Taliban takeover could fuel terror plots: MI5

MI5 Director General Ken McCallum flagged concerns that UK could face more risk because of the withdrawal of NATO troops and overthrow of the internationally backed Afghanistan government

AGENCIES

London, Sept 10: The Taliban takeover in Afghanistan has "emboldened" the extremists and could lead to the return of major "al-Qaida-style" attack plots against the West, the head of Britain's domestic intelligence agency said Friday.

MI5 Director General Ken McCallum said the UK could face "more risk" because of the withdrawal of NATO troops and the overthrow of the internationally backed Afghan government.

"Terrorist threats tend not to change overnight in the sense of directed plotting or training camps or infrastructure — the sorts of things that al Qaida enjoyed in Afghanistan at the time of 9/11," McCallum told the BBC in a rare interview.

"But what does happen overnight, even though those directed plots and centrally organised bits of terrorism take a bit longer to rebuild ... Overnight, you can have a psychological boost, a morale boost to extremists already here, or in other countries. "So we need to be vigilant both for the increase in inspired terrorism which has become a real trend for us to deal with over the last five to 10 years, alongside the potential regrowth of al-Qaida-style directed plots."

Britain has seen several violent attacks by Islamist-inspired extremists in the past two decades. The deadliest was July 7, 2005, when four suicide bombers killed 52 commuters on London subway trains and a bus.

More recent knife and vehicle attacks have largely been the work of individuals inspired by militants such as the Islamic State group, but not directed by them.

McCallum said UK authorities had disrupted 31 attack plots in the past four years, by both Islamic and far-right extremists. He said it was hard to say whether Britain was safer or less safe, 20 years after the September 11 attacks in the United States.

'Taliban should stick to its commitment'

UNITED NATIONS: Terminating the situation in Afghanistan as "very fragile", India has said it is important that the Taliban adheres to its commitment to not allow the use of Afghan soil for terrorism, including from terror groups designated under Security Council resolution 1267 that lists Pakistan-based outfits Lashkar-e-Taiba and Jaish-e-Mohammed. India's Permanent Representative to the UN Ambassador T S Tirumurti said at the UN Security Council Debate on Afghanistan Thursday that as Afghanistan's neighbour, India is privileged to preside over the adoption of a substantial and forward-looking product of the Council during its presidency of the 15-nation UN body last month.

Pak: Isolating Af will have serious consequences

Pakistan Foreign Minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi Friday urged the international community to adopt a "new positive approach" towards Afghanistan, warning that isolating the country will have "serious consequences" for the Afghan people, the region and the world at large. Qureshi made the comments during a joint presser along with Spanish Foreign Minister Jose Manuel Albares, who arrived in Islamabad Friday to discuss the latest Afghan situation. He also said Pakistan is contributing towards the improvement of the situation in Afghanistan and sent an aircraft September 9 with food and medicine supplies and promised to extend more humanitarian assistance through air and land routes.

₹13,753cr UCs pending with Panchayati Raj dept: CAG

Since non-submission of UCs is fraught with the risk of misappropriation, it is imperative that the state govt should monitor this aspect closely, the CAG observed

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 10: The latest report of the Comptroller and Auditor General of India (CAG) on the state finances for FY 2019-20 took a dig at several departments which floundered in furnishing details of the usage of funds allocated to them.

The audit report claimed that several departments failed to submit utilisation certificates (UCs) to the government raising doubts about assurance of funds for these departments.

The CAG report claimed that the Panchayati Raj and Drinking Water department failed to submit UCs to the tune of ₹13,753.25 crore. The department had been entrusted with the task of handling works like rural housing schemes and drinking water projects.

About defaulting nature of the departments, the CAG report said that besides the Panchayati Raj department and several other key departments also faulted on the issue. "Five major defaulting departments that had not submitted UCs are: Panchayati Raj and Drinking Water (₹13,753.25 crore), Housing and Urban Development (₹6,463.83 crore), Planning and Convergence (₹2,963.17 crore), School and Mass Education

(₹2,961.14 crore) and Health and Family Welfare (₹2,553.17 crore)," the audit report said.

The audit report claimed that non-submission of the UCs meant that there were administrative failures and authorities failed to explain as to how funds were spent over the years.

"There is also no assurance that the intended objectives of providing these funds have been achieved. Since non-submission of UCs is fraught with the risk of misappropriation, it is imperative that the state government should monitor this aspect closely and hold the persons accountable to submission of UCs in a timely manner," the CAG report said.

UCs for an amount aggregating ₹36,193.89 crore remained outstanding against 36 departments.

No outdoor festivities; idol height fixed at 4ft

In view of relentless reporting of Covid-19 cases, the SRC has imposed restrictions and urged people not to lower guards against the pandemic

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 10: Special Relief Commissioner (SRC) Pradeep Kumar Jena Friday said that the government has decided to continue with the restrictions being imposed during festivals including the ones regarding congregation of people near pandals and idol height.

This comes at a time when a series of festivals would be celebrated this month and next month starting from Nuakhai to Durga Puja.

The SRC said that Covid-appropriate behaviour like 6-feet distance, masks and others would continue to be enforced during the festivals while the idol height would also be fixed at maximum 4 feet as decided earlier.

"We have decided to allow the people to celebrate the festivals in a low-key manner keeping in view the pandemic. The restrictions on height of idols at puja pandals would continue as usual with the maximum ceiling of 4 feet," he said.

He also urged the people not to lower guards when the state has been reporting cases of Covid-19 every day.

"The state is reporting 600 to 1,000 cases of Covid-19 daily. We cannot say that the second wave is over yet. Thus we need to continue with the precautions we have been taking to prevent the spread of the disease," he said.

The official also requested the people to abstain from taking steps which can lead to more congregations in and around temples in the wake of lined-up festivities during the next few days.

As per the norms shared by SRC, congregations would not be allowed during celebrations of Ganesh Puja, Durga Puja, Laxmi Puja, Kali Puja and other festivals in the state. The puja committees, however, were allowed to conduct the rituals in compliance with Covid-19 protocols with due permission from the police.

The SRC claimed that the pujas should be done only indoors without public participation while public address systems have also been barred.

Presence of more than seven persons at puja pandals has been barred. The new order also claimed that the processions for idol immersion would not be allowed. Community feast has also been barred by the government in its latest order for the festivities.

Those who know you well will be at a loss to make anything out of your belligerent attitude and may not be able to keep up with you for too long. You'll simply be making a lot of enemies, alienating a lot of good friends.

LIBRA

There is no end to work, so buckle up, as it is highly probable that work pressure will take up most of your time today. This leaves precious little for your family, but as always, they fully understand. Ganesha expects you to be both hard-working and conscientious today. You may also launch a new business scheme, especially if you are self-employed.

SCORPIO

Relationships are the crux of life. It's very important how you make your near and dear ones feel when you are around. Make someone feel special today. Try to sort out misunderstandings if any. Don't dominate your friends or family members, says Ganesha.

SAGITTARIUS

Pack your bags today for a long business trip, which will bear rich fruits. Be ready to pick up important business pointers and learn your way into your trade. Ganesha predicts pleasant surprises in store later in the day.

For investments purposes, real estate and construction seem to be a wise option, suggests Ganesha.

PISCES

You will be able to come up trumps against the competition today. You should be wary of hidden enemies, for they might be involved in slandering you. It is best to reach out to others and make friends before they take it upon themselves to hinder your progress. Apart from this, no other significant event is indicated today, says Ganesha.

SHRADDHA shuns poor man, gets trolled

The Baaghi actress has been brutally trolled on social media for ignoring an old, poor man who approached outside a restaurant in Mumbai, asking for alms.

Recently, the actress was snapped outside a restaurant at Juhu in Mumbai. The actress had gone out for lunch with a bunch of friends when she was papped by the photographers.

However, the actress was brutally trolled by netizens after she was caught doing something which didn't go well with them. As soon as the actress stepped out of the restaurant after her lunch, and was bidding goodbye to her friends, she was approached by an old man, asking for alms.

In the photos, the old man can be seen standing behind the actress, with open palms, hoping for aid. However, the actress leaves in her car, without acknowledging the poor man.

This left some of social media users state government. Some puja committees tried to celebrate the festival in a unique manner. City-based Bakul Foundation worshipped a tree decorated as Lord Ganesh. The foundation has been worshipping Tree Ganesh since 2018, sources said. "Lord Ganesh with the elephant head and human body has been a symbol for the association of the animal world with the human world. Hence, we decided to worship a tree as Lord Ganesh. The age-old practice of worshipping trees in India also inspired us in this regard. Moreover, trees produce oxygen which is very much necessary for the treatment of critically-ill Covid patients," said a volunteer of the foundation. A tree at the Biju Patnaik Park was chosen for the worship as it was close to the Tree Library and Park Library set up by the Bakul Foundation with assistance from the Bhubaneswar Development Authority (BDA). The foundation usually offers a sapling as Prasad to the people who come to worship the Tree Ganesh, he added. BDA vice chairman Sanjay Kumar Singh appreciated the initiative of the foundation to worship Tree Ganesh. On the other hand, KBN Group of Unit-VIII tried to create awareness on Covid vaccine at its Ganesh puja pandal.

The puja pandal of KBN Group

The artists and students of Dhauli College of Art and Crafts created an idol of Lord Ganesh without using any hazardous chemicals and plastic. "The state government made it clear that the height of Ganesh idols must not cross 4ft. It also laid down several restrictions on the celebration of Ganesh puja in the wake of Covid-19 pandemic. We celebrated the festival by adhering to the Covid norms," said the member of another puja committee in the city.

HANUMAN TEMPLE DEMOLITION

NGT directs Cuttack DM to clear debris from Mahanadi basin

POST NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi, Sept 10: The National Green Tribunal (NGT) has directed Cuttack district administration to clear the debris of the Panchmukhi Hanuman Temple from Mahanadi river bed. The temple was demolished September 2 following an order from the tribunal.

A bench of NGT, comprising Judicial Member B Amit Sthalekar and Expert Member Saibal Dasgupta, has asked the Cuttack District Magistrate-cum-Collector to clear the debris from the riverbed and file a compliance affidavit by September 13 which is the next date of hearing.

During the hearing, advocate Shankar Prasad Pani said that the construction and demolition waste are still lying in the river bench which needs to be cleaned for free flow of the river and for the restoration of the bank to its original character.

“Since the eviction operation has been carried out and the temple structure has been demolished, it would be futile to keep this application pending any longer. We, therefore, dismiss this application as having become infractions but with a specific direction to the Collector-cum-District Magistrate, Cuttack to ensure that the waste is removed before the next hearing and the river bed is restored to its original sight,” the NGT said.

