OPPOSITION SAYS OVER 2.26 LAKH POSTS LYING VACANT IN 43 DEPARTMENTS INCLUDING HOME, EDUCATION AND HEALTH

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, July 29: Opposition BJP and Congress slammed the state government for 'large scale' vacancies in government departments and offices. The Opposition also alleged that the administration is run by the outsourcing system and contractual employees. Participating in a debate on an adjournment motion in the Assembly, Opposition members demanded the government to stop contract appointments, the outsourcing system and fill up posts by regular recruitment. Initiating the debate, BJP chief whip Mohan Majhi alleged the government was not giving regular employment and recruiting people through the outsourcing system to earn money. Over 2.26 lakh posts are lying vacant in 43 departments including in important ones like Home, Education and Health, he said. On the other hand, the government is recruiting people on contract, outsourcing jobs and appointing retired people to run the administration, Majhi said. Due to such an attitude of the government, unemployed educated youths are suffering, Majhi said. The annual budget has no provision for providing jobs to unemployed educated youths and migrant workers, he added.

India sought most blocks for scribe tweets

It was among top 5 countries to issue content-blocking orders to Twitter during July-December 2021 for all kinds of users

AGENCIES

New Delhi, July 29: India made the highest number of legal demands globally to remove content posted by verified journalists and news outlets on Twitter during July-December 2021, the microblogging platform said. In its latest transparency report, Twitter said India was only behind the US in seeking Twitter account information, accounting for 19 per cent of global information requests. It was among the top five countries to issue content-blocking orders to Twitter during July-December 2021 for all kinds of users. Twitter said 349 accounts of verified journalists and news outlets located around the world were subject to 326 legal demands to remove content, a 103 per cent increase in the number of accounts since the previous period (January-June 2021). "This spike is largely attributed to legal demands submitted by India (114), Turkey (78), Russia (55), and Pakistan (48)," it said. India had topped this list for January-June 2021 as well. In that timeframe, India had made 89 of the total 231 such demands the platform received globally. Twitter said 'legal demands' include a combination of court orders and other formal demands to remove content, from both governmental entities and lawyers representing individuals. Without giving details, 17 tweets from verified journalists and news outlets globally were withheld during the second half of 2021 as compared to 11 tweets withheld during January-June. Twitter said it received a legal demand from the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights in India to remove content relating to privacy issues involving a minor. While Twitter did not name anyone, the reference was to Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's tweet of August last year when he shared a picture of the parents of a minor Dalit girl who was allegedly raped. "The reported tweet published by a high-ranking political figure was withheld in India in compliance with the Indian law," it said.

8-year jail term sought for Shakira

Madrid: A Spanish prosecutor is seeking a prison term of eight years for Colombian superstar Shakira over a 14.5 million-euro tax fraud case, his office document showed on Friday.

The Colombian singer, who has sold more than 80 million records worldwide with hits such as Hips Don't Lie, rejected a settlement offer from the prosecutor's office to close the case. She is accused of failing to pay taxes between 2012 and 2014, a period in which Shakira confirms of not staying in Spain.

The prosecutor's statement asserts that Shakira was ordinarily a resident in Spain between 2012-14 and in May 2012 bought a house in Barcelona which became a shelter for her family.

However, Shakira's representatives have showed confidence on her innocence and have said that she considers the case "a total violation of her rights". The 45-year-old singer said she initially paid the 17.2 million euros that the Spanish tax office said she owed and claims she has no outstanding debt with the tax authorities. No date for a trial has been set yet.

look like Thor but then settled for Ranveer.

They were then asked to choose between Priyanka and Deepika Padukone for a new Captain Marvel. The filmmakers chose Priyanka without a second thought.

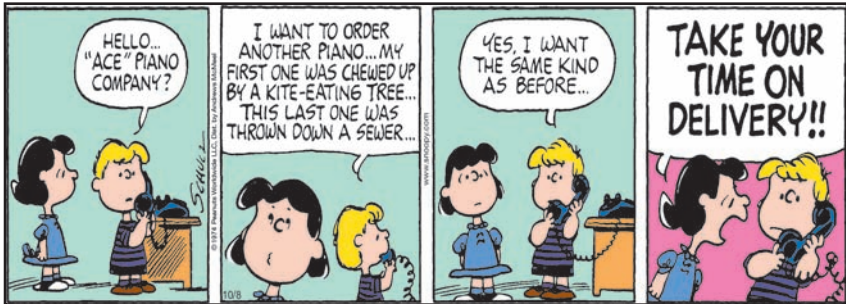

In the clip they are heard saying: "We have to pick Priyanka. We are huge fans and we are very good friends... We are working on a project. We are producing a show. A series."

The Russo Brothers are producing the Indian actress's upcoming series Citadel.

Open Ratna Bhandar, audit its valuables: Oppn to govt

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, July 29: Opposition BJP and Congress Friday asked the state government to open Srimandir Ratna Bhandar and prepare a detailed list of the valuables available at the temple treasury.

Raising the issue during Zero Hour in the Assembly, Congress MLA Santosh Singh Saluja said the devotees of Lord Jagannath are eager to know whether the jewellery and other valuables of the temple are in safe custody or not.

He urged the Speaker to ask the state government to open the temple treasury and renovate the structure. The Congress legislator also asked the state government to go for an inventory of valuables at Ratna Bhandar and make it public.

Moreover, Saluja requested Speaker BK Arukha to direct the state government to table the report of Justice Raghubir Dash Commission, which was constituted to probe issues relating to the missing keys of Ratna Bhandar.

“The BJD government has set up 24 commissions of inquiry on various issues at the cost of crores of rupees during last 21 years of its rule. However, it is a matter of regret that eight commissions have not submitted their reports yet.

The government, on the other hands, has been extending their tenures,” Saluja said.

Speaking to media persons outside the Assembly, Saluja claimed that Puri king Dibyasingha Deb has also expressed concern over the structural status of Ratna Bhandar. The king has also supported the demand for opening of the temple treasury and an audit of the ornaments stored in it, he added.

BJP chief whip Mohan Majhi asked the government to open Ratna Bhandar and prepare a list of the ornaments and valuables stored in it.

“Questions are being raised regarding the state government’s reluctance to open Ratna Bhandar and audit its valuables. We all have the right to know about the precious items stored inside the temple treasury,” Majhi said.

Centre to develop Puri’s Raghurajpur craft village

‘LINKING TEXTILE WITH TOURISM’ INITIATIVE

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bhubaneswar, July 29: Raghurajpur in Puri district is among the eight craft villages across the country selected for development under the Ministry of Textile’s ‘Linking Textile with Tourism’ initiative, an official release said.

About 18 km from Puri, Raghurajpur heritage village is famous for Odisha’s ancient Pattachitra art, a cloth-based scroll painting. Legendary artist late Jagannath Mohapatra lived in this area and it houses artists practising various traditional arts.

There are about 160 houses in the village with every house filled with crafts and talented artists.

Pattachitra painting is done on specially stiffened seven layers of cloth cut into discs. Traditional craftspeople of Raghurajpur prefer to use organic colours.

Palm-leaf painting is also an important art practised in Raghurajpur. Under the ‘Linking Textile with Tourism’ initiative, major tourist places are being linked with the handicrafts clusters.

Overall development of the eight craft villages has already been taken up, the release said.

Apart from Raghurajpur, the places which have been selected are Tirupati (Andhra Pradesh), Vadaj (Gujarat), Naini (Uttar Pradesh), Anegundi (Karnataka), Mahabalipuram (Tamil Nadu), Taj Ganj (Uttar Pradesh), Amer (Rajasthan).

Through this programme, around 1,000 artisans will be benefited directly across the country, it said.

In 2000, Indian National Trust for Art and Cultural Heritage (INTACH) declared Raghurajpur as a ‘heritage village’.

Every member of the family, including women and children, also work as an artist.

Apart from Pattachitra and palm leaf paintings, the artists of Raghurajpur also make masks, coconut crafts, and wooden toys.

Recently, Raghurajpur was in the news when ‘Tree of Life’, a Pattachitra painting done by an artist of this village, was presented by Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik to the Pope during his visit to Rome.

Oppn targets govt over ‘large scale’ vacancies

Congress MLA Tara Prasad Bahinipati said it is shameful that the government is running the Home department by recruiting constables, home guards and havildars on contract basis.

Due to such a recruitment policy, corruption and crime were rising in the state day by day, he said. Bahinipati demanded the government to stop contract appointment and outsourcing of jobs.

In his reply, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Niranjan Pujari rejected the Opposition’s claim that over 2 lakh government posts are lying vacant and said only 73451 base-level posts are vacant in the state.

Twitter also received the second highest number of government legal requests for providing account information of users from India, after the US.

“The United States submitted the most government information requests during this reporting period, accounting for 20 per cent of the global volume, and 39 per cent of the global accounts specified.”

“The second highest volume of requests originated from India, comprising 19 per cent of global information requests and 27 per cent of the global accounts specified,” it said. Japan, France and Germany were the other three nations in top five countries by volume.

“Twitter received 63 (+3 per cent) more routine requests from India, while the number of routine accounts specified increased by 205 (+3 per cent) during this reporting period for a total of 2,211 requests for 7,768 accounts,” the report said.

Globally, Twitter received 11,460 requests. Giving details of legal demands made from India, Twitter said a total of 3,992, or 8 per cent of 47,572 worldwide, requests to remove content from its platform were made during July-December 2021. These included 23 court orders and 3,969 other legal demands.

During this period, Twitter withheld 88 accounts and 303 tweets in India. As per Twitter guidelines, ‘government information requests’ include both emergency and routine legal demands for account information issued by law enforcement and other government agencies.

“Routine requests’ (aka non-emergency requests) are legal demands issued by government or law enforcement authorities (e.g., subpoenas, court orders, search warrants) that compel Twitter to turn over account information.

