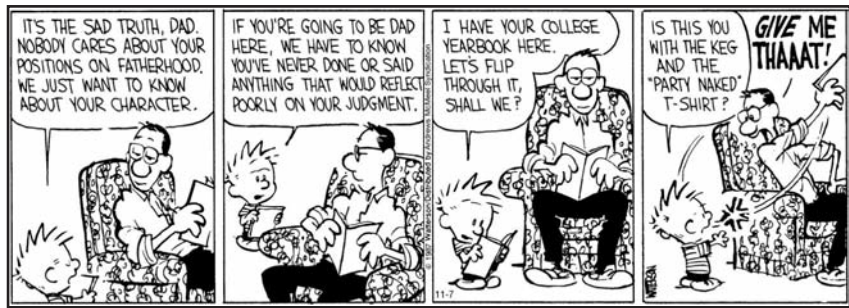

Maahesh Thakur, Darshan Jariwala, Ashish Sharma, and Makrand Deshpande topline the cast of the political drama that follows Prime Minister Narendra Modi's life from childhood to 2014, when he becomes Prime Minister of India. The show is available on Eros Now.

MV Act enforcement pushes helmet sales in City

AVIRAL MISHRA, OP

Bhubaneswar, Jan 8: With the city police cracking down on two-wheelers with helmetless pillion riders, the Capital headgear traders have witnessed booming sales during the last one week.

As per the provisions of the amended Motor Vehicles (MV) Act, the driving licence of the biker found with helmetless pillion riders would be suspended for three months. Moreover, the violation of the rule will also invite a penalty of ₹1,000 which would be imposed on the biker. The enforcement which came into effect January 1 has seen several people being fined in the city.

"With the new Act coming into force, our sales have doubled since beginning of the New Year. Our shops are being crowded by customers for the last week. Customers have been enquiring and buying all kinds of helmets. We offer all brands of headgears ranging from ₹790 to ₹60,000, but the women and kids' model have been in great demand. We are expecting further increase in our sales," said Chhabindra Kumar Sahoo, manager at Kinetic Banadurga World.

The new Act and its enforcement have come as a great saviour for the Covid-hit helmet business in the city. As Sahoo mentioned, the sales have improved significantly only for the first time since March last year. "Even after the lockdown was over;

Meanwhile, the act has also pushed sales of fake helmets in the city, with customers giving two hoots to the quality of headgears. The riders are buying headgears ranging between ₹250 and ₹300 without having any ISI hallmarks, only to hoodwink the authorities.

"I have brought two helmets - one for my 12-year-old son and another for my wife. Although I am aware of the need of wearing a quality helmet, I cannot afford to buy two helmets that are priced more than ₹1,000. Besides, I had already bought two branded helmets earlier for myself that got stolen. So, now I'm going for a non-branded one," said Sukanti Chand Behera, a resident of Patia here.

Bhubaneswar, Jan 8: Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik inaugurated the 3rd National Chilika Bird Festival through videoconferencing Friday.

Patnaik described the destination as "a pilgrimage for over a million winged visitors of varied species, which undertake flights to the mighty but calm Chilika Lake - Asia's largest brackish water lake." He applauded the efforts of Odisha Tourism and Ecotour Odisha for having organised the event which promises to add another feather to Odisha's cap - a soaring birding hub.

The three-day programme will witness participation of 55 selected birders representing nine states - Maharashtra, Karnataka, Delhi, Haryana, Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and West Bengal, besides Odisha.

Offering a gist of the focused conservation campaign by the government, Chief Secretary Suresh Mohapatra said, "Chilika's Mangalajodi is a pioneering work in community-led conservation. It is an unparalleled birding desti-

Aparajita said, "17 BJP leaders had been murdered in the state and all those murders were political murders since 2017. But justice has been a far cry in most of the cases."

"In 2017 panchayat elections, 14 BJP workers were killed. They were from Mayurbhanj, Dhenkanal, Bhadrak, Koraput, Bolangir, Gajapati, Hinjli, Ganjam, Malkangiri, Kendrapara and Khurda," she said.

She also added, "The police have information about the cases but in many cases chargesheets have not been filed. I have requested the government to take action in such cases and give justice. The National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) report claimed that Odisha is at the second slot when it comes to crimes against women."

Govt urges people to vaccinate against nCoV

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Jan 8: The Health department Friday urged the people to go for mass vaccination when the Covid-19 vaccines arrive in the state in the coming days.

Interacting with the media, state Director of Medical Education and Training (DMET) CBK Mohanty said, “I myself have planned to take the vaccine and vowed to get other health workers vaccinated. Vaccination is a step towards personal safety. The government has already given approval for the vaccine which has passed through several safety stages.”

While trying to allay the fears among the people about the possible side effects of vaccines, the official said, “Many scientists have raised some concerns about side effects of vaccines but nothing has been proven yet on the issue. The talks of side effects of the vaccine could be a rumour.”

He also cited reasons for making priority list for mass administration of vaccines.

“In India, the population is very huge. Mass vaccination of the population could not be done in a single phase. So, the government had decided to administer it in a phased manner based on the associated risk from the infection. Health workers who are exposed to patients have been put in the priority list.”

He also said that the Union government is the final decision maker in the process. “Covid vaccination is under the control of the Union government. The vaccines will be first kept with the Centre and later the states will get the supply. We may get the vaccine in next 10 days based on the announcements of the Union government.”

CBK MOHANTY | DIRECTOR OF MEDICAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING

He said that the exact dates of vaccination in Odisha could not be predicted and depends largely on Union government’s decisions. He also said that the survey and registration for other sections of the population will also start soon.

He also added, “I want to urge the people to not believe in any fake application talking about vaccine registration and supply. Till now there is no proposal to make the vaccines available in market. Now, the initiative will be done only through government route.”

NCPCR asks S&ME dept to help students sit for JNVST

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Jan 8: Acting on a complaint from Odisha Parents Federation, the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) wrote to the school and mass education department to ensure students of satellite schools register themselves for admissions in Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalaya Selection Test-JNVST. The state government had shut many satellite schools in the state by way of merger with nearby bigger schools.

In the letter to principal secretary Satyabrata Sahu, the commission said they have received a complaint from Basudev Bhatt of Odisha Parents Federation on rationalisation and consolidation of schools under S&ME and implementation of guidelines for the policy of rationalization and consolidation of schools.

“It is alleged that students have been deprived of registration of their names for admission test in Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalaya Section Test due to merger and closing of schools in Odisha. It is also alleged that many parents did not get admissions in lead schools due to closing of schools for COVID-19.

Earlier, Odisha Parents Federation wrote a letter to Priyanka Kanoongo, chairperson of NCPCR regarding deprivation of students for registration of satellite schools in Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalaya Selection Test (JNVST) for admission in Class VI due to merger of schools.

According to the federation, the number of such schools identified for closure is 14,339 for the year 2020-21. We have opposed this decision of closure of schools. The last date of online registration of JNVST test was December 29, 2020. Due to merger our students have been deprived of registering their names for admission test, it said.

Lots of parents did not get admissions for their wards in lead schools from satellite schools due to closing of schools for Covid 19. The block education officers are very careless in this matter, it said.

We are concerned regarding participation of our students in JNV entrance examination for a better future. We demand your intervention and kindly order strong action against concerned DEOs and BEOs.

Man ends life after selling baby son

POST NEWS NETWORK

Malkangiri, Jan 8: A poverty-stricken man who could not bear the grief of selling his four-month-old son committed suicide. The incident occurred at Saptadhara village under Mathili police limits in Malkangiri district Thursday. The incident came to the knowledge of people Friday. The deceased has been identified as Somnath Khila. He has left behind his wife and five children.

Somnath had been under mental distress for several months as he was not able to meet the family expenses. Poverty forced him to sell his four-month old son to a neighbour a few days back. He thought that it would reduce the financial burden on him. But that did not happen. A sense of guilty encompassed him and it led him to commit suicide. Somnath's widow Kuni Khila and her four children now have no one to look after them. She has appealed to the district administration to help them out. However, questions are being asked as to how the district administration and the Childline were ignorant about the sale of the kid. Many feel that Somnath wouldn't have taken the drastic step if the administration had come to his rescue in time.

Kainjhari waterfall cries for tourism tag

POST NEWS NETWORK

Keonjhar, Jan 8: Mineral rich Keonjhar district is gifted with a number of scenic waterfalls and spots, but many of them have failed to draw attention of tourists for lack of development. All of them have potential to attract footfalls if they are equipped with necessary infrastructure. One of them is breathtaking Kainjhari waterfall in Bilarigotha hill near Talabali under Bansapal block.

Locals call the place Ghagara. Tucked away in hills and forests, the waterfall cascades down and flows through a creek, which is known as Kainjhari.

Kainjhari stream perennially emerges from Jamudalak hill and negotiates its meandering way through forests and rocky grounds before merging with Kainjhari dam. So the waterfall is known as Kainjhari waterfall. From there, its water mingles with Baitarani river that passes through Bhadrak.

To access the waterfall, one has to take the Nararanpur road from the district headquarters. This road is connected to Nudurapada Chhak and from there, one has to travel Buxigaon Chhak leadin to Gonasika road and then to Barahagad Chhak. From there, go to Talabali village.

This place offers breathtaking view of sylvan setting –water cascading down from a hill cliff measuring 40 ft height. Its water flows into a stream. Down the stream, there are five more beautiful waterfalls.

The area is filled with dense forests. The area marked with towering hills and sprawling rocky floors looks ethereal as sunlight can't penetrate through thick foliage. The water from all the five waterfalls flows down into a gorge. The place is most enjoyable by sitting on rocky floors all around.

Scores of locals and people from other areas through the area for picnicking.

Locals say, the place is more beautiful and attractive than Sanghagara waterfall. They observed that if the government grants tourism tag to the place, it would emerged at one of the tourist draws in the district.

Basically the development of the place would boost tribal tourism as the area is habited by primitive tribes like Juanga.

Experts say, if one travels through Hatishila, Baragad and other Juanga villages in the peripheral area, it would give him a feel of Darjeeling and Shimla, given its cool sylvan atmosphere.

Local environmentalist Harekrushna Mohant said that the area is rich with valuable medicinal herbs. The place deserved tourism tag with development of basic infrastructure. "We have taken up the issue with the SFO," he added.

District tourism officer Ramesh Chandra Nayak said that the place is quite beautiful and steps will be taken to seek tourism tag to the place.

Vanishing sal forests hit tribals' livelihood

POST NEWS NETWORK

Kamakshynagar, Jan 8: Tribals in remote pockets of Dhenkanal are worried over their livelihood as they live on collection and sales of minor forest produce. The gradually vanishing sal forests have impacted their age-old profession.

Lack of marketing facilities for MPFs including sal leaves forces the tribals to sell their items for a pittance, a report said.