Earlier, the Supreme Court had dismissed an appeal by the temple trust against the order of the NGT wherein the tribunal had directed the demolition of the temple.

She used to identify herself as an educated woman like doctor or engineer. Subsequently, she would demand money from her targets weaving false tales related to some financial and medical emergencies.

Police during the course of investigation came to know that Parida had earlier duped several others too. Sources claimed that she was cheating another youth of Rs 2.50 lakh following the same modus operandi.

Addressing the participants of the event, Vaishnaw said, "Our vision is to make a wholesome transformation and not just incremental changes. Our Government is pursuing these projects on an express mode. Every year, about Rs 6,000 crore to Rs 7,000 crore are being sanctioned in the budget for the development of rail infrastructure in Odisha. This Union government is committed to provide better connectivity and amenities to our passengers."

During his recent visit to Odisha, Vaishnaw had travelled with the passengers in Hirakhand Express and taken their feedback about the rail services. The express covers its journey of 784 kilometers from Bhubaneswar to Jagadapur having stoppages at 21 intermediate stations in Odisha, Andhra Pradesh and Chhattisgarh under the East Coast Railway's (ECoR) jurisdiction.

aesthetic modular interiors as added advantages. Railways has decided to run the train while replacing the currently running conventional coaches with the modern LHB coaches. LHB coaches are anti-telescopic, safer, lighter, jerk free and more comfortable. steps towards starting the "Bhubaneswar New" railway station in the North Bhubaneswar area. He also asked Vaishnaw to do more developmental work to make the Bhubaneswar railway station world class.

Bhubaneswar Central MLA Ananta Narayan Jena asked Vaishnaw to focus more on the railway projects in Odisha as the Minister belongs to the coastal state. Ananta opined that the Minister should do his best to focus on complete railway connectivity within the state. He also demanded immediate starting of more than 250 stations in the state which were put to temporary stoppage due to Covid-19. "All new trains of Odisha should have LHB coaches," he added.

New twist to suicide near Assembly

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bhubaneswar, Sept 10: The death of a 30-year-old man, who allegedly committed suicide by consuming pesticide while protesting denial of treatment at SCB Medical College and Hospital (SCBMCH), Cuttack, took a new turn Friday as the police in Jagatsinghpur district registered a case of murder in this connection.

The man had allegedly consumed pesticide and slit his wrist near the Assembly Wednesday and subsequently died, sparking a state-wide resentment over the alleged negligence on part of the health officials.

However, the deceased Dushmantha Das's mother Basanti Das, in her FIR at the Kujang Police Station in Jagatsinghpur, alleged that her son was killed and he did not commit suicide. "How can my son go to Bhubaneswar when he was not able to walk? He was taken by some people to the state Capital and also given pesticide bottle to commit suicide," she mentioned in her FIR.

The BJP demanded the state government to provide financial assistance of Rs 30 lakh to the deceased's 3-year-old daughter, Rs 20 lakh to his elderly parents and a job for his wife

Noting that negligence of treatment at the SCBMCH is not the lone factor behind her son's death, the mother demanded stern action against those who took Dushmantha to Bhubaneswar and let him die.

"We have registered a case under section 302 (murder) at the Kujang Police Station based on the complaint of the deceased person's mother," Jagatsinghpur SP Akhileswar Singh told reporters. The SP said that the case will be transferred to the Commissionerate Police in Bhubaneswar where the incident occurred.

Meanwhile, the opposition BJP demanded a CBI probe into the death of Das. "There are several loose ends to Dushmantha's death case. Why did the police conduct his postmortem in the middle of the night and why did his funeral take place in a hurry at Puri instead of his village," asked senior BJP leader Manmohan Samal.

The saffron party also demanded the state government to provide financial assistance of Rs 30 lakh to the deceased's 3-year-old daughter, Rs 20 lakh to his elderly parents and a job for his wife.

Farmers to block NH-55, warn of boycotting polls

POST NEWS NETWORK

Sambalpur, Sept 10: Farmers are up in arms over failure to get crop insurance in Sambalpur Friday. They accused the district administration of doing nothing to ensure they receive their crop insurance. Paddy crop was damaged in 2020 due to pest attacks and poor rainfall in five panchayats including Kayankunda, Lipinda, Gadaluisingh and Kesapalli. They alleged that farmers of other panchayats had received their insurance claims while their claims have remained unattended. In the joint survey reports made by the agriculture, revenue and statistics departments, names of affected farmers had found place, but their claims have not been considered till date, they alleged. "Nobody is listening to our plight when drought situation is at the door," they lamented. Farmers of four panchayats under Jujumara block have resolved to block NH-55 September 13. They also warned of boycotting the upcoming panchayat polls. "Leaders, politicians and ministers will not be allowed to enter villages. Officials cannot enter villages," they fumed. They also alleged that the government and insurance company concerned have been exploiting farmers. Affected farmers had taken up the issue with the district administration earlier, seeking quick disposal of their claims. Farmers alleged that though they are frequenting the office for claims, no step is being taken. "We had taken loans from banks and raised paddy last year. We are in a fix about how to pay off loans after the crop failure last year," they added.

Close shave for 2 as bridge caves in Sambalpur

POST NEWS NETWORK

Sambalpur, Sept 10: A truck driver and helper had a narrow shave when the bridge over Kharla river they were driving on suddenly caved in. The accident took place near Kuchinda town in Sambalpur district, late Thursday night. The two would have been swept away by strong river currents, had they not been rescued by locals. They were in a precarious situation till 2 am. Collector Subham Saxena and SP Batula Gangadhar visited the spot Friday. The Collector has ordered for construction of a new bridge. The truck was on its way from Kuchinda to Jamankira when the mishap took place. Locals rushed to the spot to find the truck hanging precariously on one side of the bridge. On being informed, police along with fire brigade personnel and a medical team rushed to the spot and rescued the driver and helper. They were immediately shifted to Kuchinda Sub Divisional Hospital. Both had suffered minor abrasions. It should be stated here that a similar accident had occurred in December last year in Sambalpur district. Luckily there were no casualties. They observed that unless the contractors who get the orders to build such bridges are not punished, accidents will continue to occur.

Nayagarh, Sept 10: A teacher identified as Jayanti Sahu, who served at Manikia Government UP School at Fategarh in Nayagarh district was found to have furnished fake certificates to grab the job. It came to the fore during an investigation launched by the police. The police had initiated the probe on the basis of a complaint lodged by Bhapur block education officer. Jayanti's case is a tip of the iceberg. As per the complaints received, there are 300 such teachers who have been appointed on the basis of forged certificates. The number of such teachers is more in blocks like Nayagarh, Odagaon, Nuagaon, Dasapalla and Ranapur. Many wonder how officials of the education department fail to detect these fake teachers despite routine verification of certificates. In another case, a teacher in Odagaon block is learnt to have two certificates in one academic year. After his father's voluntary retirement, Kartikeswar Panda was appointed as untrained teacher July 11 1989, only after he passed Plus II. He again completed CT training after studying for two years (1990 and 1991) and had the certificate. At the same time, he completed his graduation from Utkal University in 1992. Here the ques-

It is yet to be understood as to how these fake teachers are still in service as the certificate inspection drive is being carried out from time to time and they are of Odagaon and Bhapur blocks. It is hoped that only action against the BEOs would ensure action against fake teachers. According to sources, the fake teachers are still in jobs by bribing higher-ups. A well-knit racket works at each block education office. During inspection, Xerox copies of the fake certificates are tallied with fake ones assuming them to be original ones. This way, they have escaped action. When contacted, district education officer Akrur Barik said scrutiny of certificates has been intensified. Soon, fake teachers would be traced out and action would be taken against them, he added.

tion arises how a teacher could be able to have CT training and pursue his graduation simultaneously. And from where he managed to get two certificates to study? It suggests use of fake certificates. It has long been alleged that there are many such teachers in Odagaon and several other areas in the district. Meanwhile, 37 block education officers' salaries have been held up as they were not being able to submit reports about the fake teachers before the deadline. Of them, two BEOs are in Nayagarh district

It is an occasion for people across western Odisha to express their gratitude to the Mother Earth for sustaining them and to invoke her blessings for better productivity in the coming agricultural season. After propitiation of the Goddess, people pay their respects to the elders in the family and locality through 'Nuakhai Juhar.'

Farm Road, VSS Marg, Charbhati Chhak, Budharaja, Municipality Daily Market, Ainhapalli Kainsir, Bhalupalli Chhak, Dhanupalli Chhak, Gobindatola Badabazar, Mudipad Hatley Laxmi Talkies Chhak, Kacheri Chhak and Raymed got crowded. Notably, the same ritual is conducted before the 'Gram Devi' (village deities) in every other village. 'Navanna' is offered to the Goddess to seek her blessings for a bumper crop in the next harvest season.

Similarly, 'Nuakhai Bhetghat' greetings are also exchanged among themselves. Various delicacies and cakes prepared from the new rice are also exchanged with relatives and friends on this occasion. Several community programmes and cultural shows are also organised to mark the day.

THE MOTHER

Little time to lose

The 1985-batch IRS officer Jagannath Bidyadhar Mohapatra has little time to settle into his seat after finally being confirmed as chairman of the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT), three months after the extended tenure of his predecessor PC Mody ended. The biggest challenge for Mohapatra is to resolve the issues with the new income tax portal which has been facing continued glitches more than two months after it was launched with much fanfare. It's an embarrassment that the Finance Ministry would like to put behind it at the earliest. With the last date for filing IT returns approaching fast, there is little time to lose.

Apparently, Mohapatra's confirmation as chairman was pretty much above expected lines. He did not face a lot of competition. His only rival was his batchmate Anuja Sarangi who is currently member, administration at CBDT, but he had a clear edge.

Some have pointed out a curious detail that is missing in Mohapatra's appointment letter issued by the Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT). By not defining the duration of his term, observers say that the government has indicated that Mohapatra may serve well beyond his retirement due in April next year. The precedent was set when his predecessors Mody and Sushil Chandra were retained as chairmen after their retirement on contract.

Haryana CM Khattar has his way

The tussle between Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Khattar and Home Minister Anil Vij is also being played out in the state bureaucracy. They have often clashed over policy as well as transfers and appointments of officers to key positions in the government. In the latest round of jousting, Khattar has overruled Vij and ordered the appointment of IPS officer Kala Ramchandran as Principal Secretary of Transport, a cadre post held by the IAS. Interestingly, this is in addition to being Additional Director General for crimes against women.