Covid-19 increases stroke risk among young patients

Covid-19 infection raises the risk of stroke, even among younger and healthier patients, who are then likely to face worse outcomes, according to a study.

People with Covid are over 2.5 times more likely to have an unfavourable outcome and face a difficult recovery post-stroke.

Researchers from Thomas Jefferson University in the US found that the patients with Covid, who were younger and had less risk factors, were less likely to achieve successful revascularisation -- a procedure aimed to restore blood flow into blocked arteries or veins.

Moreover, thrombectomy -- a minimally invasive procedure that uses a catheter to reopen blocked arteries in the brain -- was prolonged in the Covid group, as was the length of hospital stay.

Most alarming, mortality rates were higher by more than two-fold in the Covid group compared to the control.

Overall, Covid was a predictor of poorer outcomes, even though many of the patients were younger, healthier and even had mild symptoms of the virus before the onset of stroke, the researchers said.

“There is still so much we need to learn about Covid, especially its impact on younger patients,” said lead author Pascal Jabbour, Professor of neurological surgery at the university.

“Stroke’s impact on individuals with Covid-19 is alarming and one we must continue to research and remedy,” Jabbour added.

The findings were presented at the Society of NeuroInterventional Surgery’s (SNIS) 19th annual meeting held in Canada.

For the study, researchers reviewed data for 575 patients with acute large vessel occlusion (LVO), 194 of which were Covid positive and the remaining 381 were not.

RPDACs run out of steam across state

POST NEWS NETWORK

Jajpur, July 29: Rehabilitation and Peripheral Development Advisory Committee (RPDAC), which assumes significance in dealing with issues of the displaced and land losers, and in suggesting developmental projects, has apparently been pushed to the doldrums over the years as the meetings are not being held regularly as per norms.

The RPDAC in the state was formed July 6, 2006 to tackle R&R and other issues with effective solution, particularly in mineral-bearing areas and industrial areas of the state. As per guidelines, Revenue and Disaster Management department has been mandated to hold RPDAC meetings at district levels four times a year –once in every three months.

Hence, RPDAC meetings in Jajpur district should have been held 64 times during the last 16 years. But ironically, RPDAC meetings have been held only 11 times in some mining hit and industrially rich districts in the state. This was revealed by Revenue and Disaster Management minister while replying to queries in this regard in the Assembly recently.

Revenue Divisional Commissioners (RDCs) are chairpersons of RPDACs while Collectors are the conveners. It is alleged that indifference of the top officials has left the RPDACs in doldrums.

RPDAC's role assumes significance as the state government lays stress on industrialisation to foster economic growth and alleviate unemployment. Issues of rehabilitation and displacement crop up and persist in areas where industries are being set up. This is when RPDAC comes to play its role with its mediatory and advisory roles in resolving these issues on a priority basis.

As per guidelines, decisions taken by RPDACs are executed in the troubled areas. But in reality, RPDAC's roles are allegedly being given a short shrift the reasons of which are unknown. Reports said in Angul, RPDAC meetings relating to Mahanadi Coalfields, Talcher, have been held only six times between 2012 and 2021.

In Bolangir, RPDAC meetings have been held only 11 times in some mining hit and industrially rich districts in the state. This was revealed by Revenue and Disaster Management minister while replying to queries in this regard in the Assembly recently.

BODY BLOW TO INCLUSIVE GROWTH

As per guidelines, RPDAC meetings at district levels should be held four times a year –once in every three months

But ironically, RPDAC meetings have been held only 11 times in some mining-hit and industrially rich districts in the state

In Dhenkanal, RPDAC meetings were held thrice for Rungta Mines; seven times for Kalinganagar Industrial Complex in Jajpur between 2006 and 2016.

Moreover, such meetings were confined to 11 times in case of Mahanadi Coalfields; nine times for Vedanta Alumina and three times for OPGC in Jharsuguda.

It was held eight times in case of Vedanta Alumina at Janjigarh in Kalahandi; five times for Kanpur major irrigation project in Keonjhar; five times for Utkal Alumina International and three times for Aditya Alumina in Rayagada; 10 times for Aditya Alumina; nine times for Hindalco Hirakud and nine times for Burla MCL in Sambalpur.

It was found that there has been no RPDAC meeting for some projects from 2016 till date. When asked, Kalinganagar ADM Santosh Kumar Mishra said that the administration has been successfully handling issues of the displaced with focus on employment.

A decision on the RPDAC meeting will be taken in time, he added.

STF SEIZES LEOPARD SKIN IN KALAHANDI

PNN/ AGENCIES

Bhawanipatna, July 29: As the state observes International Tiger Day to create awareness on protection of big cats, the Special Task Force (STF) of Odisha Police has seized a leopard skin and arrested one person on charge of smuggling wildlife body parts.

Taking to twitter, Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik said, "Tiger is a powerful icon of India's cultural and natural heritage and the protection of the iconic animal is deeply linked to our ecology. On #InternationalTigerDay, let us pledge to further intensify our efforts to create a hospitable habitat for our national animal to flourish."

Acting on a tip-off, the STF conducted a raid near Satpur Chhak in Kalahandi district Thursday and arrested one person on charges of dealing/possessing wildlife products. Leopard skin and other incriminating materials were seized from the possession of the arrested person. The STF had also seized a leopard skin and arrested one person in Koraput district July 20.

The STF since 2020 has seized at least 31 leopard skins and arrested 44 wildlife criminals, an official said.

60% of rural Kendrapara lacks safe drinking water

POST NEWS NETWORK

Kendrapara, July 29: More than 60 per cent of rural households in Kendrapara district lack safe drinking water even though the Centre and state government have launched a slew of plans to provide the basic necessity on a sustainable manner.

Shoddy implementation of water supply schemes is evident from the fact that piped water does not reach people living in the far end of at least 226 villages while over 10 per cent of the tube wells in this district throw out saline water which is unfit for consumption.

According to reports by Jal Jeevan Mission, out of 3,04,725 households in Kendrapara district, drinking water supply is available for 1,56,905 households. Similarly, 70 per cent of the households in only 501 revenue villages out of 1,592 villages in the district are being supplied with drinking water. Drink from tap connection is less than 70 per cent in 501 villages.

Moreover, drinking water supply connection is underway in 83 villages while no project has been sanctioned for the rest of the villages in the district. In many areas, drink from tap facility has failed to reach the end of the villages. If these figures are taken into account, over 60 per cent of the rural households have been deprived of getting safe drinking water.

On the other hand, over 10 per cent of the 16,228 tube wells in rural areas throw out water with high fluoride and iron content. However, Rural Water Supply and Sanitation (RWSS) department claims that 79 per cent of the rural areas are being supplied with safe drinking water when a report by the district says that every year lakhs of people are affected with water-borne diseases due to use of polluted water from rivers and ponds.

This has come at a time when the fate of a mega drinking water project for the residents of saline areas of Mahakalapara and Marshaghai blocks under Basudha Yojana is mired in uncertainty despite completion of 70 per cent works.

Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik

had laid the foundation stone for the project December 8, 2018. A petition was filed in National Green Tribunal (NGT) against it. Environmentalists apprehend that the project might get pushed into uncertainty due to the reducing water level in Luna and Chitropala rivers from where it will draw water.

Environmentalist Ashok Kumar Swain said that the state's second largest river route is in the district with seven rivers flowing through it. However, the water flow in the rivers has come down due to declining water level in the upstream. Saline water easily gushes into Baitarani, Luna, Hansua, Gobari and other rivers in the coastal district.

Ganesh Chandra Samal, president of Zilla Janasurakhya Manch demanded safeguard of natural sources, plantation on river banks and construction of checkdams in the district. He said that the district administration should stop rampant construction on the river basin and also encroachment on riverbeds. He said that the Centre has included Kendrapara as a district that are prone to water crisis under Jal Shakti Abhiyan plan but is not laying adequate stress on its implementation.

When contacted, Sub-Collector Niranjan Behera said the district administration is keeping a close watch on the problem and drinking water will be supplied to every household through pipelines within a year.

Retd techie's pomegranate farm the envy of many

FORMER ENGINEER DIBAKAR BEHERA NOW EARNS ₹6-7 LAKH PER ANNUM FROM THE FRUIT FARMING

POST NEWS NETWORK

Umerkote, July 29: Dibakar Behera of Umerkote town in Nabarangpur district, though an engineer by profession, used to keep his childhood passion for horticulture and orchard farming burning.

After retirement, he found enough time and used it on pomegranate farming that brought him resounding success. He is now earning ₹6-7 lakh per annum from this fruit farming. Moreover, he has also created scope of earning for seven families.

His success story has given a ray of hope for other farmers in the area who have been struggling to make both ends meet from traditional paddy farming.

His lush green pomegranate farm spread over three acres at Badabasini village is said to be an object of envy for many. But for this passionate farmer, the well grown farm is the outcome of his steely will and indefatigable efforts which he has been investing in his farmland every day.

After retirement as an assistant engineer, Behera was browsing social media for information about commercially viable farming that can fetch him a good income. During Covid times, he joined 'Bharatiya Chasi Sangh' and later came in contact with a Gujarat-based professor BT Gore, who provided him training and guidance online about pomegranate cultivation. Significantly, the advantage of pomegranate farming is that these plants are drought-proof and can survive even with little water.

"I procured pomegranate saplings from Surat and planted them on three acres of farmland. There are 1,050 plants in the farm. After a year of nursing and proper care, these plants started bearing fruits," he added.

A plant bears 25 to 30 pomegranates and produces fruits twice/thrice a year.

"In the first phase, the farm yielded 15 quintal pomegranates. One can earn ₹ 6 to 7 lakh per annum from a 3-acre farm. The fruits are grown organically and no fertilizer is used. The yield has good demand in the market too," he said.