Their life is always fraught with dangers from wild animals. Yet, they stick to forests as they earn their living from minor forest produce.

Thousands of tribal families living in Baunsapal, Kadua, Mahulapal, Saruali and Barua under Kamakshyanagar block; Batagan, Balikuma, Kankadahada and Kanthei panchayats under Kankadahada block depend on forests. They collect MPFs like sal leaves, shiali leaves, and wild grass for brooms, lac and resins.

Mostly women make different items like plates and cups from these leaves. They sell them in the market every day. "Earlier, we earned well, but now we are unable to get price for half of our labour invested in leaf collection and sale," some tribals lamented.

In the absence of marketing facilities, traders take advantage of tribals who sell the MPFs at throwaway prices.

"Thermocol, plastic plates and cups are now flooded in the market. They are widely used in festivals, marriage and thread ceremonies. They are gradually replacing leaf plates made by us," they lamented.

Shiali lata (a wild creeper) is gradually vanishing in forests due to frequent wildfires. Besides, timber mafia has been looting sal trees, thus making it difficult for them to get sal leaves. "Quality sal leaves are not available these days while elephant menace often keeps them away from venturing deeper into forests for leaf collection. Traders come near us and buy the leaves at cheap prices. They make plates from those leaves with machines," they added.

They demanded that there is a need for marketing support from the government. Nagi Tudu, a tribal resident of Karadabani (Kanpur) said three to four years ago he used to earn Rs 300 a day from selling sal

TIGER ON THE PROWL

Nuapada villagers clamour for help

POST NEWS NETWORK

Tarbod, Jan 8: Panic gripped residents of Bharuamunda village under Komana forest range in Nuapada district as a tiger has strayed into the locality. The villagers are so terrified that they have stopped letting out their domestic animals for grazing. After sunset, the village has a deserted look.

The villagers still remember how a tiger had taken away a child while she was sleeping with her mother at Haladi village in 2018. The forest department officials had captured the tiger and relocated it to Nandankanan Zoo in Bhubaneswar.

Bharuamunda village is five kilometres from Komana forest range. Locals said the tiger is roaming in the locality in search of food.

According to Naveen Majhi, a villager, he had taken his goats and sheep for grazing to Chandol hill Sunday. It was about 11 am when the tiger suddenly pounced on the herd. Seeing the marauding animal, Naveen rushed back to the village seeking help. When other villagers armed with bows and arrows and spears reached the spot, the tiger had disappeared. In the meantime, the tiger had killed a couple of goats.

Tuesday night also the predator killed a bullock of Dolamani Majhi. Similarly, the big cat strayed into the village and attacked a cow at Banabasi Majhi's shed. The panicked villagers have urged the forest department to take steps to relocate the wild animal. Contacted, Komana forest ranger, Jagdish Duria confirmed the presence of the tiger in the area, saying, "We keep a watch on its movement and steps are being taken to catch it."

SRI AUROBINDO

War of words

IPS officer D Roopa, who was the first woman home secretary of Karnataka, has been transferred as the managing director of Karnataka State Handicrafts Development Corporation amid her public spat with another IPS officer Hemant Nimbalkar, who too also transferred. Nimbalkar was the additional commissioner (administration) in Bengaluru before being transferred to the internal security department.

Public spats are rarely pretty and the one between these two senior IPS officers of Karnataka over the tender process to procure CCTVs has brought out in the open the intense rivalries in the service. The two IPS officer locked horns after Roopa accused Nimbalkar of irregularities in the tender process of Rs 619 crore Bengaluru Safe City project under the Nirbhaya scheme. Nimbalkar, on the other hand, accused D Roopa of interfering with the tender process without jurisdiction.

Roopa had written to state Chief Secretary TM Vijaya Bhaskar alleging that Nimbalkar was trying to favour a private company in the Bengaluru Safe City Project and demanded a probe against Nimbalkar, alleging in turn that while the Home Department has started an enquiry against her, it has hesitated to do the same against Nimbalkar, even after months since the CBI sought sanction for his prosecution.

According to sources, Roopa wrote to the Chief Secretary after media reports that suggested she was under investigation by the Chief Secretary for allegedly 'impersonating' as Home Secretary and interfering with the tendering process for the multi-crore project. It is unclear where the question of impersonation arises as Roopa was the Home Secretary of Karnataka! The content of the report is on the lines of a complaint written by Nimbalkar to the Karnataka Chief Secretary.

As the two trade charges, sources say that the government has started an inquiry in the matter. Expect more salvos in the days ahead!

Khemka digs in his heels

Haryana IAS officer and whistleblower Ashok Khemka never gives up on his first principles.

Now Principal Secretary in the state's Archaeological Department, the indefatigable Khemka continues to pursue the case which brought him into the national limelight. Last year, Khemka had appealed to the Haryana State Information Commission under the Right to Information Act.

He had sought information relating to the inquiry commission that probed the grant of change of land use licences in Gurgaon during the Congress government, including the alleged role of Robert Vadra, son-in-law of Congress interim President Sonia Gandhi. He informed the information commission that the complete information sought had not been provided to him.

The commission has now issued notice to the office of Chief Secretary (Political Department) and the Town and Country Planning Department to give their response to the rejoinders filed by Khemka. Sources say that the IAS officer has sought "penal action" under Section 20 of the RTI Act against those who failed to provide the information he had sought, claiming there is a "cover-up attempt". This too is the letter of the law.

J&K babus defy instructions

The government has taken serious note of several IAS officers of the Jammu and Kashmir cadre openly flouting instructions on the online filing of Immovable Property Returns (IPRs). Non-compliance can lead to disciplinary proceedings and denial of vigilance clearance.

According to sources, online filing of IPRs was introduced in 2017. In terms of the extant rules, the babus have to necessarily file IPRs electronically as there is no provision for manual submission.

But much to the disappointment of the Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT) and the General Administration Department (GAD), several IAS officers have not acted on the instructions issued repeatedly since 2017. Now, sources say, the Commissioner Secretary of GAD, Manoj Kumar Dwivedi, has issued a circular stating that failure to comply would "constitute good and sufficient reason for the institution of disciplinary proceedings". The IAS officers have been advised to follow the instructions in letter and spirit or face the consequences. The government has clearly decided that it will not give further leeway to the defaulters.

WORDSWORTH

Bridie

I know the word, but had to look it up to double-check the usual spelling, which is the slightly different bridie. It's in Chambers Dictionary and the New Oxford Dictionary of English (NODE) but not in many American equivalents. The word is indeed Scots, but is nothing like so well known south of the border or abroad, which is why its appearance in dictionaries is patchy. The Scots would probably take offence if I agreed with you that it was a Scottish pasty, since pasties are traditionally Cornish, but that's essentially what it is: meat and vegetables placed on a round pastry base, which is turned over and folded down to enclose the contents, then baked. There are quite a number of types of these meat pies, whose fillings vary with the region. The bridie traditionally contains mainly beef and onions, while the Cornish pasty's filling is based more on potato and swede (rutabaga in the US) with a little beef; the Sussex churdle contains liver, bacon and vegetables with a cheese topping. But the fillings are even more variable than the names. The dish was originally a portable "piece" for a workman to take with him for his meal break, and it was made from whatever was available at the time, often with little or no meat in it. Nobody knows where the word bridie comes from, though NODE hazards a guess that it's a corruption of "bride's pie".

RETURN OF US INTELLIGENCE

FOCUS US SPIES

BIDEN HAS SELECTED A SEASONED TEAM WHOSE LEADING MEMBERS ARE ALREADY WELL KNOWN TO ONE ANOTHER AND TO THE INTELLIGENCE COMMUNITY

Tradition has it that when less-than-beloved CIA station chiefs are transferred from their posts abroad, their long-suffering staff celebrates with a wheels-up party. If tradition still holds, champagne corks were popping at CIA headquarters when Donald Trump lost his presidential re-election bid to Joe Biden. It is no secret that America's intelligence services have been in the crosshairs of one of the most ignorant, paranoid, and antagonistic Presidents ever to have held the office. Trump wore his distrust of spies and intelligence analysts on his sleeve, right next to his disregard for US national security.

By contrast, as a former Vice President and Chair of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Biden is by all accounts a knowledgeable and appreciative consumer of intelligence. Simply by picking up the reins, his administration will go a long way toward restoring a sense of normalcy in the intelligence community (and across the rest of the federal government).

Moreover, Biden has selected a seasoned team whose leading members are already well known to one another and to the intelligence community. In their new roles, they will have to address a wide array of issues. As with all transitions, their inboxes are doubtless already overflowing with advice. But the immediate priority, clearly, is to start repairing the enormous damage that the Trump administration has done to people and relationships in every part of the intelligence community.

One obvious problem for intelligence leaders will be the lasting effects of Trump's chaotic, destructive approach to foreign policy, which has included personal attacks on NATO leaders, flattery of dictators, precipitous troop withdrawals, and threats to renege on alliances in Europe and Asia. Trump's alienation of allies and admiration for adversaries has left vital intelligence-gathering, military, and diplomatic relationships in tatters.

And eroded relationships are only part of the problem. By attacking his own intelligence offi-

It is no secret that America's intelligence services have been in the crosshairs of one of the most ignorant, paranoid, and antagonistic Presidents ever to have held the office. Trump wore his distrust of spies and intelligence analysts on his sleeve, right next to his disregard for US national security cers and attempting to politicise their work, Trump has undermined the agencies' morale as well as their credibility. Here, Biden's replacement of John Ratcliffe, an unqualified Trump today, with former CIA Deputy Director Avril Haines as Director of National Intelligence (DNI) will help. But the new administration's spy chiefs will have to do more than deliver a high-quality product. They also must reassure their workforce and reaffirm their agencies' commitments to longstanding ethical and operational standards.

Trump's minions most likely will continue to overstep their remit on their way out. Last month, for example, Ratcliffe issued a hysterical warning about China in a commentary for the Wall Street Journal. While no one doubts that China's increasingly authoritarian and aggressive regime will remain a leading national-security issue, Ratcliffe's intent was clearly political. By mixing credible assertions about China's plans with hair-on-fire rhetoric, he misused intelligence and his office, eroding the credibility of both.

This politicisation of intelligence on China wasn't Ratcliffe's first or worst offense. His irresponsible behavior also made headlines in September, when he declassified reports suggesting that Hillary Clinton had colluded with the Kremlin in her 2016 presidential race. These reports had already been flagged by US intelligence experts as likely Russian disinformation. By overriding those objections and releasing unverified reports anyway, Ratcliffe risked US intelligence sources and methods. His motive was obvious: to discredit the intelligence community's finding that Russia had, in fact, aided the 2016 Trump campaign.