So, once again, the simmering IAS-IPS rivalry has been forced into the open. Vij, sources have told DKB, was opposed to appointing an IPS officer on a cadre post designated for IAS officers and had cited IAS cadre rules which required the state government to take prior approval of the Central government. Curiously, Khattar also ignored the advice of Chief Secretary Vijay Vardhan who too reportedly objected to naming non-cadre officers to cadre posts of the IAS.

Khattar is, however, used to having his way. He has earlier appointed nine IPS, IFoS and IRS officers to posts reserved for the IAS, which prodded the Centre to demand an explanation from the Haryana government. No one knows what became of that!

Kerala babus are overstretched

The situation couldn't be more ill-timed. Kerala is not just battling COVID-19 but also an acute shortage of IAS officers, especially in the secretary rank, leaving Chief Secretary VP Joy with an over stretched and stressed team just when he needs all hands on board.

Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan has admitted that the government is functioning with only 62 per cent of the allotted strength of IAS officers and 52 per cent of the allotted strength of IPS officers. The situation is no better in the IFoS with only 62 per cent of the allotted 107 posts occupied.

While there are several factors responsible for the situation, including the natural increase in the number of posts over the years, informed sources have told DKB that the biggest reason is the sheer number of IAS officers who chose to leave on deputation to the Centre or their home state on inter-cadre deputation. Apparently, 22 IAS officers are currently on Central deputation while two are serving in their home states. Similarly, 23 IPS officers are on Central deputation while one is on inter-cadre deputation in his home state.

Kerala now has a mere 10 secretary-rank officers and 12 principal secretaries, who together are holding multiple portfolios. To make up for the deficit, the state government had, earlier this year, appointed additional and joint secretary rank officers to secretary-rank posts, but surely more can be done.

WORDSWORTH

Paroemiological

The word is from Latin, in which language it appeared in the third century AD as a borrowing from Greek paroemia, a proverb. In 1639 John Clarke, the headmaster of Lincoln grammar school, published an early work on proverbs, from the works of Erasmus. He gave it the title Paroemiologia anglo-latina, Proverbs English and Latin. Many paroemiological collections, those relating to the study of proverbs, have been created since. It is a paroemiological commonplace (a proverb scholar's proverb) that proverbs and sentences are often difficult and sometimes very enigmatic indeed (Studies in Philology, Summer 2004). As it's comparatively easy to find examples, it's surprising that the recent revision of the letter P in the online Oxford English Dictionary doesn't feature paroemiological. However, it does have a number of close relatives, such as paroemiologist, a student of or an expert in proverbs and proverb lore, and paroemiology, the study itself, as well as paroemiographer, a collector of or writer on proverbs, and paroemia itself, an adage or proverb.

Pastinaceous

Something pastinaceous is like a parsnip. It's a very rare word in English: the OED has just the one citation for it, from Richard Tomlinson's 1657 translation of a Latin medical work by Jean de Renou, who is better known by the Latin version of his name, Renodaeus. The word derives from the Latin pastinaca, which could be the parsnip but often also referred to the carrot. Related words in that language are pastinare, to dig, pastinator, someone who prepares the ground for planting, and pastinum, a two-pronged digging fork or dibble, which probably lent its name to the vegetables because they so often formed forked roots in the ground. The Latin survives in the systematic name for the genus of the parsnip, Pastinaca, and in the archaic English pastinate, to dig or cultivate land. Parsnip itself came to us through French and at first was spelt passenepe, as though it were a kind of nep, Middle English for the turnip.

REBIRTH OF GLOBAL TERROR

FOCUS 9/11 ANNIVERSARY

The American-led global war on terror, launched 20 years ago after the September 11, 2001, attacks against the United States, was already faltering before President Joe Biden took office. Now it may not recover from the blow delivered by Biden's historic blunder in facilitating the Taliban's return to power in Afghanistan. The flag of the world's deadliest terrorists – responsible for killing over 2,000 US soldiers since 2001 – will fly above Kabul on the 20th anniversary of the 9/11 attacks.

By empowering the Taliban, Biden has empowered all violent Islamist groups, thus making the rebirth of global terror highly likely. And by betraying one ally – the Afghan government – he has made other American allies feel that the US could abandon them, too, when the chips are down.

The greatest jihadist victory in modern times will soon give rise to a terrorist super-state – a haven for transnational fanatics and a magnet for violent Islamists from around the world seeking training to carry out attacks back home. The Taliban's 'Islamic emirate' will lay the foundation for an international caliphate of the type sought by the late al-Qaeda leader Osama bin Laden and the hijackers who carried out the 9/11 attacks.

Whereas the short-lived 'caliphate' of the Islamic State (ISIS) filled a political vacuum in northern Syria before expanding into Iraq, the Taliban's emirate has resulted from the defeat of the world's mightiest power. The Taliban's triumph will thus give the international jihadist movement an unprecedented boost, including for enlisting new recruits, with consequences that will play out for many years. The war on terror, which extends from the Middle East and southern Europe to Africa and Asia, will become increasingly difficult as its fronts multiply.

This comes at a time when America's accelerating imperial decline is already weakening its capacity to impose its will on other countries, thereby encouraging China's global expansion. Biden, continuing his predecessor Donald Trump's policy of military retrenchment, recently committed to ending the US combat mission

Forgetting the lessons of 9/11 has effectively derailed the global war on terror. Putting it back on track, though a daunting challenge, is essential if the scourge of violent jihadism is not to become the defining crisis of this century in Iraq this year.

The US has expended huge resources in its war on terror, waging counterterrorism operations in scores of countries. According to a recent report from Brown University's Costs of War project, America's post-9/11 wars, including efforts to secure its homeland, have cost about $8 trillion and caused an estimated 900,000 deaths, including of civilians and humanitarian aid workers. But they have yielded no enduring results.

The main reason is that America has long forgotten the lessons of 9/11, including the need to shun the path of expediency. As a result, the politicisation of the war on terror has prevented a concerted ideological onslaught on violent jihadism.

Biden, for his part, is drawing spurious distinctions between 'good' and 'bad' terrorists, in a bid to obscure both the significance of the Taliban's takeover of Afghanistan and his administration's outreach to it. For example, he claims that 'ISIS-K terrorists' are 'sworn enemies of the Taliban' without acknowledging that the Taliban – like al-Qaeda and ISIS-K – are sworn enemies of the free world. Likewise, Biden was quick to absolve the Taliban of responsibility for the recent terrorist bombing at Kabul airport by pinning the blame on ISIS-K, while Secretary of State Antony Blinken said the US is ready to work on 'counterterrorism' with the new regime in Kabul.

But the Taliban, al-Qaeda, and ISIS-K share a common ideology and commitment to violent jihad, with their members commingling and even moving from one group to another. As the Pentagon has acknowledged, the victorious Taliban have released thousands of ISIS-K prisoners. And according to a recent United Nations Security Council report, "the Taliban and al-Qaeda remain closely aligned."

Meanwhile, the State Department has sought to spin a myth by claiming that the Taliban and their special forces, the Haqqani Network, 'are separate entities.' In fact, the Taliban and the Haqqani Network are a wing of Pakistan's 'deep state.' The network's chief, Sirajuddin Haqqani, is a deputy leader of the Taliban. And the arrival in Kabul of the head of Pakistan's rogue Inter-Services Intelligence agency even before the Taliban formed their government highlighted that the real victor in Afghanistan is Pakistan, which has virtually gained proxy control of its neighbour.

Yet, underscoring the geopolitics behind the war on terror, the Biden administration is unlikely to punish Pakistan, a 'major non-NATO ally,' for engineering America's humiliating rout in Afghanistan. Instead, it is relying on Pakistan and another long-time sponsor of jihadists, Qatar, to establish a relationship with the theocratic dictatorship in Kabul.

The US has come full circle by ceding control of Afghanistan to the same organisation that gave Osama bin Laden the base from which to plot the 9/11 attacks. Those attacks resulted from America's troubling ties with Islamist groups since the 1980s, when President Ronald Reagan used Islam as an ideological tool to encourage armed resistance to the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan. Bin Laden and other al-Qaeda leaders, including the Haqqani Network's founder, cut their teeth in that CIA-run covert war. Another veteran of that war now heads the Taliban regime – Muhammad Hassan Akhund, a UN-listed terrorist and architect of the 2001 demolition of the monumental Buddhas of Bamiyan.

But within a decade of 9/11, the US returned to training jihadists and funneling lethal arms to them in regime-change wars, such as in Syria and Libya, with the CIA's $1 billion secret war to topple Syrian President Bashar al-Assad resulting in the rise of ISIS. And it bankrolled a renegade Pakistan as it sheltered the Taliban's command-and-control network.

Forgetting the lessons of 9/11 has effectively derailed the global war on terror. Putting it back on track, though a daunting challenge, is essential if the scourge of violent jihadism is not to become the defining crisis of this century.

SPECTRUM VALUES

Are freedom and democracy delivering?

The Taliban are being criticised by Western and Indian media because they do not honour the international values of individual freedom and democracy. Undoubtedly the Taliban have behaved cruelly with their opponents and women in the past and continue to do so today. But the record of other non-democratic countries is different. A 2020 report of Edelman Trust of the United States says that 90 per cent of Chinese people had trust in their non-democratic government. In comparison, 81 per cent of people in India and only 39 per cent in the US had trust in their democratic governments. Another study done by the Ash Center for Democratic Governance at the Harvard University said that 61 per cent of the Chinese people considered their local governance to be kind towards the ordinary people in 2011. This increased to 74 per cent in 2016. It is clear that people are more satisfied with their Chinese non-democratic government than American and Indian democratic governments. Furthermore, allies of the US like Kuwait and Saudi Arabia and its opponents like North Korea and China do not honour individual freedom and democracy. Therefore, we need to examine whether honouring these values is the only path to people's welfare?

There is no gaining saying that the purpose of individual freedom and democracy is people's welfare. The doublespeak of the US becomes clear when we examine the individual freedoms relating to the Patents Act under the World Trade Organisation (WTO). It is clear that people can secure their economic welfare by using new technologies. The welfare of a homeowner is enhanced by using a pressure cooker instead of a pan. Due to such technological innovations, improvements in people's welfare have been taking place for centuries – without patents being given. The printing press was innovated about 500 years ago for which no patent was granted. That technology was copied freely and people secured their welfare by printing papers and books in larger numbers. The pace of new innovations did not stop due to the absence of patent protection. The power loom, the steam engine and the telephone were invented in due course of time (although limited patents were granted on them in certain countries). It cannot be said, therefore, that innovations do not take place in absence of patents.