He sells his produce to some dealers in parts of Nabarangpur and neighbouring Chhattisgarh.

Besides, he is engaging five to seven local labourers per day in the farm activities.

He said that if anyone is keen to learn about the pomegranate farming, he would provide technical knowhow to them.

Prez’s Core Team

Absolutely no changes, a rarity in this top team, is not surprising. This Government has a track record of preferring the tried and tested in crucial spots, which certainly, these ones are.

President Droupadi Murmu has inherited four senior officers of the Rashtrapati Bhavan from the Ram Nath Kovind presidency, including the President’s Secretary Kapil Dev Tripathi, Joint Secretary Ajay Bhadoo, Officer on Special Duty Jaganath Srinivasan and Press Secretary Ajay Kumar Singh. Though these officers had been working on a co-terminus basis with the term of Kovind, the Appointments Committee of the Cabinet has approved the extension of their tenure for a period of two months beyond July 25 or until further orders.

We wonder if an able and proven competency in governance and government won’t make the new President assemble her own team? Even if, traditionally, there is a sign-off, by the System (read Cabinet Secretary) it’s usually a minor presidential privilege some choose to exercise more than others. Most likely, Murmu will eventually assemble her own team of trusted aides, and these officers will be at hand to ensure a seamless transition as the President settles into her role.

Tripura gets a new DGP

When senior IPS officer Tapan Deka was appointed as the new Director of the Intelligence Bureau (IB), he superseded four IB colleagues, who quickly decided to move out and seek what is called a “respectful rehabilitation” in babu parlance. Deka checks many boxes, to occupy this especially sensitive post. His skills weren’t in question and seniority issues were mainly the ones in play. However, sensing some unhappiness over Deka’s appointment, the government has moved quickly to acquiesce to their request.

BABUDOM BYTES

Special Director of Intelligence Bureau, Amitabh Ranjan, who was among the four IPS officers superseded by Deka, has been appointed as the new Director General of Police of Tripura. Sources have informed DKB that Ranjan had a major backer in Tripura chief minister Biplab Kumar Deb, who called Union Home Minister Amit Shah to clear all the formalities for the 1988-batch IPS officer’s appointment. The state is headed for assembly elections early next year.

DKB has learnt, that three other superseded officers have been moved out of IB. Special Director Manoj Kumar Lal, has returned to his parent UT cadre, while Manoj Yadava has been sent to the National Human Rights Commission as Director General (Investigations). Only Anish Dayal Singh, Deka’s junior, continues to work in IB as Special Director.

Calm has been restored by placing these IPS officers in other rank-appropriate positions. It needs to be noted that Deka’s is not the first instance of a junior officer being promoted to the top position in a hierarchy-driven organization. The new IB chief is junior to Manoj Yadava, Manoj Kumar Lal and Amitabh Ranjan. And even though seniority is not the sole criterion for appointment to a prestigious post like this, the episode does point to perhaps taking a fresh look at the promotion policy and managing succession among the senior police officials.

Vacancies at Centre hit new low

Even as the Centre continues to grapple with a shortage of civil service officers, the Ministry of Personnel has revealed that the number of vacancies advertised by the UPSC has fallen by more than 50 per cent since 2014!

The Minister of State for Personnel Jitendra Singh reportedly informed Parliament that UPSC recommended 4,119 candidates for Central government jobs in 2021-22, which is the lowest number of job positions at the Centre in the past 10 years. As the Modi sarkar sets its sights on the 2024 general elections, it is clear that governance will be a big factor in its claims to retain power. As of now, the panel’s report should set off alarm bells within the ruling dispensation. Shortage of IAS officers is compelling many states to take recourse to appointing non-cadre officers in cadre officer posts, and also continuing them in such posts beyond permissible limits. Also, we have noted several IAS officers holding multiple assignments due to the dearth of eligible officers.

Certainly, the shortage of IAS officers is nothing new. Apparently, even back way in 1951, the number of appointed officers compared to the required was low. There were 336 fewer officers than the required strength of 1232 officers. But over the decades instead of bridging the gap, it has steadily widened.

But the bigger question is why have successive governments not managed to solve the issue, despite diligent annual cadre reviews and recommendations of numerous panels? Hopefully, the urgency recommended by the Modi panel will stir the Centre into moving determinedly in this direction.

WORDSWORTH

■ Alamagoozlum

It’s a wonderful word, one of the best of the exotics that came out of North America in the nineteenth century. It’s still to be found, though you’re likely to encounter it in the company of the Corpse Reviver, the Fogcutter, the Monkey Gland and the Widow’s Kiss. The original alamagoozlum was maple syrup. The name may have been a blend of French-Canadian and American terms, since it’s conjectured it was created from à la (as in à la mode) and goozlum, with a ma thrown in to make it bounce better in the mouth. The goozlum or goozle was the throat, windpipe or Adam’s apple, possibly a variant form of guzzle. The word was rarely recorded in the old days. The Bradford Era of Pennsylvania in 1888 did its best to confuse unwary etymologists by composing a ditty that included the lines, “From Alamagoozlum / To Kalamazoo, / We can bamboozle ‘em!” Today, alamagoozlum is almost entirely the province of those well-informed mixologists who know their old-style cocktails. Charles H Baker recorded it in 1939 in The Gentleman’s Companion or Around the World with Jigger, Beaker and Flask. It’s not a drink for the faint-hearted, either to create or consume, since it includes Chartreuse, gin, Jamaican rum, orange curaçao, egg whites, Angostura bitters, and a big dollop of syrup. Curiously, none of the recipes that I’ve seen even mention maple syrup, the classic ingredient being gomme syrup (perhaps from French gomme or an old form of English gum), which is a mixture of a simple sugar syrup with gum arabic. A reader, Mary Louise Lyman, recalled that her father referred to a stew or casserole of leftovers as a magoozlum. It isn’t common in print, but it is in The Long Goodbye by Raymond Chandler: “I’ve written twelve best-sellers, and if I ever finish that stack of magoozlum on the desk there I may possibly have written thirteen.” It has been defined as hooey, nonsense, tosh, tripe, twaddle or tommy-rot. Etymologists have suggested it may derive from the cartoon character Mr Magoo or from magoo, Hollywood slang for the gooey insides of custard pies (the throwing sort), but it seems at least as likely that it’s a shortening of alamagoozlum.

FOCUS UNIVERSAL BASIC INCOME

EMULATE KENYA MODEL

When the COVID-19 pandemic and the resulting recession pushed 120 million people worldwide into extreme poverty in 2020, many countries relied on social-protection measures to cushion the blow. By May 2021, a total of 3,333 such schemes had been planned or implemented in 222 countries or territories.

Because the world will face other crises in the coming decades, we must learn how to protect people better against unexpected events – particularly as the effects of climate change become more pronounced and leave many exposed to natural disasters and income shocks. But how?

Social-protection programs that assist low-income families, insure against shocks, and break poverty traps offer a potential solution. But targeted cash transfers, the most prevalent scheme, might not address supply-side barriers such as shortages of food and other essential goods, particularly during crises. So, can any type of cash transfers mitigate the impact of large shocks? Do crises require new social-protection measures, or can existing policies boost resilience?

An increasingly popular and much-debated form of social protection is a universal basic income (UBI): an unconditional cash transfer that is large enough to meet individuals’ basic needs and is delivered to everyone within a community. While the UBI idea is not new, it has recently been gaining traction globally, with pilot programs launched in countries including Finland, India, and the United States.

The concept builds on decades of evidence concerning the impact of cash transfers. For example, contrary to popular opinion, studies show that cash transfers reduce spending on “temptation goods” like alcohol and tobacco, do not discourage work, and have a wide range of positive effects.

But a lack of accurate, dynamic data makes it difficult to direct cash transfers to those most in need. Targeting individuals rather than households is even more complicated, because poor individuals often live in non-poor households.

Policymakers and businesses in poorer countries should consider building cash-transfer systems that can be activated at short notice to deliver additional funds to a large number of people

A UBI could circumvent these issues, because it is not only universal but also can be provided to individuals rather than households. Furthermore, a UBI could help soften the blow of unexpected shocks that might leave some segments of the population vulnerable and in need of government support – although whether it could do so cost-effectively has yet to be determined.

In 2017, a team of researchers – Abhijit Banerjee, Michael Faye, Alan Krueger, Paul Niehaus, and one of us (Suri) – in collaboration with Innovations for Poverty Action and Give Directly, began a randomized evaluation in Kenya to test the effect of a digitally transferred UBI. The team focused on two low-income counties, Siaya and Bomet, and evaluated three distinct UBI designs: a large lump sum, equivalent to approximately $500 (the “lump-sum arm”); a payment of $0.75 per day for two years, equivalent to about $500 (the “short-term arm”); and a payment of $0.75 per day for 12 years (the “long-term arm”). Payments were made to each adult over the age of 18 in the assigned villages.

When the pandemic hit Kenya in 2020, the team quickly realized that they needed to understand whether this UBI was helping people weather the crisis. So, with funding from J-PAL Africa’s Digital Identification and Finance Initiative, they conducted phone surveys of the households participating in the program. By this point, the lump-sum and short-term arms were complete; the long-term arm was ongoing.

The team found that the UBI improved households’ food security and physical and mental health, relative to the comparison group of households that did not receive the transfer. UBI recipients also reduced their social interactions, possibly because of the pandemic and perhaps because they did not need to rely on friends and relatives as much during the hungry season (though this is speculative at best). This may have lessened the burden on local public-health systems as UBI recipients were less likely to fall ill.

Hunger was widespread in the two counties the team studied. But whereas 68% of people in the comparison group reported experiencing hunger in the past 30 days, UBI recipients were 5-11 percentage points less likely to do so. This effect was significantly larger for people in the long-term arm, who expected to continue receiving transfers.