The DNI's office isn't the only place where Biden's team will need to restore professional intelligence standards. A similar effort is also urgently needed at the CIA and other agencies, following Trump's attempts to oust the CIA whistleblower whose complaint precipitated his impeachment by the House of Representatives last year. Trump and his sycophants' sordid attacks on the whistleblower's statutory protections were met with dead silence from intelligence leaders. The lack of a public response from Gina Haspel, the Trump-appointed CIA director, spoke volumes, as did the silence of other agency chiefs in 2020 when Trump fired the inspector-general who had forwarded the whistleblower's complaint to Capitol Hill.

For the CIA rank and file, words matter. By offering only silence, these intelligence leaders sent a signal that laws, professional oaths, and institutional obligations are a dead letter. Biden's intelligence chiefs now must communicate the opposite message.

The value of intelligence for policymakers depends not just on the relevance and accuracy of the raw data, but also on the objectivity of the analysis that makes sense of it. The quality of intelligence thus depends on the integrity of the officers who gather and interpret it. For these officers to remain committed to the highest ethical and professional standards – including when they discover wrongdoing within their own agencies – so, too, must their leaders.

Nearly 35 years ago, when former FBI director William H. Webster was appointed by President Ronald Reagan to lead the CIA following the Iran-Contra scandal, he offered the briefest of opening statements at his Senate confirmation hearing. Quoting Sir William Stephenson, the United Kingdom's spy chief in the United States during World War II, he said:

"Among the increasingly intricate arsenals across the world," Stephenson wrote, "intelligence is an essential weapon, perhaps the most important. But it is, being secret, the most dangerous. Safeguards to prevent its abuse must be devised, revised, and rigidly applied. But, as in all enterprise, the character and wisdom of those to whom it is entrusted will be decisive. In the integrity of that guardianship lies the hope of free people to endure and prevail."

A man of superb reputation, Webster stressed the importance of integrity. Biden's intelligence nominees would be wise to do the same at their own confirmations and when they address the intelligence officers awaiting their leadership.

Kent Harrington, a former senior CIA analyst, served as national intelligence officer for East Asia, chief of station in Asia, and the CIA's director of public affairs.

SPECTRUM DEVELOPMENT

Let the great transition begin

With Covid-19 vaccinations underway in some countries and efforts to expand access still ongoing, world leaders will soon shift their attention from crisis response to pandemic recovery. Governments have already committed $12 trillion to the Covid-19 response, and there will be strong pressure to keep investing in a return to the pre-pandemic "normal." But that would be a mistake.

Putting aside budget constraints, we have just seen that the pre-pandemic normal had dire implications for the world. Our strained interactions with the environment helped introduce the coronavirus to humans; our hyper-connected global economy allowed it to spread like wildfire, and its especially deadly effects on the most vulnerable populations has highlighted the consequences of deep-seated social and economic inequalities within and between countries.

Instead of aiming to restore that pre-2020 way of life, our leaders should set their sights on creating a different, better world. Fortunately, they already have a roadmap in the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), which embody economic, social, and environmental targets that all countries have committed to achieve by 2030.

When originally adopted in 2015, the SDGs aimed to double down on a previous generation's progress by eradicating extreme poverty, reversing the scourge of environmental degradation, and decisively reducing inequality. By the time Covid-19 began devastating the world, targets like ending preventable child deaths were coming within sight, even if problems like climate change and social inequality were looming ever larger. And although the virus has impeded progress, it hasn't changed the essential outcomes.

Looking ahead, the immediate challenge is to adapt to our new conditions while charting a course toward a better destination. Through our own work with 17 Rooms, a global community of experts collaborating to identify practical next steps for each SDG, we have identified four "transitions" to help guide us.

The first such transition concerns equal justice. Developments in 2020 shed new light on longstanding social and economic inequities faced by women, minorities, low-income workers, and victims of state-sponsored violence, among many other groups. Tackling the roots of inequality requires deep and persistent commitments to economic and social progress for every segment of society.

The second major shift is toward "blue-green" replenishment. For too long, natural capital (the environment) has been valued only at the margins. But the pandemic has shown that an imbalance between nature and humans in one part of the world can upend systems everywhere. The planet's "blue" skies, oceans, and natural waterways and "green" land-based ecosystems exist within absolute physical boundaries that we ignore at our peril. We must do more to protect these crucial assets at scale.

The third transition is toward inclusive systems for technological innovation. In recent decades, sleek, shiny consumer electronics have typically garnered the most attention. But the crises of 2020 have underscored the need for both equitable accesses to technology and public trust in new solutions.

Finally, none of these political, economic, environmental, and technological shifts can succeed without an equally large-scale generational transition. The Covid-19 crisis hasn't just exposed the shortcomings of current leaders; it has also jeopardized the life prospects of hundreds of millions of young people.

A generational transition can start with many small-scale initiatives. For example, government ministers can set joint investment strategies with kids who have been shut out of school, and universities can deploy their newly implemented online learning systems to help communities develop new skills for local jobs.

As the world begins to recover from the deep strains of 2020, many will be tempted to pick up where everything left off before crisis hit. But doing so would miss the point. We need 2021 to mark the start of a great transition.

Trump's destructive legacy

Sir, Apropos, news item, "US Capitol turns warzone", OrissaPost, January 8. The shocking scenes without precedent in US politics, pro-Trump rioters stormed the US Capitol as Congress was meeting to ceremonially certify the Electoral College votes and confirm Joe Biden as the next US president. President Donald Trump can't disavow his role in tormenting this chaos. Its hard to describe this is anything short of an attempt to coup. That such scenes should play out in the world's most powerful democracy, in terms of both hard and soft power: is surely bad news for democracies everywhere. And it will substantially damage Washington position to speak on democratic deficit in the rest of the world, at the time when the world is confronted with the rise of belligerent non-democratic states. And also, it revealed the absence of either principle or spine in the Republic party - which enabled Trump's rise and looked the other way for way too long. Trump, obsessed with building a personality cult, who has no hesitation in trampling over constitutional processes and institutions, and who has strong streak of ethno-nationalism based on demonising minorities turned into an undemocratic and authoritarian figure. All those who dismissed Mr Trump as merely idiosyncratic rather than as a danger to democracy itself underestimated his destructive instincts. He must be held accountable immediately - for leaving the country and the world with the Trump enjoying executive power for another two weeks till the inauguration is laced with risks. The US has, for long, preached the values of democracy and accountability. It is time to put it in practice.

TRS on bouncy track

Sir, After the TRS party's poll verdict in Dubbaka and GHMC elections and ever since the KCR's Delhi visit in the aftermath of recent elections, there is a see-saw change in KCR's attitude in taking policy decisions. Many eyebrows were raised as KCR took a complete U-turn in taking a number of decisions. Some of the developments include giving green signal to Ayushman Bharat health scheme, decision on MSP on farm produce to farmers, announcing sops for employees such as promotions, PRC etc., going back on LRS, announcing plenty of job opportunities for unemployed youth. It seems TRS, which was playing Twenty-20 matches with aggressive attitude till recently (before elections), is now playing Test matches on bouncy tracks with cautious and subdued approach. Is it a lull before a storm?

Have cracks emerged in Gupkar alliance?

The first voice of dissidence came from Basharat Bukhari of the NC who publicly challenged the PAGD leadership to roll out the ‘road map’ of getting back Article 370 and statehood

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Jan 8: The alliance of seven valley-based political parties, including the Communist Party of India (Marxist), has begun to develop cracks after a senior Kashmiri leader's recent visit to New Delhi. Heading a regional party, the leader is said to have met with the top functionaries in the Union Ministry of Home Affairs including Home Minister Amit Shah.

According to the well-placed political and bureaucratic sources privy to the development, the Kashmiri leader has also attended a dinner meeting with the Apni Party founder-president Altaf Bukhari. The Apni Party has contested the recent District Development Council (DDC) elections independently in Jammu and Kashmir but it is widely believed to be friendly with the BJP. It comprises a number of former legislators and ministers who have mostly deserted Mehbooba Mufti's PDP after her dismissal as Chief Minister.

The first voice of dissidence came from Basharat Bukhari of the National Conference (NC) who publicly challenged the PAGD leadership to roll out the ‘road map’ of getting back Article 370 and the statehood. He clarified to a local news agency that without drawing a road map, the PAGD would end up as another alliance like the Hurriyat.

“Gupkar Declaration was for protecting Article 370, 35-A, the Constitution and the flag of Jammu and Kashmir and the Statehood. That all stand snatched away,” Bukhari has pointed out and asked the senior leadership to delineate the path of realising the goal of Article 370 and statehood.

Over a dozen of leaders, associated with different constituents, have raised questions asking why there was no electoral alliance on the 140 seats in Jammu and why several members of the constituents had contested elections against one another in Kashmir. Those who contested the PAGD's NC nominees include PDP's Women's wing president Safeena Baig in Wagora Baramulla and PDP General Secretary Nazir Ahmad Khan in Beerwah. Senior PDP leader and former Minister Ghulam Nabi Hanjura's candidates fought NC's official candidates in four segments of Budgam district.

PC's vice president and a former Minister Abdul Gani Vakil has demanded "necessary action" against the rebels and the proxies who contested against the official candidates of the PAGD.

In a statement Vakil has said that the alliance parties fielded proxy candidates and reduced the DDC elections to a joke. "No doubt the Gupkar Alliance did well in the elections but the expectation was to sweep the polls which could not happen as the leadership lacked sincerity. Why did we get so less seats in Kashmir valley is something the leadership must ask themselves", he added.

Vakil said the PC president, with whom he claimed to have held four meetings expressing his apprehensions, should introspect whether there was any sincerity in the alliance.

“Again I asked him today which party he was fighting on the ground. Almost on all seats you were fighting your ally National Conference. The reality is all of us fought each other on the ground. We wanted to sweep the polls but got very few seats. What was the purpose of lying to the people and telling them we were in an alliance when in the majority of the cases there was no alliance? The results are there for everybody to see. And even today nobody is willing to speak the truth. We talk of an alliance in Srinagar while in villages, our workers fight it out against each other,” Vakil asserted.

Vakil said that in a letter to his party president he had already expressed these apprehensions which, according to him, came true. He asked Lone to immediately call a meeting for introspection. “We shouldn't mislead the people.”

The valley-based alliance, known as Peoples Alliance for Gupkar Declaration (PAGD), which contested the district elections on the plank of defeating the BJP and keeping it away from power in J&K, has bagged 110 seats out of 280. Farooq Abdullah's National Conference (NC), Mehbooba Mufti's PDP and Sajad Gani Lone's Peoples Conference (PC) are its key constituents.

The BJP and the NC have emerged as the first and the second largest party with 75 and 67 seats respectively but no party or alliance has achieved the magic figure of 141 seats. There were 14 seats in each of the J&K's 20 districts - 10 each in Kashmir and Jammu. While Lone has not spoken much, Omar Abdullah and Mehbooba Mufti have claimed the DDC results as a 'victory' for PAGD.