Fast forward to 1995. Patent protection was expanded and made globally applicable under the leadership of the US in the WTO. The freedom of the people to copy innovations and make additional improvements in their lives was curtailed. On the other hand, the freedom of the innovator to charge high price for the invention was protected internationally. In this way the value of 'individual freedom' was arrayed against the people and in favour of innovators. Indeed, it is argued that patent protection enables the innovators to invest in research and development of new technologies that ultimately leads to welfare of the people. The jury is out on this matter; however, Economist John Maynard Keynes once said, "In the long run we are all dead." Therefore, the value of individual freedom stands on its head. Instead of allowing freedom to copy and attain welfare in a straightforward manner; the West has restricted freedom on the uncertain ground that this would lead people's welfare in an unknown future.

Another aspect of individual freedom is that of movement. The United Nations' Universal Declaration of Human Rights Article 13.1 says: "Everyone has the right to freedom of movement and residence within the borders of each state." In other words, the international value regarding freedom of movement is limited to national boundaries. The so-called 'international' value has cleverly been made 'national.' It is clear that the 'international value' of freedom is but a smokescreen for promoting the economic interests of industrialised countries.

My argument is not against individual freedom. I think this is a grand experiment of humanity that has not attained finality as of now. Therefore, we should not mindlessly assume that 'freedom' is the only path to people's welfare. We must apply our minds dispassionately as to whether human welfare will be enhanced by giving more freedom to the people and less to innovators and businesses.

The learning loses

Sir, A survey called School Children's Online and Offline Learning (SCHOOL) conducted recently states that only eight per cent children in rural households in India attended regular online classes. The survey on learning gaps was conducted after schools in the country remained closed due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The survey conducted on school children in underprivileged households in 15 states and UTs shows that 37 per cent of children are not studying at all and about a half are unable to read more than a few words. The report paints a dismal picture of the state of school education caused by the pandemic in rural areas. The survey found that as the children did not attend schools for a prolonged period of time, there were great discrepancies in their learning levels. Nearly 42 per cent of children in classes III-V from rural households were unable to read a single word. The report proves that the COVID-19 pandemic and the extended lockdown have caused enormous harm to school education, especially in rural areas. A great deal of sustained effort is required to repair this damage. Given that most of the schools in the country are still remaining closed, setting the school education right is indeed a tough task. Once the schools are reopened, the schooling system needs to go through a long transition period to enable children to catch up with the curriculum and to restore the different aspects of their development. Unless physical classes, especially in primary and middle-schools are not resumed soon, it may be difficult to reverse the learning losses.

More bravehearts needed

Sir, There are not many people who would take a bullet for their motherland. The Indian Army with its height and fitness requirements makes it even lesser. The Indian Army has a height requirement of 5 feet 6 inch which is the normal Indian height. The problem is that because of such requirements the army loses some bravehearts. Height is never the indicator of the strength and courage a person possesses. We have already seen the much shorter personnel of the People's Liberation Army proving their mettle in hand-to-hand battles. I think the Indian Army should ponder on these aspects and restructure the requirements so that more bravehearts can join in to serve the motherland.

Farm ponds come handy for Nabarangpur farmers

POST NEWS NETWORK

Nabarangpur, Sept 10: Farmers in most parts of the state are worried over drought while farmers in Nabarangpur district have managed to save their crops with dug wells in un-irrigated areas, a report said. According to reports, even as lift irrigation points in certain areas are lying defunct, these dug wells are coming handy for farmers at this critical time. Such projects have become models for farming in other areas.

Significantly, the district administration has linked the rural job scheme MGNREGS with its programmes which entail agriculture infrastructure development.

Under the MGNREGS, scores of farm ponds have been excavated in the district. During the Farming usually depends on rains.

Kusa was always in the lookout for ensuring income from his farmland by making maximum use of his patch. He talked to Gram Rozgar Sevak Lingaraj Mishra in this regard.

Kusa said small and marginal farmers should dig farm ponds in their farmlands which can save crops in dry season and drought time.

They can grow vegetables and flowers to earn enough for their families.

The government should encourage more farmers to dig farm ponds under MGNREGS which will certainly help them augment their incomes, he added.

SAMALEI PROJECT

Displaced residents resort to 'Jal Satyagrah'

POST NEWS NETWORK

Sambalpur, Sept 10: Locals resorted to a unique protest Thursday afternoon named Jal Satyagrah demanding details of the rehabilitation plans prepared for them by the state government.

Hundreds of residents will be displaced by the district administration to facilitate the ambitious Samaleswari Temple Area Management and Local Economy Initiatives (SAMALEI) project which is in close vicinity of the temple in Sambalpur.

According to sources, both males and females from the city participated in the protest, which was staged at Balibandha Ghat of the Mahanadi river.

People who will be affected are apprehensive about their future, and the government officials have been silent in response to their queries regarding rehabilitation. They claimed they are allegedly being threatened by district administration officials that they will be evicted from their respective homes. The local administration is yet to announce a rehabilitation plan for the soon-to-be displaced residents.

"We want to know if they will force us to vacate our homes which come under the project. If that is so, where do they plan to rehabilitate us and what amounts will they give us as compensation," many residents questioned.

Cashew farming takes a back seat in Jagatsinghpur

POST NEWS NETWORK

Jagatsinghpur, Sept 10: Despite the fact that farmers in Jagatsinghpur district are enthusiastic about taking up cashew farming, nothing has been done to encourage them even after the Odisha State Cashew Development Corporation wrote a letter to the District Collector to take steps in this regard.

At a recent symposium on hybrid cashew farming at Sarada Mandap in the town, Chairman of Odisha State Cashew Development Corporation Amarendra Das informed this.

Expressing his concern about neglect of cashew farming in the district, Das said the corporation has cashew nurseries and fields in 20 districts. The corporation had requested the state government for setting up nurseries and fields in the left out 10 districts. Meanwhile, steps are being taken in this respect in all the districts barring Jagatsinghpur.

On this occasion, people were made aware of the demand of cashew juice and the profit one could earn from the business.

The corporation felicitated two farmers of the locality-Prasanna Swain and Barada Prasad Ray. At the same time, the corporation distributed 600 cashew saplings and 2,500 juice packets among the farmers.

While, personal assistance of the chairman Bhaskar Chandra Mohanty gave a vote of thanks, corporation's MD Sadananda Nayak, Girija Shankar Pani, Bhagat Mohanty, Niranjana Behera and Pradeep Kumar Bal attended the symposium among others.

"Around 20 months have passed since the corporation wrote a letter to the District Collector, asking him to take steps to prepare a cashew nursery and fields in the district. Due to one or the other reason, the district administration is yet to identify lands.

Because of the delay, the corporation is not able to do anything to encourage the farmers, resulting in loss of opportunities," he observed.

Patients wait overnight to see neurologist at Angul DHH

POST NEWS NETWORK

Angul, Sept 10: Every Thursday, scores of helmets can be seen kept in a line on the corridor of Angul DHH. Reason: This is done to ensure their slots are secure for the neurologist who visits the DHH only Thursday. Patients or their relatives put their helmets in a queue in front of the doctor's chamber from Wednesday noon so that they get their appointments with the doctor.

The Angul DHH doesn't have a permanent neurologist. The DHH authorities get a doctor from outside every Thursday and provide the service.

The problem arises because the doctor comes once in a week and there are hundreds of patients who thronged the DHH to see the doctor on that day. Going to avoid any kind of confusion and conflicts, the DHH authorities would issue 50 tickets. By 8 am Thursdays, no ticket are left, forcing patients, to return home without treatment.

However, to ensure their turn, people have devised a plan. They come to the DHH Wednesdays and put a piece of paper with the name of the patient written on it on the floor in front of the doctor's chamber and keep their helmets or bags on it and keep waiting for their turns.

It so occurs that local residents try to jump the queue to see the doctor, leading to quarrels with those waiting for long hours. Local residents and patients demanded that the DHH bring the doctor for at least three days a week.

"I have neurological problem.

Earlier I had to return home on two occasions without seeing the doctor. So this time I ensured my turn by coming from Wednesday noon and putting my helmet in the queue. If the doctor comes three days a week, many patients would be benefitted," observed Prasanna Bhatia, a patient from Hindol area.

Another patient Kedar Behera said, "The doctor sees only 50 patients. So, many patients have to return home without treatment, spending money on fares and experiencing lot of problems. I was lucky for I could get a slot for my helmet in the queue Wednesday."

Bholeswar Biswal, a patient's relative, demanded appointment of a permanent neurologist at the DHH.

When contacted, ADMO, Angul DHH, Dr Manas Ranjan Biswal said, "It would be analysed to see whether one doctor is sufficient to attend to patients and thereafter steps would be taken accordingly. The district programme officer (DPM) of the National Health Mission (NHM) would be intimated. The DHH authorities are trying their level best to provide best health care facilities to patients."

Bhograi, Sept 10: If you have made up your mind for staycation and want to unwind, then Bichitrapur under Bhograi block in Balasore district along the Bay of Bengal could be your destination.

Already having the status of an eco-tourism spot, Bichitrapur has four islands within its 5-km-long circumference. Once you landed here, its natural beauty and tranquility make you feel that you are in a fairy land.

There is a forest of exotic plants, spreading over 50 acres. Created by the forest department, this forest has been attracting visitors. At one end, there is vast blue sea and at the other, the nature at its best with green trees standing as liveried sentries and birds singing songs, making the visitors feel as if they were there to welcome them.

At any given point of time, one can hear chirping of different species of birds like open billed stork, Sarus, White Heron and Black Heron. In winter season, one can feast his eyes on the varieties of colourful migratory birds, perched on trees or searching food in water.

Wild animals can also be sighted. At the same time, red crabs playing hide and seek in blue water; dolphins playing water sports and olive ridley turtles laying eggs will make your time at the islands memorable.

Another attraction is the casuarinas forest. It helps check soil erosion and at the same time adds beauty to the spot. At the time of sun rise and sun set, the beauty of casuarinas forest is seen to be believed.

If you want to spend more time in the lap of nature here, you can. There are six air-conditioned tents and four cottages here. To spend a night, you have to spend ₹3,600. Similarly, there are two motorized boats provided by the tourism department to take you around the islands. Each boat can take minimum four and maximum eight visitors. The visitors have to buy tickets to enjoy the ride.

According to local people, an office building was constructed and a road was laid out, spending ₹40 lakhs in 2013. "A lot is left to be done to make the spot more attractive. While there has been drinking water problem, the roads are not illuminated. The government should take steps to develop the spot so that more tourists will come to the spot," they observed. They also added that many trees were uprooted under the impact of cyclone 'Yaas'. The government should take steps to replenish the loss.