UBI recipients were also 4-6 percentage points less likely to report that a household member had been sick during the past 30 days, as compared to 44% in the comparison group. And while 29% of people in the comparison group had recently sought medical attention at a hospital, UBI beneficiaries were 3-5 percentage points less likely to do so, because they were less likely to be sick.

The researchers also saw how more income can lead people to take greater risks. Before the pandemic, new businesses established by some UBI recipients posted large increases in profits. But such risk-taking does not always pay off. Although these enterprises largely remained open during the COVID-19 crisis, earnings declined to levels similar to those in the comparison group.

This decrease in income for UBI beneficiaries during the pandemic was not a failure of UBI. The grant is designed to maintain a minimum standard of living and, by providing a form of insurance, may encourage recipients to take more risks. But in a crisis of the magnitude of the pandemic, policymakers should also consider protecting incomes (as some high-income countries did).

The onset of the pandemic in Kenya coincided with the agricultural off (or lean) season, when hunger and illness typically increase, and income declines. Although the study could not isolate the pandemic’s effects from these seasonal trends, the evidence highlights the importance of access to cash transfers and other income supplements during crises, particularly to reduce hunger and illness. Policymakers and businesses in poorer countries should therefore consider building cash-transfer systems that can be activated at short notice to deliver additional funds to a large number of people, if not everyone, in response to unanticipated shocks.

SPECTRUM FARM INCOME

Govt support, tech input vital

Two recent developments in the agricultural sector merit attention. The first is the constitution of the long-awaited committee to look into the financing of Minimum Support Price (MSP) mechanism. The other development is the release of a report by the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) documenting success stories of 75,000 farmers from across the country, noting how technological and policy interventions could lead to overall 150-200 per cent increase in their income in 2020-21 compared to 2016-17.

The terms of reference of the Committee on MSP, however, has made no mention of the farmers’ demand for an MSP guarantee law. The 28-member committee, to be headed by Former Agriculture Secretary Sanjay Agrawal, will have three members from the Samyukta Kisan Morcha (SKM) - the farmers’ collective which had spearheaded the year-long protest against the three laws. But the Morcha will be outnumbered as five representatives of farmers’ organizations are outside the SKM. The announcement comes after the split within the SKM firmed up recently, and both sides are unhappy with it.

The ICAR report has claimed that farmers in Uttarakhand, West Bengal, Chhattisgarh and Puducherry recorded more than 200 percent rise in their overall income in four years, whereas most of the other states recorded increases in the range of 150-200 percent.

Similarly, another study by SBI showed farmer income doubled in fiscal 2021-22 compared to FY 18 for certain crops in some states. In all other cases, it rose in the range of 1.3-1.7 times. The study found that the increase in farmers’ incomes, engaged in cash crops, has been more prominent compared to those growing non-cash crops. Allied and non-farm income showed a significant increase of 1.4-1.8 times in most states in tandem with farm income during the period.

These developments augur well for the sector, though questions remain. The first and foremost is the condition of small and marginal farmers who have not witnessed any increase in their income while most have shown a decline. The rising prices of inputs coupled with lack of availability of water, in some states, have aggravated their problem. Further, the indiscriminate use of chemical fertilizers and pesticides is affecting farmers and their farms. Despite this, the government wants farmers to abandon traditional farming and adopt new technologies. As a result, the cost of cultivation is increasing and the profit is decreasing in comparison.

The government’s efforts to take care of the farmers are adding to their worries. Take seeds, in the last five years, there have been cases of foreign seeds like Bt being expensive but hurting a section of farmers. The claim that such seeds have high yields and no pests has properly no base. In fact, small and marginal farmers have become indebted.

The National Sample Survey data showed that around 80 per cent of farmers in Andhra Pradesh are in debt, while in Punjab and Maharashtra, the figure averages 65 per cent. These states have the highest number of farmer suicides. The country can fill the stomachs of the subsistence farmers if the farmers get the right price for their produce, proper storage, marketing facilities, reduction of cost of agricultural produce, ban on entry of capitalists in this business.

This being the present situation in the agricultural sector, there is a need to take adequate measures to boost agricultural growth. Obviously, productivity has to increase in the states that are below the national average. Added to this, one cash crop would have to be grown to increase farmers’ income. For this, technological support is very much needed and research institutes such as the ICAR have to come forward in locating at least 200 to 250 districts where cash crop production has to be encouraged in a big way.

International scientists have been of the opinion that responsibility does not lie solely with the state, but with civil society too. There is a need for allocation of more resources from the Centre, promoting good nutrition through education, promoting better local farming methods, increasing local food processing and, of course, better technological inputs which India’s scientific institutions can provide. Only then can India emerge as a major food hub in the world by increasing agricultural production and productivity.

Hail Hima

Sir, Indian sprinter Hima Das scripted history Thursday as she clinched the gold medal in the 400m final - at the IAAF World Under-20 Athletics Championships in Tampere, Finland becoming the first Indian athlete to do so in a track event. The 18-year-old clocked 51.46 seconds to claim the top position. Andrea Miklos of Romania came second with a timing of 52.07 seconds. She now joins the illustrious company of star javelin thrower Neeraj Chopra, who won a gold in Poland in the last edition in 2016 in a world record effort. Hima had suffered a lower back injury at the 2018 Asian Games and that forced her to miss the World Championships in Doha. Hail Hima for a historic and a heroic win.

Lame excuse

Sir, Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury is embroiled in an inexcusable controversy over his purported remarks on the present Indian President. Calling her ‘Rastrapatri,’ he has gone to the extent of maligning the highest constitutional post. His clarification has not found any favour with the Indians. He must unconditionally apologise to the nation. He should not forget that appropriate Hindi translation of President is ‘Rastrapati’, which is a gender agnostic word. Before accepting this Hindi version for our Constitution, the members of the Constituent Assembly had vigorously deliberated it. Chowdhury should not shrink from the responsibility as he is answerable when he represents a political party that has a glorious history.

Positive development

Sir, It’s a positive development that the Election Commission of India (ECI) now permits those above the age of 17 to apply in advance to be included to the voter list rather than having to wait until they reach the required age of 18 in a particular year. Additionally, ECI should let all individuals to register their cell numbers and email addresses so that they appear on voter identification. The ECI made a wise choice to update the electoral roll every three months is appreciable. In order to make it simpler for the young people to submit their advance applications along with emails and mobile numbers, the executives of ECI in all states must come up with latest technological solutions. The registration forms should be simplified and made more user-friendly.

GALWAN CLASH

Chinese casualties can't be disclosed: CIC

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, July 29: Information regarding casualties suffered by Chinese soldiers in the Galwan valley clash with Indian forces in Ladakh two years ago cannot be disclosed, the Central Information Commission has held.

In a recent order, the CIC, the highest appellate body under the Right to Information Act (RTI), refused to allow a plea seeking "the casualties to the Chinese forces, if any, by brave soldiers of the country" during the clashes in the night of June 15 and 16, 2020.

RTI applicant Akhand had also sought information about casualties suffered by Indian forces at Galwan River Valley, Ladakh near the Line of Actual Control during the clash and rehabilitation and ex-gratia paid to the families. In addition, the RTI applicant had sought to know from the army if Indian soldiers are missing in the Galwan river valley after the clash and its plans to rescue them.

The army refused to disclose the information saying it was third party information which cannot be shared under Section 8(1)(j) of the Act, which exempts from disclosure the information which is personal in nature.

To deny the information, the army also cited Section 8(1)(a) of the Act which exempts from disclosure the information which would prejudicially affect the sovereignty and integrity of India, the security, strategic, scientific or economic interests of the State, relation with foreign State or lead to incitement of an offence. The representative of Akhand argued before the CIC that the matter involves larger public interest and the information should be provided to him.

Number of tigers up, but rise in poaching cause of concern: Experts

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, July 29: Though India's tiger conservation efforts have yielded favourable results, the rise in poaching and man-animal conflict due to shrinking prey base is a cause for concern, experts said Friday.

According to the 2018 tiger census, India has a tiger population of 2,967. There were 1,411 tigers in 2006. The National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) says India has lost 1,059 tigers since 2012 with Madhya Pradesh, which is known as the "tiger state" of the country, recording the highest number of deaths of the striped felines.

NTCA data showed 75 tigers have died this year so far, while 127 had died last year, the highest in 2022-2023 period. As many as 106 tiger deaths occurred in 2020; 96 in 2019; 101 in 2018; 117 in 2017; 121 in 2016; 82 in 2015; 78 in 2014;

VARUN GANDHI | BJP MP

Adhir apologises to Murmu

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

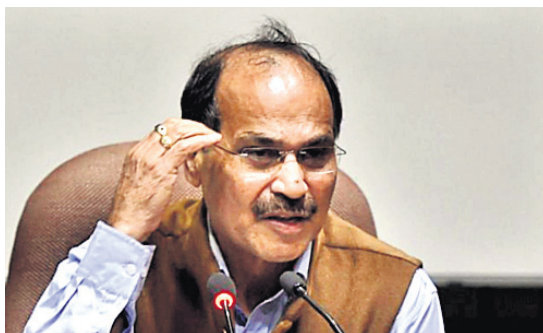

New Delhi, July 29: Congress leader in Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury wrote to President Droupadi Murmu Friday and apologised to her for his "rashtrapatni" remark after the political storm over it escalated.

The Congress also upped the ante on Smriti Irani over the alleged heckling of Sonia Gandhi by her and BJP MPs and organised protests inside and outside Parliament and demanded that she be sacked for her behaviour. As both the "rashtrapatni" remark and Sonia-Smriti face-off issues reverberated, the opposition and the ruling party traded charges against each other.

In his written apology to President Murmu, Chowdhury said it was a slip of the tongue and he used the word mistakenly. "I am writing to express my regret for having mistakenly used an incorrect word to describe the position you hold. I assure you that it was a slip of the tongue. I apologise and request you to accept the same," Chowdhury wrote to the President.