SC to hear plea against Kerala churches’ mandatory confessions

A group of Christian women questions the practice of compulsory confessions, terming the practice as violative of the Constitutional rights to freedom of religion and privacy

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Jan 8: The Supreme Court Friday agreed to hear a PIL by a group of Christian women from Kerala questioning the practice of compulsory confessions in the Malankara Orthodox Syrian Church, terming the practice as violative of the constitutional rights to freedom of religion and privacy.

A bench headed by Chief Justice SA Bobde and comprising Justices AS Bopanna and V Ramasubramanian allowed petitioner Bina Titty and others to amend the petition to bring some additional facts in the matter.

At the outset, the bench asked senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi, representing a group of five women, why didn't he move the Kerala High Court, and he replied that the apex court had already referred to similar questions, which were framed in the Sabarimala judgment, for consideration by a nine-judge Constitution bench. Since the issue is pending in the top court, the High Court could not have heard the matter, Rohatgi said.

Attorney General KK Venugopal, representing the Centre, however, contended that the issue has emerged from the dispute in Malankara church, which the apex court settled in 2017, and the High Court concerned can deal with the matter.

Rohatgi submitted that the male priests have abused the confessions made by the women, and added that the matter is connected with constitutional importance, if confession is an essential religious practice. He argued that it is also important to examine that if it violated the right to privacy.

After a brief hearing in the matter, Rohatgi asked the top court to allow him to amend the petition and to bring more facts on record.

The plea, filed through advocate Mohit D. Ram, has argued that confession involves laying bare all secrets of the confessor which he/she believes to be sinful. “However, much to the dismay of the petitioners, in the present case, the priest, part from being not faithful to the sect of the petitioners, has also misused his position as the priest and indulged in acts of blackmailing the members of the parish,” the plea said.

The petitioners have argued that in certain cases, priests have even sought sexual favours from the female members of the parish. “The petitioners and similarly placed persons need to confess before a priest of their own choice,” added the plea.

December 14, a bench headed by the Chief Justice had sought response from the Centre, the Kerala government and high functionaries of the church on the plea challenging the alleged practice of forced and mandatory confession from every of its members.

The plea was filed by Mathew T Mathachan, Shaji PJ and Jose CV, through advocate Sanand Ramakrishnan.

“This pernicious practice of forced, compulsory and mandatory confession (not being voluntary) from every member both men and women is causing several other problems, including sexual exploitation of women and blackmailing,” said the plea.

‘Filament-less’ Kerala way to fight global warming: CM

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Thiruvananthapuram, Jan 8: Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan has said that a 'filament-less' Kerala is the alternative to reduce global warming, adding that conservation of energy is as important as generation.

The Chief Minister was delivering his inaugural address during distribution of LED bulbs in the state through video conference.

Vijayan said that production and promotion of LED bulbs is the policy of the state government. He said that 1 crore LED bulbs are being distributed to 17 lakh consumers who have registered with the state electricity board. He also added that consumers who require LED bulbs can again register with the board.

He said that the project 'Nilavu' on converting street lamps under local self governments to LED is a major success.

State Power Minister M.M. Mani said that the government is providing a warranty of 3 years for LED bulbs.

The 'filament-less' project is the main project under 'Energy Kerala Project' and the idea is to bring down the usage of mercury lamps and instead promote LED bulbs.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Thiruvananthapuram, Jan 8: After managing to flatten the Covid-19 curve within months of reporting the country's first coronavirus case last year, Kerala is now grappling with a sharp surge in its daily infections, prompting the Centre to send a high-level team to assist it.

However, the state government maintains the 'high numbers' are a result of robust surveillance and reporting system, while pointing to its low fatality rate.

Close to 40,000 cases have been reported from the southern state in the last week alone, with a daily addition of around 5,000, even as its neighbours and other high prevalence states like Tamil Nadu and Karnataka have started seeing a reversal.

As of Thursday, Kerala recorded 5,051 new coronavirus cases, including four UK returnees and 5,638 recoveries as the total caseload inched towards the eight lakh mark. The toll stood at 3,234 while the active cases are nearly 65,000.

“The rise in the number of cases in the state is due to a robust surveillance and reporting system. We managed to delay the peak of the pandemic and upgraded the threshold of our health system. Our ultimate aim is to save the lives of the people and reduce the mortality rate. Even with this high number

DELAYED PEAK

The state saw the virus curve flatten in April-May last year, even as it witnessed an increase in the cases later in the wake of the return of Keralites from abroad following the lockdown

By delaying the peak of the pandemic, the government increased the number of ICUs, ventilators in the hospitals and oxygen supply has been ensured to all beds

Public Health officials of the state say the percentage of active cases is high in Kerala because of the state's discharge policy which stipulates that the patient should record a negative result before discharge of cases, we managed to reduce the death rate,” Health Minister KK Shailaja told PTI.

She said the upward graph could also be attributed to the recently concluded local body polls, swept by the ruling CPI(M)-led LDF.

Shailaja said Kerala managed to maintain a very low case fatality rate in the state even as it was in a vulnerable position with high population density, high number of old-age population and the most number of diabetic patients.

“Yes there is an increase in cases due to the recently concluded local body polls and all. But we need to understand that the pandemic is still here and the lockdown restrictions were eased. The most scientific method of approach in connection with a pandemic is to delay the peak of it.”

“Many nations faced a shortage of beds as the cases peaked and choked their health system resulting in high mortality rates,” she added.

When asked about the state accounting for over 25 per cent of new cases in the country, she said “it is meaningless to say that Kerala's situation is worse.”

“In certain other states, when they reached the peak of the pandemic, thousands had lost their lives and their health systems were choked. It is meaningless to say that Kerala's situation is worse as we have a high number of positive cases. They are not considering the case fatality rate. Look at the example of Dharavi (in Mumbai). They have done a good job there. But the pandemic was contained there after nearly 400 deaths,” the minister said.

On the Centre deputing a team, headed by the Director of the National Centre for Disease Control (NCDC), Dr S K Singh to support public health interventions for COVID-19 management in Kerala, Shailaja welcomed the move.

Oppn UDF boycotts Guv’s address to House

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Thiruvananthapuram, Jan 8: The budget session of the Kerala Assembly began on a stormy note Friday as opposition UDF staged a protest against Speaker P Sreeramakrishnan over dollar the smuggling case and boycotted the policy address by Governor Arif Mohammad Khan, who flayed the contentious central farms laws.

Sticking to the policy address of the CPIM-led LDF government, Khan read out in full the remarks against the farm laws, against which the assembly had passed an unanimous resolution December 31.

In his two hour and ten minutes-long address, he also attacked the central investigating agencies, probing various allegations against the state government programmes, saying they have "overstepped the constitutional contours".

As Khan began his address, the Congress-led United Democratic Front (UDF) members, who came with banners and posters, raised slogans against Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan and the Speaker levelling various allegations.

They demanded the resignation of the Speaker, facing some allegations in connection with the dollar smuggling case in which his assistant private secretary K Ayyappan was questioned by the Customs in Kochi Friday.

Customs sources said Ayyappan was summoned to cross examine evidence it had gathered on alleged involvement of some "powerful persons" in the case.

Despite the sloganeering, the Governor began on time the customary address which detailed the achievements and performances of the lone Left front government in the country in its over four-and-half-year tenure.

A visibly irritated Khan asked the opposition members thrice to allow him fulfill his Constitutional duty, but his plea fell on deaf ears.

“I am doing my constitutional duty..It is expected that no obstruction will be created while the Governor is performing constitutional duties. You have already raised enough slogans...Don't interrupt me,” he said.

Referring to the protest by farmers against the new laws, he said "These agrarian laws will undermine regulated markets, result in eventual demise of minimum support price and tilt the balance of bargaining power definitely in favour of corporate middle men."

Being a consumer state, Kerala was also going to be "affected adversely" by the Essential Commodities Act amendment and resultant hoarding and profiteering, he said.

On central agencies, he said "Actions of certain central government agencies have overstepped the constitutional contours and are impeding the development activities and flagship programmes undertaken by the state. This has had a demoralising effect on honest and hard-working officers," the Governor claimed.

Khan also said in such a situation "co-operative federalism would lose its content and remain only in form".

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Jan 8: Union Minister Jitendra Singh Friday said merger of the Jammu and Kashmir cadre of IAS and IPS officers into the AGMUT cadre would further the process of total integration of the Union Territory with the rest of the country.

The Jammu and Kashmir cadre of Indian Administrative Service (IAS), Indian Police Service (IPS) and Indian Forest Service (IfoS) officers was on Thursday merged with the AGMUT (Arunachal Pradesh, Goa, Mizoram and Union Territories) cadre.

The officers of these three services are allotted cadre, which is either a state or state and union territories.

“After the creation of the Union Territory following the abrogation of Article 370, the merger of J&K cadre into AGMUT cadre was a natural corollary and would further carry forward the process of total integration of J&K with the mainstream India,” he told PTI.

Singh, the Minister of State for Personnel, said UT cadre offers Jammu & Kashmir wider range of officers to choose from because there is going to be a much larger pool of all-India service officers, including IAS officers, for posting in the two newly created Union Territories of Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh.

He said J&K will now be getting its officers from the common cadre available for the three states of Arunachal Pradesh, Goa, Mizoram as well as all the Union Territories of India.

As a result of this, the officers from J&K can now be moved seamlessly in and out of J&K among the different Union Territories of India as well as the three states of Arunachal Pradesh, Goa and Mizoram, said Singh.

“Such an arrangement often tends to bring in more accountability in the conduct and performance of officers,” he added.

Govt issues norms for airlines to carry Covid-19 vaccine

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Jan 8: Aviation regulator DGCA Friday issued guidelines to all aircraft operators who plan to transport COVID-19 vaccines packed in dry ice to various parts of the country.

If vaccines packed in dry ice is being transported in the passenger cabin of an aircraft, then the flight crew should be properly trained on the hazards and risks of its transportation, it noted.

Dry ice transforms into carbon dioxide gas at temperatures higher than -78 degrees Celsius under normal atmospheric pressure and, therefore, it is classified as "dangerous goods" by the International Civil Aviation Organisation (ICAO), it said. The Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) said, "Adequate number of carbon dioxide detectors should be available in the cabin. Such detectors should be located at locations for timely and reliable detection of dangerous concentration of carbon dioxide." "All operators while engaging in transportation of COVID-19 vaccines packed with dry ice shall establish the maximum quantity of dry ice that can be loaded in a given cargo hold or in the main deck (passenger cabin) when a passenger version is deployed for all cargo

Dolphin beaten to death

The gangetic dolphin was reportedly beaten to death by the locals who mistook it for a 'deadly fish'

AGENCIES

Pratapgarh (Uttar Pradesh), Jan 8: The death of a dolphin in the Sharda Sahayak canal in Pratapgarh district has turned into a major controversy.