When contacted, Bhograi MLA and chairman of district planning committee Ananta Das said the government is aware of the shortcomings at the tourist spot and is taking steps for the development of the spot in phase manner.

Similarly, forester Ajay Jena said the central and state governments should declare a package for the development of infrastructure. Echoing the same, local Congress leader Satyasiba Das alleged that if the tourism had not progressed as it should have been, it is only because of the lack of will power on the parts of the central and state governments.

However, the facilities have now been restored in all districts. The agitating farmers' demands include immediate sacking of Sinha and a case against him. Mythical Saraswati river's 'history' to be part of school curriculum

Kurukshetra, Sept 10: The Haryana government will include the history of the mythical Saraswati river in school as well as Kurukshetra University curriculums, officials said Friday.

Initially, the Haryana Saraswati Heritage Development Board (HSHDB) constituted an 11-member 'Saraswati river syllabus committee' led by Dr Pritam Singh, Assistant Director of Centre for D. BR Ambedkar Studies at Kurukshetra University (KU), to prepare the curriculum for students of classes 6 to 10.

Later, KU Vice-Chancellor Dr Som Nath Sachdeva constituted

another committee headed by Professor AR Chaudhary, Director, Saraswati River Research and Excellence Centre at the university with Dr Pritam Singh as its co-chairman, to prepare the syllabus of the varsity's activity-based courses.

According to official, the idea is to make youngsters aware about the history of the ancient river.

Chaudhary said both the committees are holding meetings on a daily basis to prepare and submit the syllabus for schools as well as university courses by September 15 to the HSHDB, so that it could be included in the curriculum as soon as possible.

Sachdeva said the course will be prepared according to New Education Policy-2020 and highlight the mythological history and literature of Saraswati river under the activity-based education course and an open elective course. This course will give information to the students about the ancient civilization and heritage of the holy river, he said.

More than two years ago, the Haryana government had approved 11 projects for the rejuvenation of the river.

These included the construction of Somb Saraswati barrage, Saraswati reservoir and Adi Badri dam on Somb river, a tributary of the Yamuna that originates in the Shivalik Hills.

BSP won't field mafia candidates: Mayawati

Jailed gangster-turned-politician Mukhtar Ansari will not be re-nominated by the party from Mau

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Lucknow, Sept 10: The BSP will make efforts to not field 'bahubali' (strongmen) or mafia candidates in next year's Uttar Pradesh polls, party chief Mayawati said Friday, announcing that jailed gangster-turned-politician Mukhtar Ansari will not be re-nominated by the party from Mau.

Soon after her statement, Asaduddin Owaisi-led AIMIM, which has announced to contest 100 seats, offered Ansari a ticket, with its spokesperson Syed Asim Waqar telling PTI that "our doors are open for him."

Mayawati said BSP state president Bhim Rajbhar will contest from Mau, currently represented by Mukhtar Ansari, the five-term MLA who was brought back from Punjab's Ropar jail in April and lodged in a Banda jail.

Her announcement comes days after Mukhtar Ansari's brother Sigbatullah joined the Akhilesh Yadav-led Samajwadi Party.

"In upcoming Assembly polls, the BSP's effort will be to not field 'bahubali' and mafia elements. So, the name of Bhim Rajbhar, the BSP UP president, has been finalised from the Mau Assembly seat in place of Mukhtar Ansari," she said in a tweet in Hindi.

The statement also follows her remarks Tuesday during her party's "Prabuddha Varga Sammelan" that she would no longer focus on building statues and memorials - something her party was criticised for during her previous terms - and rather concentrate on changing the face of Uttar Pradesh by establishing rule of law.

Mayawati's two announcements signal her efforts to build a new perception of her Bahujan Samaj Party among people.

Mukhtar's another brother, Afzal Ansari, is a BSP MP who represents the Ghazipur seat. He had defeated the BJP's Manoj Sinha, who is now the Lieutenant Governor of Jammu and Kashmir. Afzal Ansari could not be contacted despite repeated attempts.

Mayawati Friday also said the decision to not field criminal and mafia elements has been taken to meet people's expectation, and appealed to party leaders to keep this in mind while choosing candidates. "So that there is no problem in taking strict action against such elements once the government is formed."

She added, "Alongside ensuring a rule of law, by law, the BSP's resolve is to also change Uttar Pradesh's image now."

She said the BSP should be known as the government that follows the philosophy of 'Sarvajan Hitay and Sarvajan Sukhay' (universal good).

Meanwhile, AIMIM spokesperson Syed Asim Waqar said his party was ready to welcome Mukhtar Ansari if he wants to contest election. "AIMIM's doors are open for him. We will give him a ticket and ensure his victory also," he told PTI.

He said that not only Mukhtar, he asks other Muslims also to not 'purchase tickets' from any political party as they will take money and make sure they do not win. "I ask Muslims who want to contest elections to come and join the AIMIM and the party will give tickets to them," he said.

Muslims are in a position to influence results in 84 of the total 403 seats in Uttar Pradesh. The AIMIM aims to harness this advantage.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Lucknow, Sept 10: The Congress under the leadership of its national general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra Friday decided to take out a 12,000 km-long yatra through villages and towns of Uttar Pradesh ahead of the Assembly polls next year.

The decision to take out the 'Congress Pratigya Yatra: Hum Vachan Nibhayenge' was taken at a meeting Gandhi held with the party advisory and strategy committee members here, the party said in a statement.

"The yatra will cover 12,000 km and will pass through villages and towns of the state. The details of the yatra are being finalised," it said.

During the yatra, Congress leaders will assure people that they would fulfil promises made by the party in the run up to the polls.

Gandhi is taking feedback and suggestion of committee members on routes and issues that will be taken up during the yatra.

She will later in the day hold a meeting with members of the party's election committee.

Congress Legislature party leader in the assembly Aradhna Mishra, state unit president Ajay Kumar Lallu and senior party leader Promod Tiwari attended the meeting among others.

Gandhi, who is leading the Congress campaign in the politically crucial state of Uttar Pradesh, arrived here on Thursday to review the party's poll preparedness.

Congress was reduced to seven seats in the 2017 assembly election in Uttar Pradesh.

The BJP had clinched 312 seats in the 403-member legislative assembly to form the government for the second consecutive term.

Owaisi booked in UP for 'vitiating' communal harmony

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Lucknow/Barabanki, Sept 10: AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi has been booked for allegedly vitiating communal harmony, making objectionable remarks against Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, and disrespecting the national flag, police said Friday.

Two FIRs were registered against the AIMIM chief at Barabanki city police station Thursday night after his party's public meeting in Katara Chandana Baradari.

The first FIR against Owaisi and public meeting organisers was registered under IPC sections 153A (promoting enmity on ground of religion, race, etc.), 188 (disregarding order of a public servant), 269 (negligent act likely to spread disease dangerous to life), 270 (malignant act likely to spread infection of disease) and the Epidemic Act was slapped against them, Barabanki Superintendent of Police Yamuna Prasad said.

Later in the night, another FIR was lodged against them for insulting the national flag during the public meeting, Kotwali in-charge Amar Singh said.

They have been accused of wrapping the tricolour on a pole at the dias during the meeting instead of unfurling it, Singh said.

Regarding the other sections imposed on Owaisi, the Barabanki SP said the Hyderabad MP violated Covid guidelines -- on masks and social distancing -- by arranging huge crowds at the public meeting.

"In his speech, the AIMIM chief made statements for vitiating communal harmony and said the 100-year-old Ram Sanahi Ghat mosque was razed by the administration and its debris was also removed. This is contrary to the fact," the SP said.

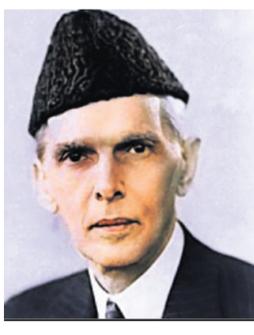

The mosque Owaisi referred to was located adjacent to the tehsil premises and opposite the SDM's residence. It was demolished May 17 on the orders of a Barabanki SDM court.

"By his statement, Owaisi tried to vitiate communal harmony and incite feelings of a particular community. He also made indecent and baseless remarks against the PM and the Uttar Pradesh chief minister," the Barabanki SP said on Friday.

Owaisi was on a three-day trip to Uttar Pradesh, where his party plans to contest 100 seats in the upcoming assembly polls.

During his stay, he held public meetings at Ayodhya, Sultanpur and Barabanki on three consecutive days starting Tuesday and left the state winding up his tour with a rally in Barabanki.

Controversy again over Jinnah portrait in AMU

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Aligarh, Sept 10: The portrait of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, the founder of Pakistan, has returned to haunt the Aligarh Muslim University in Uttar Pradesh once again.

The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) unit in Aligarh has now written a letter with their blood to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, urging him to ensure the removal of the portrait of Jinnah from the campus.

Holding Jinnah responsible for the partition of India, BJP spokesperson in Aligarh, Shivang Tiwari, warned that they will force the authorities to take down the portrait, "if the AMU authorities did not remove it themselves."

In 2018, a similar demand had been made by party MP Satish Gautam that led to a clash with university students when activists of various right-wing organisations had tried to force their way into the campus to remove the portrait of Jinnah.

BJP's Aligarh unit's letter has been submitted to the district administration with a request to forward it to PM Modi.

Rajnath holds 'fruitful' talks with Australian counterpart

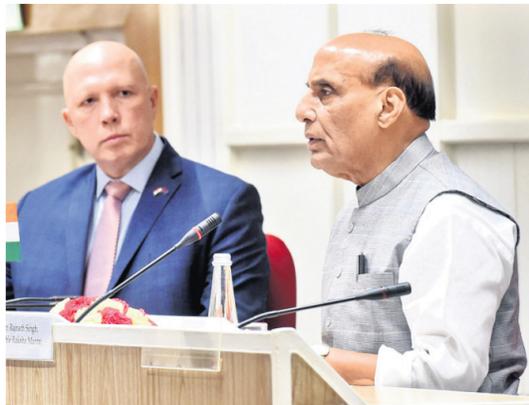

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Sept 10: Partnership between India and Australia is based on our shared vision of free, open, inclusive and rule-based Indo-Pacific region, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said Friday after holding wide-ranging talks with his Australian counterpart Peter Dutton.

Describing the discussions as "fruitful", Singh said bilateral defence cooperation as well as regional issues figured in the deliberations. "I have had a very fruitful and wide-ranging discussion with Minister Dutton on our bilateral defence cooperation as well as regional issues," Singh said in a media statement.