Chowdhury's apology has set the tone for defusing the situation and sources said as per broad understanding with the opposition, Lok Sabha is likely to take up a discussion on price rise on Monday and Rajya Sabha on Tuesday. The last week has seen disruptions by the opposition over the issue.

Both houses of Parliament were stalled on Friday after uproar by opposition members against Gandhi's alleged heckling, even as treasury benches continued to demand an apology from the Congress chief over Chowdhury's remark. The opposition MPs also protested outside Gandhi statue in Parliament complex and raised slogans against the government, demanding the sacking of Union minister Smriti Irani from the union cabinet. They also shared the remarks of Irani made in the Lok Sabha alleging she showed disrespect to the President of India.

They were joined by their colleagues from the Revolutionary Socialist Party (RSP) and the Indian Union Muslim League (IUML), among others. Both the houses failed to transact any business Friday. In Rajya Sabha, while opposition MPs stormed the well demanding action against Irani and on Gujarat deaths due to illicit liquor, the ruling party members were on their feet demanding an apology from Chowdhury.

Congress members in Lok Sabha were in the Well of the House raising slogans against the government, while BJP members and union ministers, including Sarbananda Sonowal were on their feet demanding an apology from Gandhi.

Leader in Opposition in Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge also wrote to Chairman M Venkaiah Naidu urging him to expunge the remarks made by union ministers Nirmala Sitharaman and Piyush Goyal on Gandhi in the house on Thursday.

Both Sitharaman and Goyal had demanded an apology from Gandhi over Chowdhury's rashtrapatni remark, alleging that they have insulted the President of India. Kharge said according to parliamentary practices and conventions, critical remarks should not be made on the other House or members of the other House. He also cited a ruling made by former RS Chairman R Venkataraman on April 15, 1987, wherein no person who is not a member of the House can be referred to in the House in a derogatory manner. The senior Congress leader said even the question of privilege cannot be raised directly in one house against members of the other House.

Delhi HC asks Congress leaders to drop tweets

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, July 29: The Delhi High Court Friday issued summonses to Congress leaders Jairam Ramesh, Pawan Khera and Netta D'Souza on a civil defamation suit filed by BJP leader Smriti Irani, and asked them to take down tweets and other social media posts on allegations levelled against the union minister and her daughter. Irani, the Minister for Women and Child Development, has sought damages of over Rs 2 crore from the Congress leaders for allegedly making baseless and false accusations against her and her 18-year-old daughter.

The high court said it was of the considered view that the statements made by the defendants fail to comply with its directions to remove tweets, retweets, posts, videos and photos from social media in relation to the allegations made against Irani, and her daughter within 24 hours, social media platforms Twitter, Facebook and YouTube shall take down the material.

Irani's action came after the Congress leaders alleged that her daughter Zoish Irani ran a bar illegally in Goa and also targeted the minister over this, demanding that Prime Minister Narendra Modi sack her from his Cabinet.

Kumar Choubey in Lok Sabha on Monday said that 125 people have been killed in "tiger attacks" in the last three years, including 61 in Maharashtra and 25 in Uttar Pradesh.

Tito Joseph, programme manager, Wildlife Protection Society of India, said though the mortality rate is not a matter of concern, authorities should be worried about the deaths due to poaching and human-tiger conflict.

"The government is putting in a lot of effort in tiger conversation and the number of tiger reserves has increased to 52 (from nine in 1973). But, states should focus more on areas where poaching is high and involve local people," he said.

WBSSC SCAM

Partha recites 'conspiracy theory'; Arpita breaks down

AGENCIES

Kolkata, July 29: As Partha Chatterjee and his close aide, Arpita Mukherjee, both tainted in the multi-crore West Bengal School Service Commission (WBSSC) scam, were brought by the (ED) officials Friday to the ESI Hospital here for routine medical checkup, their reactions were noteworthy. While Chatterjee spoke of 'conspiracy', Mukherjee appeared devastated.

Of the two, Arpita Mukherjee was the first one to be brought to the hospital. She burst into tears as the ED vehicle carrying her reached the hospital premises. She even refused to come out of the vehicle and the female staff of Enforcement Directorate (ED) and the accompanying central armed forces had to virtually drag her out and take her to the hospital building. A visibly devastated Arpita Mukherjee did not utter a single word to the waiting media-persons.

Soon after she was taken inside the building, another vehicle of ED carrying Partha Chatterjee reached the hospital premises. But unlike Mukherjee, he did not resort to any emotional scene and while going into the hospital building on a wheelchair pushed by the ED staff, he just gave a one-liner to the media – "I am a victim of conspiracy".

However, that one-liner was enough to provoke sharp reactions from the political circles.

Ridiculing Chatterjee's one-liner, state Trinamool Congress general secretary and party spokesman, Kunal Ghosh said that in such cases the natural reaction would have been – "I am innocent".

"However, if Partha Chatterjee really thinks that he is a victim of conspiracy, he should prove that in the court," Ghosh said. BJP's national vice president and the party MP, Dilip Ghosh said that it was strange that one of the key accused in the entire WBSSC conspiracy was crying and claiming that he was a victim of con-

ED raids another flat of Arpita

Kolkata: The Enforce Directorate raided the third apartment linked to Arpita Mukherjee, the close associate of arrested West Bengal minister Partha Chatterjee, in the city's Chinar Park area after recovering around Rs 28 crore cash from another flat belonging to her. The raid by the ED, which is probing the money trail of the school jobs scam, was conducted late Thursday evening, an official of the agency said. As the door of the flat was locked and the keys could not be traced, the ED sleuths broke open its entrance door in the presence of central force officers.

spiracy. "As of Arpita Mukherjee all I can say is that if she is really repentant, then she should clearly reveal to ED and CBI whatever she knows about this scam," Ghosh said.

Sujan Chakraborty, CPI-M's central committee member and the former leader of the Left legislative parties in the West Bengal Assembly, said the actual conspiracy was against the thousands of eligible candidates who were deprived to accommodate ineligible ones against the financial consideration.

Veteran Congress MP and the state party president, Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury said that Partha Chatterjee's conspiracy theory is an indirect admission that he is not alone in this entire scam. "This is just the trailer and the movie is yet to start," he said.

Forgery of certificates leaves WB govt worried

Forgery of certificates was first brought to the notice of the state by some banking representatives in the State Level Bankers' Committee (SLBC), West Bengal, which have representatives from banks operating in the state as well as from the state govt

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Kolkata, July 29: Forgery of death, warison and mutation certificates to facilitate change of ownership of land or property taking into confidence a section of the employees in municipal corporations, municipalities and panchayats has become rampant in West Bengal.

These are not allegations from the opposition parties. Rather, it is the realisation of the government, following which the state land & land reforms department has become active in initiating checks over such malpractices.

On July 18, 2022, the West Bengal land & land reforms and refugee relief & rehabilitation department gave clear instructions to all the district administration asking them to be careful about such forgeries. Chief minister Mamata Banerjee is herself in charge of the said department.

In that instruction circular (No-3054-LP/5M-22/15), the departmental secretary has clearly said that it has recently come to the notice of the department that some of the death, warison and mutation certificates issued by the panchayats and municipalities are either forged or had been tampered with. In the circular, the departmental secretary has sent clear notification to the district land & land reforms officers (DLROs) and the block land & land reforms officers (BLROs) to conduct spot investigations whenever such complaints of forgery of death, warison or mutation certificates reach the district offices. It is learnt that the state government has constituted a three-member committee at each block to investigate such cases of forgery in certificates. There three members of the block level committees are the block development officers (BDOs), BLROs and the inspector-in-charge (ICs) of the local police stations.

Sources from the state land & land reforms department said that cases of forgery of such certificates was first brought to the notice of the state by some banking representatives in the State Level Bankers' Committee (SLBC), West Bengal, which have representatives from banks operating in the state as well as from the state government.

"These banking representatives pointed out case-studies, where individuals approaching the banks for loan applications come to know their property inherited by them has been already kept as mortgage and a loan account is active against it as collateral security. From there it came to the notice of the banks as well as the department that loans were taken issuing forged death, warison and mutation certificates," a senior departmental official said.

Roadside snacks trade turns into research subject in varsity

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Kolkata, July 29: Prime Minister Narendra Modi had once said that selling 'pakodas' can also be a form of employment. Similarly, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee had said many times how a roadside seller of 'chop' (fritters) changed his fortunes through this humble business.

While it is not clear which of the two is more lucrative from the business point of view, but roadside snacks trade, which surely helps many people earn their livelihood throughout the country, has become a subject of research for a post-graduate student of geography in one of the state-run universities in West Bengal.

Kana Sarkar, a final year post-graduate student at the Raiganj University in North Bengal, had submitted a proposal christened 'Rural chop industry and its impact on family wellbeing' to the university authorities, which has

No 'good' air quality day in Delhi in first half of '22

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, July 29: Delhi has not recorded even a single "good" air quality day with an AQI of 50 or less in the first six months this year, according to government data presented in Rajya Sabha Thursday.

Union Minister of State for Environment Ashwini Kumar Choubey, however, said Delhi saw a 27 per cent reduction in PM10 and a 22 per cent reduction in PM 2.5 in 2021 compared to 2016.

According to the data presented by the minister, Delhi has not recorded a single "good" air quality day in the first six months of this year. It has, however, logged seven "satisfactory" and 47 "moderate" air quality days during this period. Air quality index (AQI) between zero and 50 is considered 'good', 51 and 100 'satisfactory', 101 and 200 'moderate', 201 and 300 'poor', 301 and 400 'very poor', and 401 and 500 'severe'. The main sources of pollution in Delhi-NCR and adjoining areas include stubble burning, especially in north-western states, open municipal solid waste burning, road dust, industrial pollution, thermal power plants, vehicular pollution and dust from construction and demolition activities, Choubey said.