The incident took place January 1. The local police and forest officials had reached the spot and had sent the body for post mortem.

The matter, however, was kept under wraps until the video clip went viral Friday when someone posted the clip of the dolphin being beaten to death by the locals. The forest officials evaded comments on the issue and said that it was yet to be verified if it was actually a dolphin. The local police said the forest officials would be better placed to respond to the queries. A local source, meanwhile, said the water gate of the canal had been closed and the water level had receded.

"In the morning of the New Year, local people saw the dolphin moving in the water. Some said it was a 'deadly and poisonous fish' while others said it could kill people who went near it. A huge crowd collected at the spot and people decided that it would be dangerous to let it go. The crowds started beating the dolphin and some even hit with an axe," the source said.

Circle officer, Jitendra Singh, meanwhile, denied the reports that the dolphin was beaten to death by the locals. During investigation, names of three persons belonging to Rae Bareilly district surfaced and they were arrested on Thursday, ASP (West) Dinesh Dwivedi said. Those who killed the dolphin were not able to take it away because of its weight, the ASP added.

Govt wants to tire out farmers: Cong

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Jan 8: On a day the eighth round of talks between the Centre and farmer leaders ended inconclusively, the Congress Friday accused the government of trying to tire out the agitating farmers and stressed that repealing the three farm laws was the only solution to the issue.

The Congress also stepped up the offensive against the government by launching an online campaign in support of the farmers' agitation, with senior party leader Rahul Gandhi accusing the Centre of betraying the farmers for benefitting their "corporate friends".

The meeting between the government and representatives of protesting farmer unions Friday failed to break the over-a-month-long deadlock with both sides sticking to their positions.

While farmer leaders told the government their "ghar wapsi" from protest sites at Delhi borders can happen only after "law wapsi", the Centre insisted talks must be limited to contentious clauses and ruled out a complete withdrawal of Acts.

Hitting out at the Centre, Congress chief spokesperson Randeep Surjewala said, "The Modi government has proved to be the most inhuman, arrogant and ruthless in the history of India. It can neither see the farmers dying due to the cold every day nor the economy coming to a standstill."

"It is trying to tire out the 'anadada' by playing the game of meetings with the farmers. But the farmer will neither tire out nor bow down and will not stop," he said in a tweet in Hindi. Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra met at senior party leader Rahul Gandhi's residence party's MPs and MLAs from Punjab who have been sitting in protest at Jantar Mantar demanding the repeal of the farm laws.

"The only solution is to repeal the three farm laws. There is no other solution," she told the protesting legislators during the meeting. "We have always stood by the farmers and we will not step back," she added while reiterating the party's support for farmers.

Punjab MPs Ravneet Singh Bittu, Jasbir Singh Gill and Gurjit Singh Aujla, along with some of the party MLAs including Kulbir Singh Zira have been sitting on a dharna at Jantar Mantar for the last 32 days in support of the farmers and demanding the repeal of the farm laws.

KANGANA, SISTER RECORD STATEMENTS BEFORE POLICE

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, Jan 8: Bollywood actor Kangana Ranaut Friday appeared before Bandra police here along with her sister to record statements in a case of sedition and spreading communal hatred, and claimed in a video earlier in the day that she was being targeted for expressing her views.

Ranaut, who has been provided Y-plus category security of CRPF personnel, and her sister Rangoli Chandel arrived at the police station in suburban Mumbai around 1 pm with their lawyer amid heavy media presence.

They left after nearly two hours. A senior police official said they could be called again for questioning after the next hearing in the magistrate's court.

"As per the assurance given to the High Court, she and her sister appeared before the police and recorded their statements today," Ranaut's lawyer Rizwan Siddiqui told PTI.

A magistrate's court in Bandra had directed the police to carry out an inquiry against Ranaut and Chandel following a complaint for allegedly trying to create hatred and communal tension through their social media posts. Casting director and fitness trainer Munawwar Ali Sayyad had filed the complaint referring to tweets and other statements from Ranaut and her sister.

The police registered an FIR in October. They were booked under IPC sections, including 153-A (promoting enmity between different groups on grounds of religion, race), 295-A (deliberate acts hurting religious sentiments) and 124-A (sedition).

Ahead of her visit to the police station, Ranaut put out a video on Twitter to say she was being targeted for expressing her opinion on issues related to the country's welfare. "My house was demolished illegally. When I talk about the welfare of the farmers there are cases being registered against me almost every day, for instance there is a case against me because I laughed," she claimed in the 1.30 minute video.

Over half of Army personnel under severe stress: Study

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Jan 8: The Indian Army has been losing more personnel every year in suicides, fratricides and untoward incidents than in any enemy action and over half of its soldiers seem to be under severe stress presently, said a study by think tank United Service Institution of India (USI).

"Prolonged exposure of Indian Army personnel to CI (counter-insurgency)/CT (counter-terrorism) environment has been one of the contributory factors for increased stress levels," said the research undertaken by Col A K Mor, Senior Research Fellow at the USI during 2019-20. There has been a significant increase in stress levels amongst Indian Army personnel during approximately the last two decades due to operational and non-operational stressors, it said. "Furthermore, presently more than half of Indian Army personnel seem to be under severe stress," said the study that was uploaded on the USI's website last month.

"The Indian Army has been losing more personnel every year due to suicides, fratricides and untoward incidents than in response to any enemy and/or terrorist activities," it mentioned. Units and sub-units under stress are likely to witness an increased number of incidents of indiscipline, unsatisfactory state of training, inadequate maintenance of equipment and low morale that adversely affects their combat preparedness and operational performance, it noted.

As per the study, the major organisational causes of stress amongst Army officers include inadequacies in the quality of leadership, overburdened commitments, inadequate resources, frequent dislocations, lack of fairness and transparency in postings and promotions, insufficient accommodation and non-grant of leave.

The main organisational stressors as perceived by junior commissioned officers (JCOs)/other ranks (ORs) include delay and denial of leave, excessive engagements, domestic problems, humiliation by seniors, lack of dignity, unreasonable restrictions on the use of mobiles, lack of recreational facilities and conflict with seniors as well as subordinates.

Maj General (Retd) B K Sharma is currently the director of the USI. The USI's website says that the three service chiefs - General M M Naravane, Admiral Karambir Singh and Air Chief Marshal R K S Bhaduria - are its Vice Patrons.

Its president is Vice Adm R Hari Kumar, who is Chief of Integrated Defence Staff to the Chairman Chief of Staffs Committee (CISC). The Indian armed forces have been losing over 100 soldiers every year due to suicides and fratricides leading to the "grim reality" of one soldier dying every third day, the study noted.

"This loss is substantially greater than the operational casualties suffered by the Armed forces. In addition, a number of soldiers and leaders have been affected by hypertension, heart diseases, psychosis, neurosis and other related ailments," it mentioned.

Bird flu confirmed in six states: Govt

FRESH THREATS

At a time when the Andhra Pradesh authorities have been battling the Covid-19 pandemic, the fresh scare of bird flu that has spread its tentacles across various states in the country has pulled down the consumption, price and sale of chickens in the state

Over 1.60L birds of five poultry farms in Haryana's Panchkula district are set to be culled as some poultry samples there have tested positive for the avian flu, Agriculture minister J P Dalal said

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Jan 8: The Centre Friday said bird flu has been confirmed so far in Kerala, Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Himachal Pradesh, Haryana and Gujarat, and asked these six states to contain the disease as per the action plan. Unusual mortality of 16 birds has also been reported at DDA park Hastal Village in the national capital, and samples have been sent to a testing lab.

"So far, the disease has been confirmed from six states (Kerala, Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Himachal Pradesh, Haryana and Gujarat). "It is learnt that culling operations have been completed in both the affected districts of Kerala. The disinfection process is underway," according to an official statement.

States that are still unaffected by Avian Influenza (AI) have been requested to keep a vigil on any unusual mortality among birds and to report immediately so that necessary measures are taken in the fastest possible time, it added.

Central teams have been deployed to visit the affected states of Kerala, Haryana and Himachal Pradesh for monitoring and for epidemiological investigation. The government said that in Haryana, there has been confirmation of Avian Influenza positive samples from ICAR-NIHSAD in poultry (two poultry farms) of the Panchkula district. Positive samples have also been reported in migratory birds in the Junagadh district, Gujarat, and in crows in Sawai Madhopur, Pali, Jaisalmer and Mohar districts of Rajasthan.

Therefore, the Department of Animal Husbandry and Dairying has suggested the affected states to contain the disease as per the Action Plan on Avian Influenza.

"Unusual mortality of 16 birds has also been reported in DDA park Hastal Village, Delhi. The AH (animal husbandry) Department of NCT of Delhi has reportedly taken precautionary measures and sent samples to ICAR-NIHSAD and a test report is awaited," the statement said.

The government said awareness among poultry farmers and the general public (consumers of eggs and chicken) about the disease is of foremost importance.

"Communication from the secretary, department of animal husbandry and dairying, has also been sent to the health ministry to restore consumer confidence in consumption of chicken and eggs," the statement said. It added that appropriate advisories have been requested to be issued from the health ministry in this regard, so that consumer confidence affected by rumours is put to rest.

"Also, states have been requested to increase awareness regarding safety of poultry or poultry products that were safe for consumption following boiling/ cooking procedures for which central support would be available," the statement said.

Give bulletproof jackets, arms to forest staff: SC

Representative image

New Delhi, Jan 8: Expressing serious concern over brutal attack by poachers on unarmed forest officials, the Supreme Court on Friday asked the state governments to follow the Assam model and provide firearms and bulletproof jackets to forest guards.

Pointing out that the situation was "serious", a bench headed by Chief Justice SA Bobde and comprising Justices AS Bopanna and V Ramasubramanian, cited the example of a particular state and said that it was "extremely distressing" to see forest officials wearing slippers and armed with sticks put on duty to protect large tracts of forest land and flora and fauna. "It is difficult to imagine how any law can be enforced by the forest officers and staff who are poorly armed against poachers, who are likely to be heavily armed," the bench observed. "A forest ranger is in a situation where he cannot call for help, unlike a policeman in a city. No one to help him in a forest," the CJI remarked. "We find it difficult to comprehend how these forest officers and staff would be in a position to protect the environment and forests that are normally vast tracts of uninhabited land, of which poachers take undue advantage to carry out their nefarious activities," the top court said in its order.

The apex court's observations came during the hearing of an application for stay on all proceedings against forest officers and staff concerned vis-a-vis an FIR registered under the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act on May 23, 2020, at the Mount Abu police station in Rajasthan.

The top court stayed the proceedings as an interim relief and scheduled the matter for hearing after four weeks. Earlier, during the hearing, the Chief Justice recalled that pangolin scales were seized by forest officials in the past, adding that these were in great demand in China.