"Both of us are keen to work jointly to realise the full potential of the India-Australia Comprehensive Strategic Partnership," he said. The talks took place a day ahead of the inaugural 'two-plus-two' dialogue between foreign and defence ministers of India and Australia. Dutton and Australian Foreign Minister Marise Payne arrived here Friday.

Singh said the partnership between the two countries is based on "our shared vision of free, open, inclusive and rule-based Indo-Pacific region."

"Both, Australia and India have tremendous stakes in peace, development and free flow of trade, rules-based order and economic growth in the region," he said. "Our discussions today focus on our bilateral defence cooperation and expanding military engagements across services, enhancing defence information sharing, cooperation in emerging defence technologies and mutual logistics support," he added. Singh said both sides also noted with happiness that Australia joined the Malabar Exercise in 2020.

"In this context we also expressed satisfaction in the continued participation of Australia in Malabar Exercise this year," he added.

The Australian Navy was part of the recent Malabar naval exercise that also featured navies of India, the US and Japan.

Singh said both sides discussed opportunities to work together in defence science and technology areas. "I invited Australian industry to take advantage of India's liberalised foreign direct investment policies in the defence sector. We both agreed that there are opportunities of bilateral collaboration for co-development and co production," he said.

According to diplomatic sources, at the two-plus-two dialogue, both sides are expected to deliberate on further solidifying bilateral defence and strategic ties besides exchanging views on the situation in Afghanistan.

The two sides are also expected to discuss ways to boost cooperation in the Indo-Pacific in the face of China's growing military assertiveness in the region, they said. Both Australia and India are part of Quad or Quadrilateral coalition that resolved to work towards ensuring a free, open and inclusive Indo-Pacific. The other two members of the Quad are the US and Japan.

The sources said expanding bilateral cooperation in areas of maritime security is expected to be another area of focus at the two-plus-two dialogue.

The dialogue between the foreign and defence ministers was instituted as part of an overall goal to expand strategic cooperation between the two countries. India has such a framework for talks with a very few countries including the US and Japan. Defence and military cooperation between India and Australia is on an upswing in the last few years.

In June last year, India and Australia elevated their ties to a comprehensive strategic partnership and signed a landmark deal for reciprocal access to military bases for logistics support during an online summit between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his Australian counterpart Scott Morrison.

Bengal By-poll: BJP's Tibrewal to take on Mamata

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kolkata, Sept 10: BJP leader Priyanka Tibrewal, whom the party has nominated to contest against West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee in the September 30 bypoll to Bhabanipur seat, said Friday that the "torture and violence" unleashed by TMC after the assembly polls will be a key issue in the election.

Tibrewal, a lawyer, is one of the petitioners in the post-poll violence cases against the TMC government in the Calcutta High Court.

The party also announced the names of Milan Ghosh and Sujit Das for Samsarganj and Jangipur seats respectively.

The votes will be counted October 3 and results declared the same day.

"She (Mamata Banerjee) has already lost from Nandigram. Now she is fighting this election to save the chief minister's chair. My task will be to reach out to the people of the constituency and inform them about the atrocities, the torture and violence that her party unleashed on opposition workers after the assembly polls. I am confident that people of Bhabanipur will vote for me and defeat her," she asserted.

Tibrewal, currently the state vice president of Bharatiya Janata Yuva Morcha (BJYM), the BJP's youth wing, had joined the party in 2014.

She had her first brush with electoral politics in 2015, when she contested the Kolkata Municipal Corporation election and lost.

She contested the 2021 assembly polls from Entally seat and lost again to a TMC candidate by a staggering margin of more than 58,000 votes.

Yet, BJP sources said, she was chosen to lock horns with a redoubtable Mamata Banerjee because of her "fighting spirit" and also as not many leaders were ready to contest.

IT dept 'surveys' two news websites offices

THE INCOME TAX DEPARTMENT CONFIRMED THAT OFFICERS HAD GONE TO THE OFFICES OF THESE NEWS PORTALS IN SOUTH DELHI "TO CONDUCT SURVEYS"

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Sept 10: The Income Tax department Friday conducted separate "survey operations" at the premises of online news portals NewsClick and NewsLaundry here, officials said.

The operations are being conducted to verify certain tax payment details and remittances made by the organisations, they said.

Some documents have been found and these are being studied, the officials said. In a survey operation, which is carried out under provisions of section 133A of the Income Tax Act, 1961, tax officials cover only the business premises of an assessee and those linked to it and not their residential addresses. However, tax authorities can seize documents.

There was no immediate reaction from the two portals or their promoters, but their social media handles continuously updated news stories and articles.

NewsClick and its founders were raided by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in February under provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act and that investigation is linked to alleged dubious foreign funding received by its registered company, which runs the news portal. The money laundering case arises out of a Delhi Police FIR alleging that PPK NewsClick Studio Pvt Ltd received foreign direct investment (FDI) of Rs 9.59 crore from Worldwide Media Holdings LLC USA during the 2018-19 financial year. The Delhi High Court has granted interim protection from arrest to NewsClick's editor-in-chief and founder Prabir Purkayastha in connection with the Delhi Police FIR that relates to its probe against the foreign funding of the company. The high court has also granted Purkayastha protection from coercive action in the ED case. NewsClick has argued in its defence in the court that there is no question of siphoning off of funds, as alleged by probe agencies, as the same had been utilised for paying salaries to employees and that there was no loss to the exchequer in the process. The ED had claimed that it is also probing NewsClick and its promoters for alleged transfer of certain funds to activist Gautam Navlakha, accused in the Elgar Parishad case of Maharashtra. It has also questioned Navlakha, lodged in a Maharashtra jail, in connection with the case.

States celebrate Ganesh Chaturthi

AGENCIES

Panaji, Sept 10: The auspicious occasion of Ganesh Chaturthi was celebrated under the shadow of the Covid-19 pandemic across states on Friday, marking the beginning of the 10-day festival also called Vinayaka Chaturthi in many parts of the country.

Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant said that in his prayers to Lord Ganesh, he urged the deity to rid Goa and the rest of the world of Coronavirus.

Speaking to reporters after performing puja at his residence in North Goa, Sawant urged the people of the state to ensure that they take the second Covid vaccine jab.

Ganesh Chaturthi is the most popular Hindu festival in Goa.

Telangana Governor Tamilisai Soundararajan and Chief Minister K. Chandrababhan Naidu also greeted people on the occasion of Ganesh Chaturthi and appealed to them to celebrate the festival by following Covid appropriate behaviour. The Chief Minister also greeted the people of the state on the occasion of Vinayaka Chaturthi, saying that Ganapathi is worshipped to ensure success in all the endeavors without any impediments, and in Hindu tradition, Vinayaka is given utmost importance as a deity who removes obstacles.

The Chief Minister also advised the people to celebrate Ganesh Chaturthi in an environmentally-friendly manner with utmost devotion and enthusiasm. Rao said the state government has taken all measures to avoid inconvenience to the people during immersion at the end of the festivities.

He also prayed to the God to shower prosperity on the people of the state. Tamil Nadu also celebrated Vinayaka Chaturthi Friday with people across the state performing poojas of the idol of Lord Ganesh. Special prayers were conducted at the grandly-decorated Ganesh temples by the temple priests. Many houses also wore a festive look as several people held special prayers at home too.

The aroma of 'kozhakkattai', a rice flour and jaggery dumpling, wafted through many of the kitchen windows. After offering prayers on the occasion, neighbours and friends got together to share 'kozhakkattais'.

This time, public celebrations have been banned by the state government owing to the Covid-19 pandemic.

Software-based transfer policy for paramilitary forces soon

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Sept 10: With an aim to maintain transparency in transfers between hard and soft postings within the Central Armed Police Forces, a software-based transfer policy for all the CAPFs personnel will be implemented soon.

This software has been designed after the instructions of Union Home Minister Amit Shah in January last year. The development of the application was delayed because of Covid-19 induced restrictions in 2020.

According to a senior official in the security forces, the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF), Sashastra Seema Bal (SSB) and Himalayan border guarding force Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) are ready with the software, the Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF), Border Security Force (BSF) and Assam Rifles are in the advanced stage of development of the applications.

He also said that the transfer policy of each force varies from the others as per their mandates and requirements, therefore all CAPFs were asked to develop their own applications.

The BSF is in the final round of testing its software, while the CRPF and Assam Rifles will be on the testing round very soon, he added.

Once all the software applications are ready, they will give a presentation to the Union Home Ministry for the final approval. The Ministry had earlier deecided to review progress of the development of these applications and a meeting was also scheduled in mid July this year, but after the delay by some security forces, a fresh date will be decided to review the presentation. "In the proposed review by the Home Ministry, the officials of the CISF, ITBP and SSB will be presenting the live demonstration of their software being used in rotational transfer in compliance of Shah's directives to the effect," the officials in the Home Ministry said.

The CRPF, BSF and Assam Rifles will be updating the Ministry about the status of the progress made so far in implementation of the rotational transfer policy within their ranks.

"A transparent transfer mechanism based on a software application will not only reduce the unnecessary delays in approvals of transfer but will also do away with favouritism," the officials said.

In general, all personnel of the paramilitary forces will be given multiple options to opt for next posting as per his or her last posting, nature of job and other factors, therefore, they will have an idea of where they can be posted for the next tenure", a source in the Force said.

The move is also expected to lead to a reduction in stress of the personnel deployed in hard postings with inherent travails amid vagaries of nature and dynamic security challenges besides being away from their families, he added.

Timely grant of leave, transfer from hard to soft posting have been a major grievance of the forces' personnel, especially the middle and lower rung staffers and now these grievances can be addressed through the software based applications," a senior official in a paramilitary said.