Over one lakh saplings planted in MCD drive

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, July 29: Over a lakh saplings were planted across the city to mark the World Nature Conservation Day Thursday, the Municipal Corporation of Delhi claimed.

Delhi Lieutenant Governor V K Saxena participated in an event here as part of the day-long mega tree plantation drive, he said.

"Working on this vision and under the able guidance and leadership of the LG, MCD organised a mega tree plantation drive and "planted over 1,00,000 trees in a single day," the civic body claimed in a statement. Under this mega tree plantation drive, approximately 8,500 saplings each were planted in all the 12 zones. The main objective of this drive was to make citizens aware and to inspire them to work towards betterment of nature, it said. In all the 12 zones of MCD, citizens, RWA, local leaders and NGOs helped in planting of saplings in municipal parks, road sides, community centres, municipal schools and mini-forests.

ing consultant, dermatology, Medanta Hospital.

The fear is especially among those people who have recently travelled abroad, Singh said. In the rainy season, people are more prone to viral infections and chickenpox cases are largely seen in this season along with other infections that have symptoms of rashes, and nausea, he added.

"Due to this situation, some patients are getting confused and misinterpret it with monkeypox. The patient may determine whether they have monkeypox or not by understanding the sequence and the onset of symptoms," Singh said.

Explaining further, he said monkeypox usually starts with fever, malaise, headache, sometimes sore throat and cough, and lymphadenopathy (swollen lymph nodes) and all these symptoms appear four days prior to skin lesions, rashes and other problems which primarily start from the extremities like hand, eyes and spread to the whole body.

"If someone gets symptoms in this sequence, they should get examined for monkeypox. The boils that occur during chickenpox are filled with fluid and don't include malaise," he said.

Experts unanimously stress that in monkeypox, there will be other symptoms along with skin involvement.

Dr Sachin Dhawan, senior consultant, Department of Dermatology, Fortis Memorial Research Institute, Gurugram, said a woman recently visited him after her 10-month-old baby had a reaction following an insect bite.

"With increased awareness through the internet, people are coming to us with queries about monkeypox if they have rashes or simple insect bite. There is no need to panic. The number of cases is relatively low. But if you have a doubt, it is better to consult the doctor," he said.

Dr Pooja Chopra, senior dermatologist, Aakash Healthcare Super Specialty Hospital, Dwarka, said her colleagues in other parts of the country have seen cases of patients with atypical rashes accompanied by fever and joint pains.

Stressing that being vigilant and alert is the key, she concurred with her counterparts that patients are confusing skin allergy with monkeypox.

"Look out for symptoms like atypical rashes, fever, joint pain, generalised weakness, in case you suspect you have the infection," she added.

NIA to probe BJYM leader's murder: CM

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bangalore/Mangaluru, July 29: Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai Friday said the probe into the murder of a BJP youth wing leader will be handed over to the National Investigation Agency (NIA), noting it was an "organised crime" with inter-state links.

As the move came in the backdrop of a backlash from section of the BJP cadres against its state top brass after the brutal killing of Praveen Nettar and demand for a NIA probe, a Karnataka minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan said time has come to carry out "encounters" against perpetrators of such incidents and that the state government is ready for it.

Narayan's comments came a day after Bommai said, if the situation demands, the "Yogi model" government in Uttar Pradesh will be adopted in Karnataka too to deal with anti-national and communal elements trying to create unrest.

One more person was arrested on Friday in the killing of Nettar, a leader of Bharatiya Janata Yuva Morcha (BJYM), on Tuesday night in front of his broiler shop in Dakshina Kannada district, taking to three the total number of arrests.

The communally sensitive Dakshina Kannada district has been rocked by back-to-back murders of two people belonging to different communities in the last three days. Mohammad Fazil, a native of Surathkal, was murdered by four unknown assailants outside a shop on Thursday night, police said.

Bommai said that upon getting complete details of the Nettar murder case, the state government will write to the Union Home Ministry requesting for a probe by the NIA. "We have decided to hand over the case to the NIA since it is an inter-state issue (Karnataka-Kerala),"

Mohammad Fazil, a native of Surathkal, was murdered by four unknown assailants outside a shop on Thursday night, police said

Bommai told reporters in Bengaluru.

Nettar's killers had allegedly come on a Kerala registered two-wheeler. The Karnataka police has been in touch with its counterparts in neighbouring Kerala in the aftermath of the killing as both state DGPs spoke to each other. The chief minister said Nettar's murder was a planned and organised crime.

Minister Narayan said no one should suffer the way the BJYM activist's family is suffering. "Without giving any opportunity, merciless action will be taken. We are ready for encounters. We have already communicated to our Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and the State government," Narayan, who holds the higher education, skill development, IT-BT portfolio, told reporters.

Narayan further said some instigators are testing our patience. "Hence, our government and the chief minister have given a clear message. In the coming days, we will make arrangements that the criminals should tremble to even think or dream of committing such murders."

Teacher held for sexual harassment

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Chennai, July 29: A physical education teacher in a government school near Tamil Nadu's Coimbatore city was arrested after several girl students complained of his sexual harassment, police said on Friday.

Prabhakaran, 55, from Valparai was recently transferred to the government school in Coimbatore and ever since, girl students have been complaining about him. Parents of the girl students alleged that even after the students had lodged formal complaints with the headmistress, no action was taken against him.

Friday morning, parents and students gathered at the school and demanded Prabhakaran be arrested. The students said that ever since he joined the school, he had been touching them with bad intentions and that even after complaining several times to the headmistress, he was not punished, hence they had to resort to a mass protest in front of the school.

Judge says suspended for fast-tracking justice

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, July 29: The Supreme Court Friday observed that the approach of a judge, who sentenced a convict to capital punishment within four working days and decided a POCSO case and awarded life term to the convict within a working day, cannot be termed commendable.

However, the top court sought response from the Registrar General of the Patna High Court on the plea by the judge, Shashi Kant Rai, challenging his suspension.

Senior advocate Vikas Singh along with advocate Nitin Saluja, represented the judge, before a bench headed by Justice U.U. Lalit. Singh submitted that his client, who sought seniority on the basis of a new evaluation system, received a call from the high court and he was subsequently suspended without any reason.

The bench said: "Merely because something is done in four days it does not mean that judgment has to be set aside."

"But we cannot say such an approach is commendable," it added.

The bench told petitioner's counsel: "You have heard and sentenced the accused to life imprisonment in a single day. It does not happen like this," and clarified that pendency is one issue and approach to a matter is a different issue.

Citing top court's judgments, the bench pointed out that there are many judgments which say sentencing issues should not be done on the same day. However, counsel argued that a judge cannot be proceeded against for an erroneous judgement.

The bench recalled that a person was given death sentence in a span of nine days and the top court set aside that order and sent the matter back to the sessions court for fresh trial.

It said it will be a travesty of justice if adequate notice is not given, and also adequate opportunity not given to the person who is finally going to get the death sentence.

After hearing arguments in the matter, the top court issued notice

IAF TO PHASE OUT ENTIRE MIG-21 FLEET BY 2025

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, July 29: The Indian Air Force (IAF) is set to retire a squadron of MiG-21 Bison aircraft by September 30. Thereafter, only three squadrons of the aircraft will remain in service, which would be phased out by 2025.

"The 51 Squadron based out of Srinagar airport is being number plated on September 30... Thereafter, every year one squadron will be fitted with a number plate," sources said.

The 51 Squadron is famous for thwarting Pakistan's air strike on India on February 27, 2019 and shooting down an F-16 by an aircraft flown by Wing Commander (now Group Captain) Abhinandan Varthaman. Sources said this is the only instance when a MiG-21 aircraft shot down an F-16 in an air-to-air combat. IAF is replacing MiG-21 fighter jets with more capable aircraft like Su-30 and indigenous Light Combat Aircraft (LCA).

In the last 20 months, 6 MiG-21 aircraft have crashed in accidents in which five pilots have lost their lives. On Thursday evening, a MiG-21 Type 69 Trainer aircraft crashed in Barmer, Rajasthan killing both the pilots. The MiG-21 was supposed to be discontinued long back, but the delay in induction of the LCA Tejas aircraft has forced the IAF to continue flying these aircraft.

As per officials, the IAF conducts extensive checks of these aircraft before flight and all safety aspects are taken care of before the pilot takes off. Officials said that the number plated squadron would be reactivated soon with more capable aircraft in the near future.

7,700 medicine samples declared poor quality

New Delhi, July 29: A total of 7,700 samples of medicines were declared not of standard quality and 670 declared spurious or adulterated out of a total 84,874 samples picked for testing during the last three years.

The government data disclosed that a total of 2,652 samples of medicines were declared not of standard quality and 263 were declared spurious or adulterated out of a total 84,874 samples picked for testing during the year 2020-21.

The enforcement actions were carried out in terms of samples tested, number of drug samples declared sub-standard and spurious/ adulterated during the last three years. While 164 persons were arrested as the concerned authority initiated prosecutions in the year 2020-21, over 500 such arrests were made in the last three years. In a reply in the Lok Sabha on Friday, the ministry of Health and Family Welfare said that the manufacture, sale and distribution of drugs in the country are regulated under the provisions of Drugs & Cosmetics Act, 1940 and Rules, 1945. The regulatory control over the manufacture, sale and distribution of drugs in the country is exercised through a system of licensing and inspection by the State Licensing Authorities (SLAs) appointed by respective State Governments. The SLAs are legally empowered to take action in case of violation of the condition of Licence.

The government has taken measures, including strengthening of legal provisions, workshops and training programmes for manufacturers and regulatory officials and measures such as risk based inspection.