Ex-serviceman held on charge of spying for Pak

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Lucknow/Meerut, Jan 8: A retired Armyman was arrested Friday in Uttar Pradesh on the charge of working for a Pakistani spy agency since 2016, official sources said.

The sources told IANS that retired Signalman Saurabh Sharma was apprehended by the Uttar Pradesh Anti-Terrorism Squad (ATS) following inputs from the Military Intelligence (MI) Unit in Lucknow. The ex-serviceman was allegedly working for Pakistani intelligence handlers based in Karachi.

In November last, officials of the Lucknow MI had received inputs regarding Sharma's 'involvement' in espionage activities, the sources said. The information codenamed 'Operation Cross-Connection' was shared with the UP ATS in early December, following which a joint investigation was initiated.

'Kidnapping for marriage' thriving in Bihar even in 2021

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Patna, Jan 8: Marriages are said to be made in heaven but in some pockets of Bihar tying the knot in the shadow of the gun is not unusual. 'Abduction for marriage' in districts such as Jamui, Lakhisarai, Begusarai, Jahanabad, Patna, Nawada and Vaishali takes place frequently despite it having serious consequences later on.

One such incident was reported Thursday when five unidentified men abducted Subham Kumar, a 20-year-old youth from Gangasari village under Barharia police station in Lakhisarai district while he was taking a morning walk with two friends. The kidnappers forced him to marry a girl in Jamui district. Subham was recently selected for a clerical job in the Army and the bride's family knew about it. They then hired a gang to execute the kidnapping.

Another similar incident took place March 24, 2020, when a pharmacy student Amit Kumar was kidnapped from Jandaha in Vaishali district and was taken to Samastipur for marriage with a minor girl. Kumar was in tears at being forced into marriage while the girl was also weeping as her father was getting her married against her wishes.

In June 2019, three youths belonging to Paharpur in Gaya district went to Nawada's famous Kakolat waterfall, where they were allegedly kidnapped by six men at gunpoint. They forced one of the youth Nityanand Kumar Rai to tie the knot with a minor girl, who was a Class 10 student.

All three youth were beaten by the bride's family before forcing Rai to marry. They released his friends with a stern warning and held Rai captive in their house.

Later, the minor girl claimed before the Duty Magistrate that she knew Rai since he visited her village to attend a marriage function. Kidnapping for marriage has a long history in Bihar. As per data available with IANS, 2,695 cases were reported in 2020 and only seven cases turned out to be fake. The highest number of such cases took place in September 2020 when Bihar police registered 349 cases in all 43 police districts. There were 336 cases in March 2020, 325 cases in October, 305 in June, 304 in February, 301 in July, 286 in August, 270 in January, 138 in May and 81 in April 2020. The Bihar police did not register any cases in November and December 2020.

A senior Bihar police official said the 'kidnapping for marriage' number in 2020 is lower compared to 2019 and 2018 probably due to the lockdown and pandemic.

In 2019, Bihar police registered 4,498 kidnapping for marriage cases and only 10 of them were false. A maximum of 480 cases were reported in May 2019, 454 in March and 443 in June.

There were 4,317 cases under similar charges registered in 2018 where May saw the highest number of cases with 480, followed by 465 in June and 428 in July.

These kidnappings generally take place during the marriage seasons.

Budaun horror: Police quiz accused priest

AGENCIES

Budaun (UP), Jan 8: A priest, who is the main accused in the alleged gangrape of an anganwadi worker in this Uttar Pradesh district, was quizzed throughout Friday night after his arrest in a late-night crackdown that ended his five-day run.

The "mahant", Satya Narayan, was hiding in a forest area near the house of one of his followers in Mewali village under the Ughaiti police station, from where he was picked up, the police said. The priest, who is in his 50s, was immediately arrested and interrogated by a police team.

Senior Superintendent of Police (SSP) Sankalp Sharma said the sub-inspector in-charge of the area, Amarjit Singh, was suspended on Friday. The station house officer (SHO) of the Ughaiti police station, Raghvendra Pratap, was suspended earlier for a "delay in informing higher authorities, laxity in taking action, dereliction of duty and failure in taking speedy action" and a case under IPC section 166A (public servant disobeying law) has been registered against the two officers.

They had informed senior officials about the incident after a delay of 17 hours, the SSP said. He said the priest is being questioned and further action will be taken in accordance with the information provided by him.

Some more people are on police radar and they are also being questioned, the SSP said, adding that all the angles are being looked into and the case will be solved soon.

The priest will be taken for a medical examination and produced before a local court for seeking remand later in the day, the police said. The 50-year-old woman, who had gone to a temple, was found dead under mysterious circumstances Sunday. Her family members accused the temple priest and his accomplices of raping and killing her. A case was registered against the accused and two of them -- Vedram and Jaspal -- were arrested Tuesday night.

ANOTHER RAPE CASE, ONE HELD

In another incident in Badaun district, a 15-year-old girl was forcibly taken to a house and raped allegedly by her neighbour while his cousin stood guard outside. One of the accused has been arrested and booked under IPC section for rape and provisions of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act. In their complaint, the survivor's family claimed that on Wednesday night, the girl went to attend a 'jagran' at the nearby temple from where she was forcefully taken to a house by a neighbour and his cousin, and raped. The family said when the girl did not return home, they went out to search for her. They found her in the house of one Pintu, who lives in the same locality.

The incident triggered an opposition outcry and a comparison with the 2012 Nirbhaya case in Delhi after the post-mortem report confirmed rape, a broken rib cage, a fractured leg and injuries in the victim's private parts.

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath has ordered "strongest possible action" in the case even as opposition parties have launched an attack on his government, terming the incident "horrific" and "shameful", with the Congress comparing it to the Nirbhaya case.

UK-India flights resume, chaos at Delhi airport

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Jan 8: Chaotic scenes were witnessed at the Delhi airport Friday as many passengers arriving from the UK vociferously complained against the national capital government's belated decision to make seven-day institutional quarantine compulsory for them irrespective of their COVID-19 test results.

Passenger flights resumed from the UK to India in limited numbers from Friday onwards after remaining suspended for 16 days due to the emergence of a new coronavirus variant in that country.

It was the only UK flight to land in Delhi Friday and it had 256 passengers in it, said Gauri Agarwal, founder of the Genestrings Diagnostic Centre, which is handling coronavirus testing of all passengers at the Delhi airport. "This is ridiculous. You cannot tell people the rules have changed after they land. Some notice must be given! Chaos at Delhi Airport with this flight, families with small children, pregnant woman howling," Vistara's former Chief Strategy and Commercial Officer Sanjiv Kapoor said on Twitter.

Cop 5th to die in Capitol riot

Washington: A US Capitol police officer has died of injuries sustained during clashes with a mob of President Donald Trump's supporters who overran a session of Congress, police said late Thursday. It was the first law enforcement death stemming from the violence at the Capitol Wednesday. Four protesters died, including a woman who was shot by police. Three other deaths were reported on the Capitol grounds, but the circumstances remained unclear

US Capitol police chief resigns

Washington: The US Capitol police chief handed in his resignation Thursday, a day after Congress was invaded by a mob egged on by President Donald Trump, a source close to the agency said. Steven Sund "is resigning effective January 16, 2021," the source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, told AFP, hours after House Speaker Nancy Pelosi called for his resignation, following sharp rebukes for what many criticised as a lack of preparation.

2020 was Europe's warmest year

Berlin: 2020 was the warmest year in Europe since records began, according to data published Friday by the EU climate monitoring service. Last year topped the previous temperature record in Europe — 2019 — by a whopping 0.4° Celsius (0.72° Fahrenheit), the European Union's Copernicus Climate Change Service said. It said 2020 was also tied with 2016 for the warmest year worldwide, confirming the past decade as the hottest on record. Data showed 2020 was 1.25 °C (2.2 °F) warmer than during the pre-industrial period from 1850-1900.

US lawmakers call for Trump's impeachment

Lawmakers have called for ousting President Trump from office, while House Speaker Nancy Pelosi said that if he wasn't removed, the House may move forward with a second impeachment

AGENCIES

Washington, Jan 8: Lawmakers of both parties have raised the prospect of ousting President Donald Trump from office, and House Speaker Nancy Pelosi said that if he wasn't removed, the House may move forward with a second impeachment.

Though Trump has less than two weeks in office, lawmakers and even some in his administration began discussing the issue Wednesday afternoon as Trump first refused to forcefully condemn the violent assault on the US Capitol by a mob of his supporters, and then appeared to excuse it.

Senior Trump administration officials raised the possibility of invoking Section 4 of the 25th Amendment — the forceful removal of Trump from power by his own Cabinet. Pelosi Thursday told a news conference she is waiting for a decision from Vice President Mike Pence and other Cabinet officials. She challenged several of them by name, including Secretary of State Mike Pompeo and Treasury Secretary Steve Mnuchin.

"Do they stand by these actions?" Pelosi asked. "Are they ready to say that for the next 13 days this dangerous man can do further harm to our country?"

Most Democrats, and many Republicans, put the blame squarely on Trump after hundreds of protesters bearing Trump flags and clothing broke into the Capitol Wednesday and caused destruction and mass evacuations. The President had urged the supporters to protest as Congress was counting the electoral votes that confirmed Biden's win. Pelosi said "a threshold was crossed of such magnitude" that Trump should not allowed making any decisions.

There did to be public support for the move, for now, among members of Trump's Cabinet, especially after Transportation Secretary Elaine Chao resigned in protest Thursday following the Capitol attack. But officials across the government went so far as to study up on the procedures for declaring Trump "unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office."

According to two people involved in the administration talks, staff-level discussions on the matter took place across multiple departments and even parts of the White House. No member of the Cabinet has publicly expressed support for the move — which would make Pence the acting president — though several were believed to be sympathetic to the notion, believing Trump is too volatile in his waning days before President-elect Joe Biden's inauguration January 20.

$50K reward for information on rioters

Washington: The FBI is offering a reward of up to $50,000 for information on the individuals responsible for placing pipe bombs in the committee headquarters of the key US political parties in the capital, the agency said. Many law enforcement agencies received reports on Wednesday of two suspected devices, one each at the headquarters of the Republican National Committee and the Democratic National Committee, the FBI said in a statement on Twitter. Thursday's statement was accompanied by an image of a masked suspect wearing gloves and a hoodie, carrying an object. "The FBI is offering a reward of up to $50,000 for information leading to the location, arrest and conviction," the agency's Washington field office added.

Under the 25th Amendment, Trump could dispute his Cabinet's finding, but the Cabinet could quickly reaffirm its position, keeping Pence in power while the question fell to lawmakers.