TWO DECADES OF 9/11

The attacks of September 11, 2001 were a series of airline hijackings and suicide attacks, committed by 19 militants associated with the al-Qaeda, against targets in the United States. The fateful day witnessed the deadliest terrorist attack on American soil. On that morning, four commercial airliners travelling from the northeastern United States to California were hijacked mid-flight by terrorists. Their goal was to crash each plane into a prominent American building. The attacks resulted in at least 2,996 fatalities and 25,000 injuries. Amirah Ahmed, 17, was shopping with her family at a Walmart in Fredericksburg, a car passed, the driver's window rolled down, and the man spat an epithet at two little girls wearing their hijabs "Terrorist!" Born after the 9/11 attacks, Ahmed feels she was thrust into a struggle not of her making. After 9/11, many young American Muslims have found ways to fight back against bias, to organize and craft nuanced personal narratives about their identities. It was 2001, mere weeks after the World Trade Center fell, and 10-year-old Shahana Hanif and her younger sister were walking to the local mosque from their Brooklyn home. As the 20th anniversary of the Sept 11 terror attacks approaches, Hanif still recalls her confusion over how anyone could look at her, a child, and see a threat. "It's not a nice, kind word. It means violence, it means dangerous. It is meant to shock whoever... is on the receiving end of it," she says. But the incident also spurred a determination to speak out for herself and others. She's become a community organizer and is strongly favoured to win a seat on the New York City Council in an upcoming election. American Muslims also found ways to fight back against bias, to organize, to craft nuanced personal narratives about their identities. In the process, they've built bridges and challenged stereotypes. Mistrust of Muslims didn't start on 9/11, but it dramatically intensified with the attacks. America's diverse Muslim communities were foisted into the spotlight, says Youssef Chouhoud, a political scientist at Virginia's Christopher Newport University. "Your sense of who you were was becoming more formed, not just Muslim but American Muslim," he says. "What distinguished you as an American Muslim? Could you be fully both, or did you have to choose? There was a lot of grappling with what that meant." Ahmed spoke about honouring both the lives of those who died in America on 9/11 and of Iraqis who died in the war launched in 2003. She says it was a "really powerful moment." But she hopes her future children don't feel the need to prove they belong. "Our kids are going to be (here) well after the 9/11 era," she says. "They should not have to continue fighting for their identity"

Washington: Twenty years on, a second significant September 11 is upon us, and Afghanistan is bleeding once again. Several massacres and human rights abuses were committed at the hands of the Taliban ahead of Kabul's fall. Now, the Taliban has re-formed a hardline government and restored the Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan exactly on the eve of the twentieth anniversary of America's invasion of the country. The exclusion of women from the Cabinet brought a lot of criticism especially in a country that had over 27% women in Parliament just a month ago. The Chief Executive and the Interior Minister both have millions of dollars of bounty on their heads. The Ministry of Vice and Virtue is back, and the Ministry of Women stands abolished. It is back to square one, with the country literally handed back to the same savages it was freed from. THE AFGHANS WON'T TAKE IT LYING DOWN Play it down as the west might, the Afghan's have had it and are loudly protesting Pakistan's role, which they are now calling an invasion. It was limited to social media the past few weeks, but the public appearance of General Faiz Hameed, Director-General of the Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI), at Serena Hotel in Kabul Saturday triggered large on-ground protests against Pakistan in Kabul and a few other cities. The Afghans appear very clear that this is a Pakistan proxy government. It is not just this new Afghan generation that will present a challenge to the Taliban's authority.

NO LESSONS LEARNT

However, what's alarming is that there are strong indications that US have not learnt from any of the mistakes made in the past twenty years. Senator (R) Lindsey Graham recently told BBC, "We'll be going

The non-inclusive nature of the govt has ensured a civil war to ensue sooner rather than later back into Afghanistan... We'll have to." To avoid another such cycle of the unspeakable horror of war, America and its allies need to change their strategy now. Acknowledge the root problem today and find ways to Taliban's capacity to spawn, support, and spread terrorism.

Victims' families still looking for answers

Trial of alleged planner restarts

CUBA: The prosecution of alleged September 11 mastermind Khalid Sheikh Mohammed and four others restarts Tuesday, just days before the 20th anniversary of the attacks, stirring new hopes for justice and retribution. Mohammed and his co-defendants, who have been locked up at the War on Terror prison at the US naval base in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba for nearly 15 years, will appear in the military tribunal here for the first time since early 2019. But after a 17-month halt due to the coronavirus pandemic, the proceedings appear likely to continue where they left off, mired in the defense's efforts to disqualify most of the government's evidence as tainted by the torture the defendants underwent in CIA custody. With scores of motions lined up to demand evidence that military prosecutors refuse to hand over, defense attorneys said the pretrial phase could easily last another year, placing far over the horizon any hope for a jury trial and verdict. In the audience will be family members of some of the 2,976 people they are accused of murdering two decades ago. The five face the death penalty on charges of murder and terrorism in the war crimes tribunal.

The US government and its NATO allies invaded Afghanistan almost immediately after the September 11, 2001, terror attacks, seeking accountability from al Qaeda and Osama bin Laden for murdering nearly 3,000 people. But the family members of 9/11 victims are still pursuing accountability from another country -- Saudi Arabia -- as well as seeking more information hidden by the US government in US courts. US President Joe Biden September 3 directed the declassification of certain documents related to the terrorist attacks, a supportive gesture to victims' families who have long sought the records in hopes of implicating the Saudi government.

SECRECY HAS FUELLED THEORIES

The kingdom has denied any involvement, and the US long ago decided that Saudi Arabia, its strategic partner in the Middle East, had no role in the attacks -- though 15 of the 19 9/11 hijackers were Saudi citizens. So had bin Laden been, although he had been expelled from the kingdom and his citizenship revoked. Suspicion of Saudi Arabia has persisted, however, and the dogged efforts of 9/11 families over the past two decades have forced the US, bit by bit, to share early leads that tied the hijackers to Saudi officials but were shrouded in secrecy and hidden from public view as classified information. Persistence has yielded results. More details on those investigations could be forthcoming as a lawsuit against Saudi Arabia proceeds in court. That lawsuit exists only because, after a years-long campaign by the 9/11 families, Congress passed a special law in 2016 allowing individuals to sue governments for terror attacks.

US presidents have sought to shield Saudi Arabia from US lawsuits, citing the need for national security and to protect Americans from retaliatory lawsuits.

AM/NS starts ops at Sundargarh iron ore mine

Spread across 139.165 hectares, the iron ore block has estimated resources of around 98.61 million tonne and is the first to be auctioned in India under the Mineral Auction Rule, 2015.

The captive mine is set to produce two million tonnes of high-quality iron ore in the current calendar year and production will gradually be ramped up to its rated capacity of 7.16 MTPA. It will initially operate with the direct employment of about 600 people and indirect employment of nearly 2500 people. The iron ore will be supplied to the beneficiation plant in Dabuna from where the feed will reach the pellet plant at Paradeep.

AM/NS India CEO Dilip Oommen said, "We are delighted to start operations at the Ghoraburhani-Sagasahi mine that strengthens our raw material self-sufficiency efforts. This is yet another step by us towards enabling Odisha to achieve the one trillion-dollar economy target it has set. We seek to ensure the best governance practices and adhere to regulations of national and state governments. AM/NS India will continue investing in Odisha, a promising hub for Indian steel production."

Healthy demand to sustain despite challenges: MSI

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Sept 10: Passenger vehicle (PV) demand is expected to maintain growth momentum in the coming months despite rising ownership cost as well as production challenges. Accordingly, PV market leader Maruti Suzuki India believes the upcoming festive season will boost buying sentiments. Lately, the sequential sales' momentum has been subdued due to rising ownership and operating cost.

According to Shashank Srivastava, Executive Director (Marketing & Sales), Maruti Suzuki India, "Healthy sales momentum is expected to be maintained during the main festive period starting from mid-October. Till now, the festival of Onam saw a decent sales uptrend. However, there are uncertainties on the supply side." In India, the main tranche of the festive season commences from Navratri till Diwali.

"Factors such as shift to personal mobility from shared transport, lower interest rates, migration towards established brands as well as pent up demand are giving a push to sales momentum," he said. "Rural sector is also doing well because the income levels have improved."

Presently, the auto giant's 40 per cent sales come from the rural areas while 60 per cent is from urban India. Last month, the auto major's total sales rose to 130,699 units from 124,624 units sold during the corresponding period of 2020.

The total sales in the month included domestic sales of 105,775 units, off-take to other OEM of 4,305 units and exports of 20,619 units.

FESTIVE PROSPECTS

However, on a sequential basis, it had sold 162,462 units in July 2021. "Production has been impacted due to electronic components shortage in August. This is critical as cost and waiting period increases due to lesser production." The automobile major has reported an 8 per cent fall in its vehicle production in August. It produced a total of 113,937 units last month, compared to 123,769 units in August 2020.

Besides, vehicle acquisition cost has gone up due to rising commodity prices and high regulatory levies. India's auto market is considered to be highly price sensitive unlike those of Japan and the European Union.

At present, the industry is grappling with rising costs of steel, plastics and rare metals in addition to high forms of levies, insurance and road tax.

Recently, the company had to go in for a price hike due to rising commodity prices, especially those of steel, copper, rhodium and palladium amongst others.

"Earlier, we tried not to raise prices to revive demand by cost cutting and other measures. But continuously rising material cost has left us with no options."

Notably, 70 per cent of the overall vehicle cost is of manufacturing materials.

"Till now, we had to increase prices four times, in January, April, July for CNG cars and Swift and in September. Currently, commodity prices have started to soften-up a bit, the industry believes that the material cost will plateau out on these levels and soften more in Q3FY22 and Q4FY22."

Healthy sales momentum is expected to be maintained during the main festive period starting from mid-October. Till now, the festival of Onam saw a decent sales uptrend. However, there are uncertainties on the supply side

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Manchester, Sept 10: The fifth Test between India and England was cancelled Friday amid a chaotic turn of events during which the host board's statement on the visitors changed from "unable to field a team and will instead forfeit the match" to "regrettably unable to field a team".

The development came after the touring side was left on tenterhooks following physio Yogesh Parmar's positive COVID-19 test that led to concerns that the infection could spread during the match, which was eventually cancelled a couple of hours before toss.

The initial statement issued by the England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) categorically mentioned the word "forfeit" but that was later omitted from a revised media release. Both statements are in possession of this agency.

"Due to fears of a further increase in the number of COVID cases inside the camp, India are regrettably unable to field a team," read the revised ECB statement.

It is learnt that, led by skipper Virat Kohli, who voiced his apprehension strongly, the players, late on Thursday, got into a huddle and couldn't be convinced by the BCCI brass to play the game.

The BCCI issued a statement of its own, hoping that the match could be rescheduled sometime later. "In lieu of the strong relationship between BCCI and ECB, the BCCI has offered to ECB a rescheduling of the cancelled Test match. Both the Boards will work towards finding a window to reschedule this Test match," BCCI secretary Jay Shah said.

A COVID-related quarantine would have meant missing out on IPL matches, starting September 19. The players are also awaiting reports of a fresh round of tests that have conducted.

"Following ongoing conversations with the BCCI, the ECB can confirm that the fifth LV= Insurance Test between England and India Men due to start today at Emirates Old Trafford, will be cancelled," the ECB stated.

"We send our sincere apologies to fans and partners for this news, which we know will cause immense disappointment and inconvenience to many," it added.