In cases of fake and spurious drugs, various enforcement actions like drug seizure, arrests of accused persons / registration of FIR, etc., have been carried out by the states/UTs Drugs Controllers. The Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation (CDSCO) and the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare have taken various regulatory measures to ensure the quality of medicines distributed in the country.

The Drugs and Cosmetics Act, 1940 was amended under the Drugs & Cosmetics (Amendment) Act 2008 to provide stringent penalties for manufacture of spurious and adulterated drugs. Certain offences have also been made cognizable and non-bailable. Besides, the states / union territories were requested to set up special courts for trial of offences under the Drugs and Cosmetics Act for speedy disposal. So far, 33 states have already set up designated special courts.

China defends military ship's SL visit

India worries that the Chinese-built and leased port of Hambantota will be used by China as a military base in India's backyard. The $1.5 billion port is near the main shipping route from Asia to Europe

REUTERS

Beijing/New Delhi, July 29: China said Friday it hoped 'relevant parties' would refrain from interfering with its legitimate maritime activities, after New Delhi voiced concern over a Chinese military ship's planned visit to a port in India's southern neighbour Sri Lanka.

India worries that the Chinese-built and leased port of Hambantota will be used by China as a military base in India's backyard. The $1.5 billion port is near the main shipping route from Asia to Europe.

Shipping data from Refinitiv Eikon showed Chinese research and survey vessel Yuan Wang 5 was en route to Hambantota and due to arrive August 11, at a time when Sri Lanka is facing its worst economic crisis in seven decades. India has provided Sri Lanka with nearly $4 billion in support this year alone.

During a weekly briefing late Thursday, an Indian foreign ministry spokesman said the government was monitoring the planned visit of the Chinese ship, adding that New Delhi would protect its security and economic interests.

India has already lodged a verbal protest with the Sri Lankan government against the ship's visit, Reuters reported Thursday.

In response to questions from Reuters, China's foreign ministry said Beijing had always exercised freedom of the high seas lawfully.

"China hopes that the relevant parties will view and report on China's marine scientific research activities correctly and refrain from interfering with normal and legitimate maritime activities," the ministry said in a statement.

Relations between India and China have been strained since armed clashes on their border two years ago killed at least 20 Indian and four Chinese soldiers and led to a massive build-up of troops on both sides.

Foreign security analysts describe the Yuan Wang 5 as one of China's latest generation space-tracking ships, used to monitor satellite, rocket and intercontinental ballistic missile launches.

The Pentagon's annual report on China's military modernisation says the Yuan Wang ships are operated by the Strategic Support Force of the People's Liberation Army (PLA).

A Sri Lankan consulting firm, the Belt & Road Initiative Sri Lanka, said on its website that the Yuan Wang 5 would be in Hambantota for a week and "conduct space tracking, satellite control and research tracking in the northwestern part of the Indian Ocean region through August and September".

Sri Lanka formally handed over commercial activities at its main southern port to a Chinese company in 2017 on a 99-year lease after struggling to repay its debt.

China is one of Sri Lanka's biggest lenders and has also funded airports, roads and railways, unnerving India, which is now trying to claw back lost ground.

Sri Lanka angered India in 2014 when it allowed a Chinese submarine and a warship to dock in Colombo.

US, Japan launch economic dialogue

REUTERS

Tokyo, July 29: Long-time allies the United States and Japan launched a new high-level economic dialogue on Friday aimed at pushing back against China and countering the disruption caused by Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

Japanese media said the so-called economic "two-plus-two" ministerial meeting in Washington was expected to agree on joint research for next-generation semiconductors to establish a secure source of the vital components.

The meeting was headed by US Secretary of State Antony Blinken and Commerce Secretary Gina Raimondo and Japan's Foreign Minister Yoshimasa Hayashi and Trade Minister Koichi Hagiuda.

"As the world's first- and third-largest economies, it is critical that we work together to defend the rules-based economic order, one in which all countries can participate, compete and prosper," Blinken told the opening session.

Blinken said recent world events, including Covid-19 and the war in Ukraine, had shown the vulnerability of critical supply chains, while a growing number of countries were struggling with debt burdens due to unsustainable and non-transparent lending practices.

SEMI-CONDUCTORS
Japan's Hayashi called Russia's invasion of Ukraine a serious challenge to the international order and - in an apparent reference to China, though he did not name it directly - referred to attempts "to use economic influence unfairly and opaquely to realize... strategic interests and to modify the existing international order".

"In order to effectively deal with this, it is essential to discuss foreign policy and economic policy as a unit rather than discussing foreign policy and economic policy individually," said Hayashi.

Japan's Nikkei Shimbun newspaper said the semi-conductor development center would be set up in Japan by the end of this year to research 2-nanometer semiconductor chips. It will include a prototype production line and should begin producing semiconductors by 2025, it said, adding that the agreement to set up the center would be included in a statement to be issued after the meeting.

Taiwan now makes a vast majority of semiconductors under 10-nanometers, used in products such as smart phones, and there is concern about stability of supply should trouble arise involving Taiwan and China, which views the island as a renegade province.

Friday's meeting comes at a time of heightened tensions over Taiwan. On Thursday, Chinese leader Xi Jinping warned in a call with US President Joe Biden against playing with fire over Taiwan, highlighting Beijing's concerns about a possible visit to the Chinese-claimed island by US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi.

Odesa, Ukraine/Kyiv, July 29: Dozens of Ukrainian prisoners of war appeared to have been killed when a prison building was destroyed in a missile strike on Friday, with Moscow and Kyiv accusing each other of carrying out the attack.

The deaths, some of which were confirmed by Reuters journalists at the damaged prison where the men were held, overshadowed UN-backed efforts to restart shipping grain from Ukraine and ease a looming global hunger crisis.

Russia's defence ministry said 40 prisoners were killed and 75 wounded in the attack on the prison, in the frontline town of Olenivka, in a part of Donetsk province held by separatists.

It accused Kyiv of targeting it with US-made HIMARS rockets, Russian news agencies reported. Ukraine's armed forces denied carrying out the strike, saying Russian

Appalachian floods kill 16

Jackson (US), July 29: Search and rescue teams backed by the National Guard searched Friday for people missing in record floods that wiped out entire communities in some of the poorest places in America. Kentucky's governor said 16 people have died, a toll he expected to grow as the rain keeps falling.

"We've still got a lot of searching to do," said Jerry Stacy, the emergency management director in Kentucky's hard-hit Perry County. "We still have missing people."

Governor Andy Beshear told The Associated Press Friday that children were among the victims, and that the death toll could more than double as rescue teams search the disaster area.

Putin preparing to flee Russia if defeated: Report

AGENCIES

London, July 29: Russian President Vladimir Putin and his friends are "making preparations to flee Russia" should his army be defeated in Ukraine, according to a Telegram channel that claims to come from inside the Kremlin, a media report said.

With his Donbas offensive stalling, Ukraine preparing to recapture Kherson and his economy crumbling, the Russian leader is "aware of the possibility of a sharp change of mood in the country", the Daily Mail reported.

Last week, the General SVR channel reported that the 69-year-old had suffered from "severe nausea" overnight, with doctors at his bedside for around three hours.

Following on from that report, they claim that "Putin himself and his entourage are preparing plans for evacuation from Russia."

It is thought that any plane carrying Putin and his family out of Russia would head to Syria, the nearest friendly state and whose leader, Bashar al-Assad, Putin bailed out by intervening in the Syrian civil war in 2015.

Any flight from Russia to Syria, however, would have to fly through the airspace of Turkey, a NATO carrying Putin and his family to enter his airspace, it would effectively scupper the Russian leader's "quickest" and perhaps "only" getaway route, the media outlet reported.

Erdogan and Putin have a complex relationship, having been friends and enemies at various times over the past decade as each leader tries to navigate their country through a challenging geopolitical neighbourhood. Iran is another regional power - and Western foe - that would be interested in Putin's fate.

"In principle, it is beneficial for Iran and Turkey to keep the Russian president in exile in reserve, using him, depending on the situation, as a lever or as a bargaining chip," the channel was quoted as saying. Although Turkey is a member of the Western military alliance, under Erdogan's leadership the country has "cut its own diplomatic path in international relations".

Earlier this month Putin met with his Turkish and Iranian counterparts in Tehran, ostensibly to discuss Syria. It is not too much of a stretch to imagine that Erdogan and Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi discussed in private the possibility of Putin requiring asylum from a coup or revolution at home, the report concludes.

India unveils its first int'l bullion exchange

REUTERS

Ahmedabad, July 29: India launched its first international bullion exchange Friday as the world's second biggest consumer of the precious metal tries to bring transparency to the market for the precious metal.

India International Bullion Exchange (IIBX), based at Gujarat International Finance Tec-City, or GIFT City in western Gujarat state, could lead to standard gold pricing in India and make it easier for small bullion dealers and jewellers to trade.

"We would have better price negotiation strength with the launch of this bullion exchange," said Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman

Gold is tightly regulated in India and currently only nominated banks and agencies approved by the central bank can import gold and sell to dealers and jewellers.

"IIBX with its technology-driven solutions, will facilitate transition of Indian bullion market towards a more organised structure by granting qualified jewellers a direct access to import gold directly through the exchange mechanism," the exchange said in a statement.

China, the top gold consumer, runs such a bourse, where all domestic production and imported gold has to be bought and sold. India imported 1,069 tonne of gold in 2021, up from 430 tonne a year ago.

Today, India is standing in line with countries like the USA, UK and Singapore where new trends in the global financial sector are shaped. I congratulate people of the country for this achievement

The Multi Commodity Exchange (MCX) and National Commodity and Derivatives Exchange (NCDEX) offer gold futures contracts in India, but there wasn't any physical exchange to buy gold.

"India's efforts to monetise gold will also derive tremendous support from a transparent bullion trading system in GIFT City," said Somasundaram PR, regional chief executive officer of WGC's Indian operations.