PAK MINORITIES FACE THE HEAT

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Jan 8: Soon after the brutal murder of 11 coal miners of the Pakistan's Hazara minority community, which drew international condemnation, human rights of Pashtuns have also come under the scanner. The Pashtuns have been rocked with a series of arbitrary detentions by state authorities at the behest of Pakistan's intelligence agencies at the forefront of targeting country's religious minorities.

After the shock police custody of Pashtun Tahaffuz Movement (PTM) leader Ali Wazir, a sitting member of the Pakistan parliament, on charges of hate speech, another senior leader of PTM and a senior Pashtun politician, Said Alam Mehsud was arbitrarily arrested from his home January 3. As if that were not enough, the Pashtuns were in for more shock and disbelief after Sanna Ejaz, a human rights worker and a PTM member, was arrested along with 45 other PTM activists in Peshawar Wednesday.

The series of arbitrary detentions and persecution of Pashtuns who have been peacefully protesting economic exploitation, enforced disappearances, extrajudicial killings, and arbitrary detentions of Pashtuns in the Pakhtunkhwa and tribal areas of Pakistan has been condemned the world over.

"Authorities must immediately and unconditionally release protesters belonging to the Pashtun Tahaffuz Movement who have been arbitrarily detained in Peshawar," said Amnesty International South Asia.

While the Pashtun movement for self-determination has a long history, a new wave of brutal repression has begun, after the Pakistan and China bonded to develop the China Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC). The risk-averse Chinese have been prodding the Pakistanis to ensure the security of their project, which mostly passes through three major sensitive zones — Balochistan, Gilgit Baltistan claimed by India, and China's restive Xinjiang Autonomous Region.

Xinjiang, where a separatist movement is raging, is at the heart of the China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI), of which CPEC is the flagship. China's BRI has therefore become a critical factor in the gross human rights violations of Pakistan's ethnic minorities.

Unsurprisingly, the Imran Khan government is facing the heat after global condemnation over the killing of Hazaras from the minority Shias.

Iran bans imports of US, UK Covid-19 vax

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE

Dubai, Jan 8: Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei banned Iran's government Friday from importing Covid-19 vaccines from the United States and Britain.

"Imports of US and British vaccines into the country are forbidden. I have told this to officials and I'm saying it publicly now," Khamenei said in a live televised speech.

"I have no confidence in them. Sometimes they want to test vaccines on other nations ... If the Americans were able to produce a vaccine they would not have such a coronavirus fiasco in their own country."

Iran, the country that has been worst hit by the novel coronavirus in the Middle East, launched human trials of its first domestic Covid-19 vaccine candidate late last month, saying it could help Iran defeat the pandemic despite US sanctions that affect its ability to import vaccines.

However, Khamenei praised Iran's efforts to develop domestic vaccines but said Iran could obtain vaccines "from other reliable places". He gave no details but China and Russia are both allies of Iran.

"I'm not optimistic about France either because of their history of infected blood," Khamenei said, referring to the country's contaminated blood scandal of the 1980s and 1990s.

Kim vows to improve ties with outside world

Kim Jong Un underscored the need to drastically improve his nation's ties with the outside world

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seoul, Jan 8: North Korean leader Kim Jong Un underscored the need to drastically improve his nation's ties with the outside world as he addressed a major political conference for the third consecutive day.

State media said Kim also reviewed relations with rival South Korea but didn't elaborate on what steps he said he wanted to take. Observers had expected Kim to use the first congress of the ruling Workers' Party in five years to send conciliatory gestures toward Seoul and Washington as he faces deepening economic troubles at home.

In his speech on the third day of the meeting Thursday, Kim "declared the general orientation and the policy stand of our party for comprehensively expanding and developing the external relations," the Korean Central News Agency said Friday.

Kim also examined relations with South Korea "as required by the prevailing situation and the changed times," KCNA said.

The congress is the party's top decision-making body which review past projects, lay out new priorities and reshuffle top officials. This month's congress was convened as Kim is struggling to overcome what he calls "multiple crises" caused by an economy battered by pandemic-related border closings, a series of natural disasters and US-led sanctions.

In his opening-day speech, Kim admitted his previous economic developmental plans had failed and vowed to lay out a new five-year development plan. On the second day of the meeting, he said he would bolster his country's military capability.

The congress comes as Kim's high-stakes nuclear diplomacy with President Donald Trump has remained stalled for about two years because of disputes over U.S.-led sanctions on the North. President-elect Joe Biden, who is to take office January 20, has called Kim a "thug" and is unlikely to hold any direct meeting with him unless North Korea takes serious steps toward denuclearisation.

Ties between the Koreas once flourished after Kim entered talks with Trump. But Pyongyang halted exchanges with Seoul and resumed harsh rhetoric against it after Kim's second summit with Trump in Vietnam in early 2019 collapsed over Trump's rebuttal of Kim's push for sweeping sanctions relief in return for a limited denuclearisation step.

ABU MAHDI AL-MUHANDIS' DEATH

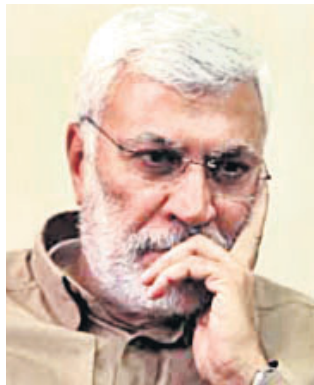

Iraq issues warrant against Trump

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Baghdad, Jan 8: An Iraqi court has issued an arrest warrant for outgoing US President Donald Trump over the killing of deputy chief of Abu Mahdi al-Muhandis, commander of the paramilitary Hashd Shaabi forces, in January 2020.

On January 3, 2020, a US drone strike struck a convoy near Baghdad International Airport that killed al-Muhandis, as well as Qasem Soleimani, commander of the Quds Force of Iran's Islamic Revolution Guards Corps.

"A judge in Baghdad's al-Rusafa court in charge of investigating the killing of Abu Mahdi al-Muhandis, deputy chief of Iraq's paramilitary Hashd Shaabi forces, issued an arrest warrant (Thursday) against the US President Donald Trump," Xinhua news agency quoted the Iraqi Supreme Judicial Council as saying in a statement. The judge issued the warrant after hearing the complaints of al-Muhandis' family members and the completion of the preliminary investigation procedures, the statement said.

"Investigation procedures are continuing to find out the other participants in committing this crime, whether they are Iraqis or foreigners," it added.

The Hashd Shaabi or the Popular Mobilization Forces (PMF) is a Shia paramilitary force made up of former militias with close ties to Iran.

It was recognised under a 2016 Iraqi law as an independent military force that answers directly to the Prime Minister.

Iranian state media had reported on Monday that Tehran has also issued an arrest warrant for Trump over Soleimani's death.

Tehran attorney general Ali Alqaisi Mehr claimed that Trump would be prosecuted after his term ends.

Wuhan Covid infections thrice higher than official figure

A study found that 1.68% of those from Wuhan contained antibodies for SARS-CoV-2 compared to 0.59% in the surrounding Hubei province

REUTERS

Shanghai, China: The number of people who have been infected with Covid-19 in the Chinese city of Wuhan, where the virus was first identified, could be around three times the official figure, according to a study by Chinese researchers based in the city.

The paper published by the PLOS Neglected Tropical Diseases journal Thursday, analysed blood samples from more than 60,000 healthy individuals taken from locations across China from March to May 2020.

It found that 1.68% of those from Wuhan contained antibodies for SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes Covid-19, compared to 0.59% in the surrounding Hubei province and 0.38% in the rest of China.

With the city's total population at more than 10 million, the researchers estimated that as many as 168,000 Wuhan residents were infected with the virus, compared to the official number of 50,340 hospitalised cases.

The study suggested at least two-thirds of the total number were asymptomatic, and thousands could have been infected after the "elimination" of clinical cases, raising the possibility the virus could exist in a community for a long period without causing hospitalisations.

A separate study published by the Chinese Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) late last month put the "seroprevalence" rate in Wuhan, the percentage of the population with antibodies, even higher at 4.43%, implying that around half a million people in the city could have been infected.

Covid-19 was identified in Wuhan at the end of 2019, with the first outbreak associated with a seafood market in the city. China finally locked down Wuhan and other cities in Hubei province January 23, 2020, but critics say it should have acted sooner. China has dismissed criticism of its early handling of the virus, and officials now point to overseas studies suggesting it was circulating in Europe several months before the Wuhan outbreak.

A 10-strong team from the World Health Organization was due to arrive in China this week to investigate the origins of Covid-19, but they have yet to be given authorisation to enter the country.

Total number of confirmed Covid-19 cases to date in mainland China now stands at 87,331, while the death toll remained unchanged at 4,634.

'Find permanent solution for PSH for food security'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Jan 8: India Friday urged the members of the World Trade Organization (WTO) to work on finding a permanent solution to the issue of public stock holding for food security purposes.

Commerce Secretary Anup Wadhawan said the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic has again brought to the fore the importance of food and livelihood security. He "urged the Membership for a permanent solution to Public Stock Holding (PSH) for food security", the Commerce Ministry said in a statement. The comments were made during the final session of India's seventh Trade Policy Review (TPR) which concluded on Friday at the WTO in Geneva.

Wadhawan also informed that India has a stable policy environment with considerably lower applied rates than its WTO commitments. The TPR is an important mechanism under the WTO's monitoring function in which member countries' trade and related policies are examined with an aim to contribute towards improved adherence to WTO rules, while providing constructive feedback to the member under review. More than 1,050 questions were asked and 53 interventions were made by WTO member countries in the TPR meetings. Under the global trade norms, a WTO member country's food subsidy bill should not breach the limit of 10 per cent of the value of production based on the reference price of 1986-88.

Apprehending that the full implementation of food security programme may result in breach of WTO cap, India has been seeking amendments in the formula to calculate food subsidy cap.

As an interim measure, WTO members at the Bali ministerial meeting in December 2013 had agreed to put in place a mechanism, popularly called the Peace Clause, and committed to negotiate an agreement for permanent solution.

Wadhawan also highlighted that reform is a continuous and ongoing process, and "the Government of India is deeply committed to pursuing this path to make India an attractive trade and investment partner for the world".

Covid treatment may qualify for tax deduction benefits

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Jan 8: Continuing with its pandemic relief initiatives, the government may extend income tax deduction benefits for Covid-19 treatment to individuals not covered under any health insurance.

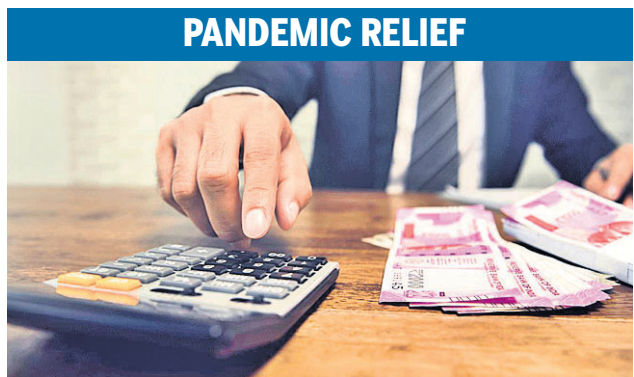

Sources said that several pre-budget proposals for providing tax relief for Covid-19 treatment have come to the Revenue Department and these are being actively examined. If the proposal is accepted, it may form part of budget proposals for 2021-22, they added.