As of now, India are 2-1 ahead and have not been officially declared winners of the series simply because there is a chance of the fifth Test being played during the window in July next year when the team visits for a six-match white-ball series.

Ever since the Indian players refused to play despite testing negative Thursday, there have been continuous back-channel talks between the two boards.

"The BCCI and ECB held several rounds of discussion to find a way to play the Test Match, however, the outbreak of Covid-19 in the Indian team contingent forced the decision of calling off the Old Trafford Test Match," Shah said.

Ultimately the apprehension expressed by Kohli and Co. Took precedence. "The BCCI has always maintained that the safety and well-being of the players is of paramount importance and there will be no compromise on that aspect," Shah said.

Shah thanked the English board for its understanding of the trying circumstances. "The BCCI would like to thank the ECB for their co-operation and understanding in these trying times. We would like to apologise to the fans for not being able to complete an enthralling series." It is understood that the COVID-19 rules for the World Test Championship matches do not include forfeiture and that's where Kohli and his men were able to get their way.

Under the competition terms of the WTC, COVID-19 is identified as "acceptable non-compliance should there be a significant impact of it on the team being able to play."

This is because the match can remain cancelled from the competition and with ICC using percentage points system based on points won in matches played, a cancelled match is of no value to any team.

The Indian players feared that the 96-hour incubation period factored in, they were at risk to return positive during the match and end up in 10-day quarantine, according to BCCI sources.

There were many questions that cropped up during the last 12 hours for BCCI president Sourav Ganguly and Shah with a number of factors being taken into account.

The chances of the IPL's schedule, starting September 19, going haywire were also taken into account as broadcasters and franchises wouldn't have taken the delay lightly.

Also, deferring the game by a day or two would have caused logistical issues as the Indian and English players were supposed to fly together to the UAE in a charter flight. "There is no guarantee that post Ravi Shastri's book release function which the team attended, there won't be more cases. So players were wary and more so about being in isolation for 10 days," a source said.

MANCHESTER: A "gutted" England Cricket Board (ECB) CEO Tom Harrison Friday said it was the Indian players' anxiety over "what might happen" and not the COVID-19 outbreak itself that caused the cancellation of the fifth and final Test here even though all efforts were made to comfort the visitors.

Harrison said the developments of the past couple of days have been devastating and everything necessary was done to convince the Indian players, who were spooked by assistant physio Yogesh Parmar's positive COVID-19 test Thursday and refused to take the field.

"It's a really sad day, my heart goes out to fans. We are absolutely gutted. Internationally this game gets astronomical audience. It became clear yesterday around lunch time that there was a problem in terms of the anxiety level in the Indian team.

"It wasn't an outbreak of COVID, it was a perception of what might happen post the physio testing positive. Over the course of the day, we tried to give as many different assurances that we could give comfort to the players," he revealed.

After the match was cancelled due to the Indian players' reluctance to take the field following COVID-19 cases in the contingent, the BCCI issued a statement to say that both the boards will work towards finding space to reschedule the game at some other time.

Harrison said the proposed rescheduling would be a one-off game instead of being a decider for the series that India currently leads 2-1.

"No, I think it's a stand-alone situation. We have been offered a few other options, probably need to take a look (at those)," Harrison told

The message on scoreboard at the Old Trafford in Manchester shows the announcement of the match's cancellation

'Sky Sports' when asked whether it would be a stand-alone game or the series-decider.

"The glass half full version of it is that the prospects of playing a one off Test match against India as a focal point on this ground, let's try to deliver on that. It can be the only good news that comes out of a day like today," he added. If the rescheduled match is a one-off engagement than India would be deemed winners of the series as it stands right now, something that has not been officially confirmed yet.

The most likely window for the rescheduled game is July next year when India would be here for a limited-overs assignment.

Harrison said "medical people who understand this virus" were brought in to talk to the players Thursday but they were clear about not playing the match. Their concern was positive tests during the match, which would have led to longer quarantine in England and possible loss of game time at the IPL starting September 19.

India's head coach Ravi Shastri and three other support staff members were the first to test positive and are isolating in London. "Once you have got that sense of anxiety in the dressing room, it would be very difficult to reverse that. Physical and mental health of players is important," he said.

"People understand that when you have pulled a hamstring you cannot play but when you have a mental health issue akin to a hamstring pull, that's less well understood," he explained.

"We are in a situation now that we are not in bio-bubble but in managed living standards, which is better for players. It is not a COVID-free environment but COVID-managed environment."

Harrison said the ECB, however, would be able to handle the financial hit caused by the cancellation thanks to insurance cover. "Our insurance covers cancellation for COVID. Fans will get their money back. Our finance department will handle that," he said.

'SHAME AND ANTICLIMAX'

The cancellation of the fifth and final Test between India and England in Manchester due to fears of more COVID-19 cases in the visitors' camp was Friday described as "absolute shame" and anticlimax to a "wonderful series". Many of them, however, refused to point fingers on India, who were leading the series 2-1, reminding that England had done the same in South Africa.

SHANE WARNE: This is such a shame – as it's been a wonderful series!

KEVIN PIETERSEN: England left the tour of SA for Covid scares & cost CSA plenty, so don't go pointing fingers! Just remember what I said about where Test Cricket will be in 2026...

MICHAEL VAUGHAN: India have let English Cricket down!!! But England did let South African Cricket down!!!

Nasser Hussain: The bubble time they have done and everything that has been done to get this series on, it's a real shame that it has to end on such a low note.

MARK BUTCHER: There could be multiple reasons but it is absolute shame that the series has not been played out the way it was meant to. We had an inkling last night that there could be an issue, there was talk of postponement of the Test match which of course would have caused as many problems as it can solve.

RCB: Health and safety of everyone involved is paramount and the right call has been made. We hope and pray that everybody is safe.

ISA GUHA: Mad times... Some questions – what happens to the points/how does the series end? If not forfeited? Will there be a chance to complete it another time?

RADUCANU, LEYLAH ENTERS US OPEN FINAL

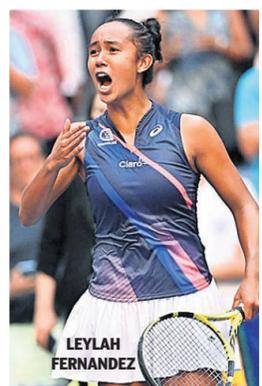

ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York, Sept 10: Emma Raducanu and Leylah Fernandez are so similar in so many ways: They possess enviable quickness and anticipation. They take balls low to the ground and redirect them with ease. They don't care how much better-known or more successful opponents are. They love the big moment.

There's more. They're both teenagers. They're both unseeded at the US Open. They're both getting loud backing from the crowds. And now, remarkably, they're both Grand Slam finalists.

Raducanu, an 18-year-old from Britain who is ranked 150th, and Fernandez, a 19-year-old from Canada who is ranked 73rd, took wildly different paths to the championship match at Flushing Meadows Thursday night.

major final between two teens since the 1999 US Open, when Serena Williams, 17, defeated Martina Hingis, 18.

Raducanu, now is the youngest Slam finalist since Maria Sharapova won Wimbledon at age 17 in 2004, became the first qualifier to reach a Grand Slam final in the professional era by overwhelming 17th-seeded Maria Sakkari 6-1, 6-4. Appearing in just her second major tournament, Raducanu won all 18 sets she has played during three matches in qualifying rounds and six in the main draw.

Who can't? Not Raducanu, who originally bought a plane ticket to leave New York after qualifying ended, figuring that might be the end of her stay.

Fernandez isn't much older — her birthday was Monday — and she made it through a semifinal filled with momentum swings to edge No.2 Aryna Sabalenka 7-6(7-3), 4-6, 6-4.

ACB urges CA to not isolate them from int'l cricket

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kabul, Sept 10: Afghanistan Cricket Board (ACB) CEO Hamid Shinwari Friday asked Cricket Australia (CA) to reconsider its decision not to host its men's team for a Test in November after the Taliban banned women from playing sport, saying such a move will only isolate the strife-torn country.

Soon after forming an interim government, the Taliban banned the women from playing cricket or any other sports, casting doubts over Afghanistan men's team Test status. As per ICC rules, all Test playing nations must have a women's team as well. CA Thursday said that its men's team's season-opening Test against Afghanistan, slated to start November 27 in Hobart, will be scrapped due if Taliban doesn't allow women in sports.

"We ask CA and the whole cricketing world to keep the door open for us, walk with us, do not isolate us and avoid penalising us for our cultural and religious environment," ACB CEO Hamid Shinwari said.

"We accept that CA sees cricket as 'a sport for all and we support the game unequivocally for women at every level'. We understand, too, why 'if recent media reports that women's cricket will not be supported in Afghanistan are substantiated', CA might believe they have 'no alternative' but to refuse to host the scheduled test match," he said.

Shinwari said it fears that if other countries follow CA, then Afghanistan will be alienated from the cricket world and the game may cease to exist in the country.

Messi surpasses Pele with hat-trick

Buenos Aires, Sept 10: Argentine star Lionel Messi became the top international goal scorer in South American history, overtaking Brazil's Pele. The 34-year-old netted all the goals at Argentina's 3-0 win against Bolivia in World Cup qualifying Thursday, and now has 79 for the national team.

Messi scored his goals in 153 caps for Argentina, while Pele netted his 77 in 92 official matches for Brazil. Both goals at the Monumental Stadium in Buenos Aires, in front of about 20,000 fans, were pieces of art by the six-time Ballon d'Or winner.

The first came in the 14th minute, with Messi moving the ball between a Bolivian defender's legs and shooting from outside the box to the right of goalkeeper Carlos Lampe. The second came in the 64th minute after he and striker Lautaro Martinez dazzled the Bolivian defense with a quick exchange of four passes. Messi still had time to dribble past one defender before scoring. Messi completed his hat-trick in the 88th minute from close range after getting a rebound from Lampe.

Messi didn't speak about the record after the match, but celebrated by lifting the Copa America trophy in front of home fans, who were allowed to attend after a 20-month pause caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

"I waited a lot of time for this, I sought this, I dreamed about this," he said. "It is a single moment because of the way it happened, after so much wait. There was no better way to celebrate than being here," he added.

"My mom, my brothers are here in the tribunes... They suffered a lot and today they are here celebrating. I am very happy."

Messi had a troubled relationship with the national team, with a series of hurtful defeats in World Cups and Copa Americas, until he led the team to the continental title against Brazil in July. It was his first major title with Argentina, a team that was in a 28-year title drought.

Three-time World Cup winner Pele is currently in hospital due to surgery for a tumor on his colon.