Indian households own an estimated collective 25,000 tonne of gold, which passes from one generation to the next. New Delhi has been trying to monetise these holdings to reduce the imports.

5G SPECTRUM AUCTION

Bids worth ₹1,49,855 crore received; 71% of block sold

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, July 29: India's 5G spectrum auction received bids worth about Rs 1,49,855 crore as of Friday, the fourth day of sale, as continued interest for radiowaves stretched the bidding process to Saturday.

About 71 per cent of the total spectrum put on the block has been provisionally sold, Telecom Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said. "This is a very good response," Vaishnaw said.

Seven rounds of bidding took place and incrementally Rs 231.6 crore came in Friday. In all, 23 rounds of bidding have been conducted so far.

Billionaire Mukesh Ambani's Reliance Jio, Sunil Mittal-led Bharti Airtel, Vodafone Idea and a unit of billionaire Gautam Adani's flagship Adani Enterprises are in the race to bid for 5G spectrum, that offers speeds about 10 times faster than 4G, lag-free connectivity, and can enable billions of connected devices to share data in real-time.

After a flying start Tuesday, that saw players pouring in Rs 1.45 lakh crore on Day 1. A total of 72 GHz (gigahertz) of radiowaves worth at least Rs 4.3 lakh crore were put on the block.

India blocks BGMI on concerns over data sharing in China

The removal of BGMI, which had more than 100 million users, comes after India banned PlayerUnknown's Battlegrounds (PUBG) in 2020 which was part of govt's crackdown on more than 100 mobile apps of Chinese origins, following a months-long border standoff between the nuclear-armed rivals

REUTERS

New Delhi, July 29: India's government blocked a popular battle-royale format game from Krafton Inc, a South Korean company backed by China's Tencent, as it was concerned about its data sharing and mining in China, an Indian government source said.

New Delhi used powers it has under India's IT law to block Battlegrounds Mobile India (BGMI), relying on a provision it has invoked since 2020 to ban several other Chinese apps on national security concerns, said the government official and another source with direct knowledge.

The Indian government has not publicly announced the blocking. But the app was removed from Alphabet Inc's Google Play Store and Apple Inc's App Store as of Thursday evening in India.

Tencent held a 13.5% stake in Krafton as of end-March through an investment vehicle, according to Krafton's regulatory filing.

Krafton shares slumped more than 9% on the news Friday, later paring losses to close down 4.5% in Seoul. The company said in May India accounted for a high single digit percentage of its revenue in the first quarter of this year.

Tencent Holdings shares fell 4.9% to their lowest since March 15.

A Google spokesperson said it blocked the game following a government directive, while India's IT ministry and Apple did not respond to requests for comment.

In Seoul, a Krafton spokesperson said the developer was talking to relevant authorities and companies to figure out the exact situation regarding the suspension in the two major app stores in India.

The ban elicited strong online reactions from popular gamers in India on Twitter and YouTube

Krafton's India CEO Sean Hyunil Sohn told news portal TechCrunch earlier this week that the Indian government had previously noted that PUBG and BGMI are different games, adding that "BGMI complies with all guidelines" in India.

CHINA INFLUENCE

India invoked a section of its IT law, called 69A, to impose the ban, the two sources with direct knowledge told Reuters. The section allows the government to block public access to content in the interest of national security, among other reasons. Orders issued under the section are generally confidential in nature.

Swadeshi Jagran Manch (SJM) and non-profit Prahar had repeatedly asked the government to investigate "China influence" of BGMI, Prahar president Abhay Mishra said. SJM is the economic wing of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh, an influential Hindu nationalist group close to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's ruling party.

"In the so-called new avatar, the BGMI was no different from erstwhile PUBG with Tencent still controlling it in the background," Mishra said.

Birmingham, July 29: The Indian women's hockey team defeated a lowly-ranked Ghana 5-0 to start their Commonwealth Games (CWG) campaign on a winning note here Friday. However, in spite of the emphatic margin of victory, the Savita Punia-led team were far from impressive in their first Pool A game.

Gurjit Kaur (3rd, 39th) scored a brace, while Neha Goyal (28th), Sangita Kumari (36th) and Salima Tete (56th) struck a field goal each for India.

Sydney: Former India all-rounder Sridharan Sriram has decided to end his tenure as Australia's spin bowling coach to focus on his role with IPL side Royal Challengers Bangalore (RCB). The development comes ahead of Australia's tour of India next year. Sriram, who played eight ODIs between 2000 and 2004, has been part of the Australian coaching set up since 2015. "After being on the road for six years it's with a heavy heart I have decided to move on from my current role as an assistant coach of the Australian men's team," Sriram said in a statement. "During this period I have grown incredibly richer in experience and it will help me in future," he added.

Even though India dominated the match in all departments in all the four quarters, it was a lacklustre performance from them in the first two as Ghana's defence produced a resolute show to frustrate their fancied opponents.

What was frustrating for India was the weak link-up between the midfield and the forward line. Penalty corner conversion rate also continued to haunt India as they made use of just one out of 10 set-piece chances.

The Indian eves were expected to steamroll Ghana, but goalkeeper

Abigail Boye made some phenomenal saves to keep her side in the contest. She was ably supported by the defenders.

The Indians pressed on the accelerator from the onset and took the lead in the third minute when Gurjit converted her side's first penalty corner with a fierce drag-kick to the right corner. India soon earned a second penalty corner but Ghana defended bravely with Boye producing yet another fine save.

Just before the end of the first quarter, India were awarded a penalty stroke for a foul inside the

'D' but Ghana successfully challenged the decision.

The Indian eves came out attacking in the second quarter while Ghana were content on soaking up the pressure. The Indians mounted attacks after attacks but the Ghana backline thwarted them. The Indians were also guilty of mis-passing the ball on a number of occasions.

Ghana secured a penalty corner with three minutes to go for half time but failed to get past India captain Savita. The African nation secured another set-piece before the breather but wasted the opportunity.

The Indians doubled their lead in the very next minute through Neha, whose push went inside the goal after getting a deflection from a Ghana defender. A couple of minutes later, Neha was once again in the thick of things but her fierce shot from point blank range was saved by goalkeeper Boye.

Three minutes after the change of ends, India secured two quick penalty corners but wasted both. Sangita extended India's lead, finding the target from a goalmouth melee in the 36th minute. India earned another penalty corner soon after but failed to utilise it. The Indians, however, made it 4-0 shortly when Gurjit scored from a penalty stroke.

India wasted another penalty corner in the 42nd minute. Three more penalty corners were also wasted after that leading to the end of the third quarter.

Salima scored four minutes from the hooter after her shot went into the goal following a deflection from the stick of Ghana captain Nafisatu Umaru. India will next take on Wales in their second pool match Saturday. However, they will certainly have to improve coordination.

SUCCESSFUL TRIO: The three Indian goalscorers (from left) Himanshu Jangra, Gurkirat Singh and Prakash Gogoi pose at the Kalinga Stadium

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, July 29: After losing their first game against Bangladesh, hosts India bounced back strongly by thrashing Sri Lanka 4-0 in their second match of the SAFF U-20 Championships at the Kalinga Stadium here Friday. After a barren first half, goals from Himanshu Jangra (50th), a brace from Parthiv Gogoi (69th and 90+3rd) and Gurkirat Singh (73rd) ensured an emphatic win for the Indian side.

The tireless Jangra, who wasn't to be bogged down all throughout, nodded home a cross by Gogoi from the right to give India the lead after the interval. He had a chance to double the lead immediately, but his shot on goal was palmed away by rival goalkeeper Shane Banuka.

However, India were not to be denied for long. In the 69th minute it was the turn of Jangra to feed Gogoi inside the opposition box. The latter kept his cool to hit the target with a rasping right footer. Four minutes later, Gurkirat scored from the spot to put India's stamp of authority in the game. Then it was Gurkirat's turn to beat the entire Sri Lankan defence with sheer speed and set the ball up for an unmarked Gogoi, who made no mistake to ensure full points for India.

Two changes by head coach Shanmugam Venkatesh at half-time – Gurkirat and Taison Singh coming in for Sajad Parray, and Harsh Patre – changed the complexion of the game after a boring first half.

In the first half, the easiest chance fell to Jangra, but an alert Banuka moved the right way to block his powerful shot.

Tarouba (West Indies), July 29: India started their T20I series against the West Indies here Friday in style defeating the hosts by an emphatic margin of 68 runs. After being put in, the visitors rode on a blistering knock by Dinesh Karthik (41 n o, 19b, 4x4, 2x6) and a fine half century by skipper Rohit Sharma (64, 44b, 7x4, 2x6) to post a challenging 190 for the loss of six wickets. The spinners then came to the party to snuff out the West Indies chase quite early on. Finally the hosts finished on 122 for eight in their 20 overs.

Birmingham, July 29: Skipper Harmanpreet Kaur's (52, 34b, 8x4, 1x6) brilliant half century and a sensational spell of fast bowling by Renuka Singh (4/18) failed to inspire the Indian eves as they went down to World Champions Australia by three wickets in a Group A T20 game of the Commonwealth Games (CWG) here Friday.

With women's cricket making its debut at the Birmingham CWG, it was the perfect occasion for India to make it a memorable occasion by beating Australia. Renuka had the Aussies on the mat with the score reading 39 for four and 49 for five at one stage. However, the Australians showed great character to come back into the game with Ashleigh Gardner (52 n o, 35b, 9x4) leading the charge.

The target of 155 should have been a straightforward chase for Australia, but Renuka, playing only her seventh T20, broke the backbone of their batting. However, Gardner with two crucial stands of 51 (sixth wicket) with Grace Harris (37, 20b, 5x4, 2x6) and 47 (unbeaten for the eighth wicket) with Alana King (18 n o, 16b, 3x4) took the game away from the Indian eves.