Currently, few deductions have been prescribed under Chapter VI-A of the Income Tax Act, 1961 for medical treatment for self or dependent suffering from disability/severe disability (Sections 80DD, 80U), and medical treatment of prescribed diseases and ailments (Section 80DDB). However, there is no specific deduction under the Act which covers treatment cost for Covid-19 patients who are not covered under any health insurance.

The proposal that is now being considered is to include expenses made on Covid-19 treatment under the prescribed diseases category as per Section 80DDB and therefore, qualify such expenditure for getting income tax deduction benefits.

Interestingly, donation made to PM CARES fund designed specifically for providing Covid-19 relief is currently eligible for 100 per cent deduction under Section 80G of the Act, but no corresponding deduction has been notified for expenses incurred on treatment of the disease itself.

"Given the substantial cost involved in Covid-19 treatment in Government or private hospitals, a separate deduction capped up to ₹1,00,000 or actual treatment cost incurred by the taxpayer for self or family, whichever is lower, may be considered to be introduced under the Act to provide much-needed relief to the taxpayers specially when such costs are not covered under a health insurance policy," said Parizad Sirwalla, partner and head, global mobility services-tax, KPMG Assurance and Consulting LLP India.

The inclusion of Covid-19 treatment for tax deduction would bring big benefits to individuals and their families who are not covered under any health insurance plan but still face this unwanted additional financial burden from the pandemic. Even with health insurance, several policies have not included cover for Covid-19 treatment. Such individuals would also benefit from I-T deduction if it is made available.

GAME CHANGER: Ravindra Jadeja reacts after getting a wicket, Friday

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Sydney, Jan 8: Steve Smith's typically gutsy hundred was neutralised by Ravindra Jadeja's four-wicket haul and rookie Shubman Gill's fluent half century as a resolute India reached 96/2 after dismissing Australia for 338 on the second day of the third Test here, Friday.

The Indian bowlers, especially Jadeja (4/62) and the ever-dependable Jasprit Bumrah (2/66), were brilliant with their length on a flat SCG deck where Smith (131) along with Marnus Labuschagne (91) raised visions of a 450-plus total by taking the side to 206/2 at one stage.

But in the end, 338 was all they managed in a little less than 106 overs with none of the other batsmen making any telling contribution. It was only fitting that Jadeja's split second brilliance from the deep found Smith short of his crease.

Then it was the calm and collected Gill (50), who was assured during those cover drives off Nathan Lyon and equally breathtaking while presenting his forward defence to Pat Cummins. It was Gill's maiden Test half century in just his second match.

The 21-year-old and Rohit Sharma (26) added 70 in 27 overs but more importantly set the stage for skip-

Tokyo Olympics still uncertain, feels IOC

Richard Pound, Canadian IOC member

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tokyo, Jan 8: A senior member of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) has said he "can't be certain" the postponed Tokyo Olympics will open in just over six months because of the surging pandemic in Japan and elsewhere.

The comments by Canadian IOC member Richard Pound to British broadcaster the BBC came as Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga declared a state of emergency on Thursday for Tokyo and surrounding prefectures. "I can't be certain because the ongoing elephant in the room would be the surges in the virus," Pound said speaking about the future of the Tokyo Games.

Japan's emergency order, which is largely voluntary, will be in force until the first week of February. Tokyo reported a record of 2,447 new cases Thursday, a 50 per cent increase from the previous day — which was also a record day. Japan has attributed over 3,500 deaths to COVID-19, relatively low for a country of 126 million.

It's crunch time for Tokyo. Organizers say the Olympics will take place, but they are not expected to reveal concrete plans until spring. That's about the same time the torch relay begins March 25 with 10,000 runners crisscrossing the country for four months leading to the opening ceremony July 23.

Pound also hinted athletes should be a high priority for a vaccine because they serve as "role models." Pound's comments seem to contradict IOC President Thomas Bach.

Bach said in a visit to Tokyo in November that athletes should be encouraged to get a vaccine, but would not be required to. He also indicated they should not be a priority. Bach said that nurses, doctors and health care workers should be first in line for a vaccine, ahead of healthy, young athletes.

"Athletes are important role models, and by taking the vaccine they can send a powerful message that vaccination is not only about personal health, but also about solidarity and consideration for the well being of others in their communities," Pound said.

Reports suggest that the vaccine rollout in Japan is likely to be slowed by the need for local clinical trials. Some vaccines might not be readily available until May, although Suga said some would be ready in February.

Despite the cloud cover for the better part of the day, there was no swing on offer and lack of moisture meant that there wasn't any turn or for that matter, even some movement off the pitch.

The Australian attack looked more insipid than ever and Rohit, playing his first game in nearly two months, did all the hard work for nearly two hours before failing to check an uppish drive that was pounced by the bowler.

But it was a day when India had two openers, who were both ready to pull the fast bowlers during their opening spells and dominate Lyon with precise footwork.

Both frittered away good starts but in broader context, provided the launchpad which the team failed to get in the first two Tests.

Rakesh, Nauttam fashion Lions win

POST NEWS NETWORK

Cuttack, Jan 8: Rakesh K Pattanaik (54 n o; 1/7) and Nauttam Bhanja (3/17; 23 n o) helped Odisha Lions overpower Odisha Jaguars in their match of MGM Odisha T20 Cricket League at the Barabati Stadium scripting a seven-wicket victory here, Friday.

Opting to bat, Jaguars could muster only 99/8 in the stipulated 20 overs. Shamsul A Khan (29) and Girija P Rout (21) were the only batsmen to offer some resistance. For Lions, Nauttam was the star with the ball. In reply, Lions comfortably chased down the target, courtesy a wonderful half century by the 'Man of the match' Rakesh and Nauttam.

Goa, Jan 8: Liston Colaco came off the bench to score a brace helping Hyderabad FC register a 4-2 victory over NorthEast United FC (NEUFC) in their ISL encounter at Tilak Maidan, Friday.

With the scores locked at 2-2, Colaco put HFC ahead in the 85th minute. He dribbled into the box from the right, skipping past multiple challenges and curled a delightful strike into the top left corner of the net.

In the dying minutes of the game, he struck again. Aridane Santana chested a long ball into the path of Colaco who got in behind the Australia getting 172 runs in just under 51 overs, largely due to some positive batting by Smith, Labuschagne and down the order Mitchell Starc (24).

But Jadeja and Bumrah, especially with the second new ball, were on target even as debutant Navdeep Saini (2/65) leaked a few runs due to sheer inexperience.

The Sydney track didn't have much help for the slow bowlers in the first two days but that didn't deter Jadeja from denying Labuschagne a deserving hundred.

In a stop-start first session, Labuschagne, who was looking good for a hundred, when he got an arm ball from Jadeja, which bounced a bit more denying him room for a non-existent cut shot.

The result was a smart catch by skipper Ajinkya Rahane, who positioned himself a bit wide at the first slip. Smith completed his half century in the very next over after Labuschagne's dismissal, off Ravichandran Ashwin (0/74), who has been well below his best during the five sessions that India had been on field.

The two batsmen had little trouble as they blended caution with aggression perfectly during the first hour on a track that's offering slow turn with no visible demons in it.

The Indian bowlers continued bowling in straight lines with a heavy leg-side field that they have been employing since the second Test match.

What changed for Australia was the understanding of the opposition strategy better as they showed aggressive intent.

While Jadeja got a couple of wickets, both Ashwin and him erred on the shorter side of the length giving Smith ample opportunity to rock back and play through the vacant spaces in the off-side area.

While the pronounced shuffle was still there, Smith did cover his leg-stump while going across and was hardly troubled by the Indian bowlers. Despite a tight leg-side field, he was able to find on-side gaps and once it was 278/7 after Pat Cummins' dismissal, the next 60 runs came in a jiffy in 11 overs, courtesy Smith's aggressive approach.

No recognition for NSFs not complying with Sports Code

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Jan 8: National Sports Code is the law and the federations which are not complying with it cannot be granted recognition, the Delhi High Court Friday made it clear while granting a last opportunity to the Centre to show that the 41 NSFs granted recognition were complying with the requirements of the code.

The high court said in case of failure of the Centre in complying with its direction, the secretary of sports, Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports will have to be present before in the hearing.

"We grant one last opportunity to the Respondent (Centre) to comply with the order of November 6, 2020 failing which we direct the secretary (sports), Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports to remain present during the next hearing. The affidavit shall be filed within 10 days," a bench of Justices Vipin Sanghi and Najmi Waziri said.

The court listed the matter for further hearing January 22. The special bench was hearing a plea challenging the recognition granted to the 41 National Sports Federations (NSFs).

During the hearing, senior advocate Sachin Dutta and central government standing counsel Anil Soni, representing the Centre, sought some more time to file a reply in the matter.

This was opposed by petitioner lawyer and sports activist Rahul Mehra who said enough time has already been granted to the authorities who have filed an affidavit earlier and washed off their hands.

The bench, which was annoyed over non-compliance of its earlier order, said, "You need to change the game you are playing. You were playing soft ball, now you have to play hard ball. There is no compliance of the sports code. What is this happening?"

The bench observed that the National Sports Development Code is the law of the today because the Supreme Court has said it has to be followed in totality.

"You (Centre) will not recognise those who are complying with the sports code. They will go out today itself. If you want to take over, do it," the bench said.

Mehra, in his plea, has claimed 'abject inaction' by the Centre with regard to alleged maladministration of NSFs and the Indian Olympic Association (IOA).

The high court, November 6 last year, had asked the Centre to show that the 41 NSFs granted recognition in October were complying with the requirements of the National Sports Development Code of India, 2011.

It had directed the ministry to show that each of the 41 NSFs, which were granted recognition, have complied with every requirement of the sports code as these bodies are funded by public money.

Colaco late strikes lift Hyderabad FC

NEUFC defence before slotting past the keeper with aplomb.

Earlier, HFC couldn't have hoped for a better start as Santana put them ahead in the third minute. Joel Chianese fired a low cross from the right flank into the box and Santana met the ball to open the scoring.

In the 36th minute, the setter turned scorer as Chianese doubled the HFC lead. However, the lead was shortlived. NEUFC pulled one back when Halizaran Narzary committed a foul on Ashish Mehta inside the box and referee pointed to the spot. Federico Gallego converted the spot-kick. Soon after, Benjamin Lambot struck the equaliser to level the scores at 2-2 at the halftime.
